

YURI ROSHKA

HUMANITY 2.0:

DEPOPULATED AND AUGMENTED

UNIVERSITATEA POPULARĂ

Yuri ROSHKA

HUMANITY 2.0: DEPOPULATED AND AUGMENTED

CHISINAU · 2024

CZU

Tehnoredactor: Natalia Dorogan

Coperta: Dumitru Moraru

Tipar: Blitz Poligraf SRL

DESCRIEREA CIP A CAMEREI NAȚIONALE A CĂRȚII DIN REPUBLICA MOLDOVA

Tiraj: 300 ex.

ISBN

Chronicles of a dissident under the New World Order

Preface

I have decided to publish this collection of articles in three languages, English, German and French, which I have written over the past year, in order to make my modest contribution to a better understanding of what has been happening in international politics in recent years. As we enter the decisive phase of re-shaping the world in March 2020 through the imposition of the depopulation and genetic engineering campaign, codenamed the “Covid-19 pandemic”, many aspects of geopolitical realities that remained in the shadows have become strikingly apparent.

The acceleration of the process of establishing the New World Order, prophesied three decades ago by the US President Bush-dad, has been known under Klaus Schwab and his accomplice Thierry Malleret as the Great Reset. It is worth remembering the full name of the book launched by the two WEF exponents three months after the beginning of the special operation dubbed pLandemic: “COVID-19: The Great Reset”. And to keep in mind their concern to make rapid and full use of this “window of opportunity”.

Why has this older strategy of the world’s elites only now been implemented, what are the historical and spiritual origins and ultimate goals of this “open conspiracy” (H. G. Wells), who are the real actors in this macabre spectacle, and who is just a puppet in the hands of real decision-makers? These are the questions to which intellectuals who have retained sufficient cognitive capacity to engage in such questioning seek answers. And alongside these we cannot avoid asking how ready, able and aware is the vast majority of humanity of the truly biblical proportions of the dangers that hang over humanity?

In this context, those of us who are part of alternative thinking and public action are seeking to identify the best methods to enlarge as quickly as possible the number of those who understand the stakes of the world players obsessed with reducing us numerically, intellectually and volitionally. In this respect, I have my own way of suggesting certain solutions that would take us out of the condition of eternal losers and even direct victims of the unlimited, multidimensional and extremely sophisticated war being waged against us.

Investigating the increasingly ominous realities, I'm also trying not to let the big picture escape me. That's because, no matter how good we are in our professional fields, the risks of fragmentary, partial or truncated interpretations invariably remain. For example, in a technological society, how far should our criticism of technoscience extend and to what degree are we not ourselves prisoners of scientism as the indispensable religion of Modernity? Or how realistic are our aspirations to avoid the "betrayal of technology" (J. Ellul) or "technological slavery" (Th. J. Kaczynski) and, in general, how neutral is this technology in relation to the system of spiritual values that governs the world?

When we investigate any phenomenon, we go to its origins. This is also what we do when we investigate the historical roots of the New World Order. But, in my view, our thinking is often heavily contaminated by the way our minds have been set by public schooling, culture and the media over the last few centuries. And not to go as far as the gnostic, esoteric or alchemical origins of modern ways of thinking, we will simplify to the maximum by inviting an easy-to-follow logical chain: Rationalism-Antropocentrism-Evolutionism-Progressivism-Scientism-Utopianism. The autonomous man's obsession to create a perfect human being and a perfect society is materialized today in the worldview of the promoters of technocracy and transhumanism.

The creation of an earthly paradise by means of technoscience, total digitization and human augmentation turns the world into a nightmare society. And as always, we ask ourselves, but what or who is behind this project of universal grandeur, as if it were something out of dystopian novels or horror films? We have a number of pejorative adjectives that we use in this context: plutocracy, kleptocracy, banksters, Big Money, Big Tech, Big Pharma, Big Media and ultimately “globalists”.

And all these names are perfectly valid, but so to speak are partial or incomplete. There must be something/someone else behind or above these foreground actors. And here we enter the slippery slope of the error of perspective, characteristic of many of the leading exponents of the anti-globalist Resistance movement. In the absence of a mystical perception of the world, a mystification of the world is inevitable. The “disenchantment of the world” (Friedrich Schiller by Max Weber) is a fait accompli. But this has inevitably brought with it a re-enchantment, a plunge into various forms of ideological, political and scientific religion. Personally, I have tried in this book to alleviate the confusion that persists in this regard. And this for the sake of Truth, and not just of scientific truth, which remains valid, but touches only the visible, quantifiable or measurable part of the world.

Another topic addressed in the articles collected in this volume is the need to overcome the paradigmatic trap that inevitably pushes us into the camp of the defeated. I have in mind the liberal paradigm as a way of thinking perceived as axiomatic, perfect and universally valid. The entire theoretical framework developed in the West and disseminated worldwide under the names of “mass democracy”, “rule of law”, “human rights”, even if they had been perfectly true in the past until the “Great Break” in the spring of 2020, are now nothing but a mirage, an illusion, a desirable reality interwoven by the propaganda apparatus of the System. The old way of organising society is dead and is buried deep underground.

The capitalist model as we have known it for the last few centuries is a thing of the past. Its global expansion is over. The concentration of wealth is a fait accompli. So is the concentration of political power. The dominance of the plutocracy is now replaced by technocratic tyranny.

Instead of manipulating the masses through propaganda and the love of money, the mammonocracy-turned-technocracy operates by shaping behaviour and total control through AI. Political puppets are replaced by engineers and operators. The civilisation of money is about to be replaced by a cashless society.

And although these new realities are familiar to many of us, we often continue to cling to the defunct system. We are under the illusion that we could turn the wheel of history and restore the good old days of individual freedoms and free enterprise through more information and the election of 'the right people' who would punish the usurpers and restore the 'old normal'. But the "new normal" is not deterred by the ineffective methods to which we resort out of inertia.

Some enthusiasts even went so far as to initiate what they called a Nuremberg-2, ignoring the fact that in order to hold war criminals accountable, there first had to be victors in that war. Or perhaps one imagines that it would have been possible to defeat the Hitler or Stalin regimes by recourse to Nazi or Communist justice? This is why I argue that our reaction to the Great Reset must remain the Great Awakening. But once we have woken up, the Great Uprising is needed. How exactly it has to happen is a separate discussion.

Another theme I address in my analyses is the false dichotomy of the collective West versus Russia/China/BRICS as a supposed alternative to the globalist system. But the truth is that the so-called American-style unipolarity is not exclusive in actively, aggressively and totally promoting the globalist agenda.

Unfortunately, multipolarity group is just as obedient to globalist power centers such as the UN, WHO, BIS, WTO etc. as its opponents in the West. But despite all the evidence the alternative media camp and opponents of US imperialism continue to share a kind of insurmountable political religion. What are the causes of such abhorrence and how perception management is operated in this case, you can learn from the lines below. But regardless of whether it's insufficient information, a comfortable psychological niche, or pecuniary motivation, that doesn't relieve us of the obligation to point out these authors' analytical error.

We have all noticed how widely held the view is that we are now at the end of a historical cycle. And beyond the catastrophist predictions, we are hopeful that mankind will manage to overcome this major impasse. In other words, we hope that the current period is not a terminal one, but merely a transition to a new beginning. We could put it that way. We all wish it were not the end of the world, but only the end of this world. But today's nightmare cannot be overcome without our participation. Today's "liquid society" (Zygmunt Bauman) can be reborn through the "solid will" of people who overcome their own prejudices and fears. And petty-bourgeois conformism and cowardice will be pushed aside by the courage and spirit of freedom of people who will regain their own vocation in history.

Today the man for whom dignity and honour are more precious than life is once again on the stage of history. Hard times bring forth strong men again. The death prepared for us by the demonized elites can be defeated only by defying it. This time the Renaissance must be an eminently spiritual one, leaving mediocrity behind. From the horizontal and limited view of the world let us redirect our gaze and aspirations to the vertical and infinite dimension of life. And everything else will be built on exactly such a foundation.

CONTENTS

UNDER THE NEW WORLD ORDER. Preface	3
THE GREAT RESET AND THE END OF CLASSIC GEOPOLITICS	10
HOW TO OVERCOME THE PARADIGMATIC DEADLOCK.....	13
ON THE END OF CLASSICAL GEOPOLITICS	23
THE TERMINAL CRISIS.....	23
A FEW WORDS ABOUT THE ATLANTICIST SUMMIT, THE FUTURE OF TRANSNISTRIA AND THE WAR IN UKRAINE	24
A RECONQUEST FOR EUROPE. THE EXAMPLE OF AFRICA AND THE RETURN TO NORMALITY	26
TOTAL WAR AGAINST GOD. HOW DO WE RESPOND?	28
A DOUBLE INADEQUACY TO THE NEW REALITIES: A FALSE ALTERNATIVE AND A STERILE LEGALISM.....	32
THE FALL FROM LIBERALISM TO GLOBAL TECHNOCRACY..... A conversation with moldovan journalist Yuri Roshka	44
A SURVIVAL PROGRAM FROM 2 POINTS: CROSS AND THE SWORD	55
TODAY’S MAN BETWEEN GOD AND HIS MONKEY.....	57
DEURBANISATION OR THE RECOVERY OF SELF AND FREEDOM	61
OUR RESPONSE TO TECHNOCRACY	64
THE AGONY OF THE WORLD BETWEEN THE ULTIMATE END AND A NEW BEGINNING	66
An essay from the forthcoming book
DOES BRICS THREATEN THE GLOBALIST AGENDA?.....	70
BRICS SUMMIT – THE LAST NAIL IN THE MULTIPOLARITY’S COFFIN.....	75
BRICS – A KEY INSTRUMENT FOR ESTABLISHING THE NEW WORLD ORDER.....	80
CHISINAU FORUM 2023. INTRODUCTORY REMARKS	91
”KNOW YOUR ENEMY” – THE GOLDEN RULE OF THE ART OF WAR IN THE TECHNOCRATIC ERA.....	95

ONE WORLD GOVERNMENT AS AN OBVIOUS REALITY	101
NEOCOMINTERNISM AS A FALSE ALTERNATIVE TO GLOBALISM.....	106
CONTROLLED OPPOSITION AND THE NEW WORLD ORDER.....	113
THE ISRAEL LOBBY IN RUSSIAN POLITICS OR IN SEARCH OF LOST KHAZARIA.....	121
THE ART OF WAR UNDER PUTIN: FOREIGN MERCENARIES PAID HANDSOMELY AND GIVEN RUSSIAN CITIZENSHIP.....	133
A TELEGRAPHIC EXPOSITION OF MODERN HISTORY.....	140
UNRESTRICTED WARFARE: A HOLISTIC APPROACH TO THE GREAT RESET.....	141
POLITICAL CORRECTNESS AND THE CRIME OF OPINION IN TODAY'S RUSSIA.....	152
PAUL CRAIG ROBERTS: PUTIN'S LACK OF VISION AND POLITICAL WILL COULD LEAD TO WWII.....	154
ON FALSE DICHOTOMY AND "USEFUL IDIOTS"	164
PUTIN: AN ALTERNATIVE PERSPECTIVE	167
A conversation with Yuri Roshka
THE DEATH OF A POLITICAL PRISONER AND ITS STAKES	177
REPUBLIC OF MOLDOVA BETWEEN THE DEVIL AND THE DEEP BLUE SEA.....	181
MARIA ZAKHAROVA AS A SYMBOL OF VULGARITY AND IMPERIAL ARROGANCE.....	185
TERRORIST ACT IN MOSCOW, AN ELECTORAL GIFT FOR PUTIN	188
NON-MILITARY WARS AND THE TERRORIST ATTACK IN MOSCOW	191
THE PANDEMIC TREATY – THE GRAVEDIGGER OF NATIONAL SOVEREIGNTY.....	196
MOLDOVA ON THE BRINK OF WAR OR IMPOSSIBLE NEUTRALITY	200
THE NAKED KING OR POTEMKIN'S VILLAGE AS AN IMMEDIATE POLITICAL REALITY.....	205

The great reset and the end of classic geopolitics

Notes for the International Conference on Multipolarity

04.29.2023

Dear friends,

In the last few years, more precisely from February-March 2020, I began to wonder if we were not too quick to state that the “unipolar moment” has remained in the past and that the triumph of multipolarity is taking place.

The first alarm call that put me on guard was the Covid-19 pLandemic. The fact that all countries reacted absolutely uniformly, taking on the mandatory narrative dictated through the WHO, is the proof of a generalized obedience. The real target of this operation is depopulation. At the same time, the controlled demolition of the world economy by lockdowns produced the largest transfer of wealth from the middle class to the world oligarchy.

The alternative media reported only five cases when high-ranking dignitaries opposed the fake pandemic, four African leaders and the president of Haiti. And all five died suddenly. Here are these cases:

- Pierre Nkurunziza, President of the Republic of Burundi, June 8, 2020, heart attack;
- Ambrose Mandvulo Dlamini, Prime Minister of Eswatini (Swaziland), December 13, 2020, diabetes, Covid-19;
- Hamed Bakayoko, Prime Minister of Ivory Coast, March 11, 2021, cancer;

- John Magufuli, President of Tanzania, March 17, 2021, heart failure;
- Jovenel Moïse, President of Haiti, assassinated on July 7, 2021 by a group of mercenaries.

The leaders of all other countries were somewhat more reasonable than the five leaders above. They preferred to save their lives in exchange for the slaughter of their own peoples. And the WHO has shown its full decision-making capacity, appearing as an instrument of the World Government.

In the summer of 2020, President of the WEF, Klaus Schwab published the book Covid-19: The Great Reset. This book provides the key to understanding the role of historical accelerator played by the Covid-19 pandemic, that carries the task of hastening the establishment of the New World Order.

The second major factor that has expanded on a global scale in the last few years is 5G technology. We are dealing here with yet another weapon of mass destruction, but also of total control, including full mental and behavioural control. And again, all countries are equally aligned to the same world project. Dystopias present themselves today as self-fulfilling prophecies or predictive programming.

The third factor that defines the common agenda of all countries is the imposition of the cashless society model. CBDC is about to be introduced everywhere. So, the end of human freedom is our common very near future.

The fourth factor is the imposition of electronic documents. All this will initially be installed on special applications on mobile phones, and in the nearest future – on chips implanted in the human body.

The fifth factor: Smart Cities, Smart Things, Smart Bodies. Technolatriy has become the obsession of the whole world. So, today we are the helpless witnesses of the total digitization of the world. The end of privacy and the establishment of a worldwide digital GULAG are just a step away.

The sixth factor imposed through the UN is the myth of climate change or the scam of “global warming”. It is another common element that reshapes the world according to the same matrix.

Today notions like “augmented man” and “augmented reality” no longer seem something nightmarish. Here again, any conceptual differences disappear, countries competing only for the fastest possible inclusion in the “new normal”.

And since all the countries of the world are implementing the same common agenda, I have called the new international reality THE END OF CLASSICAL GEOPOLITICS. In other words, it is obvious that there is only one world center of power, which imposes a single model of the future on all countries.

Beyond the horizontal conflicts between various countries, a single vertical of power is clearly visible. It seems that these conflicts are actually being stimulated by the craftsmen of the New World Order with regard to create the illusion of fundamental contradictions.

The phenomena that encompassed the whole world have two complementary names: TECHNOCRACY and TRANSHUMANISM. It is a world of Luciferian dictatorship that seeks the end of man as a divine creation. The agenda of the globalist octopus boils down to just two priorities: DEPOPULATION and CONTROL.

And the general plan imposed everywhere, which is being implemented with tremendous speed, has a well-known name: UN AGENDA 21 or AGENDA 2030 for SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT. And since there is ONE COMMON AGENDA for all the countries of the world, multipolarity remains for the moment only a desirable perspective.

How to overcome the paradigmatic deadlock

The death of the liberal paradigm and the rise of technocracy

05.09.2023

I would like to thank our friend from Germany, Peter Topfer, for noting my speech at the recent international conference on multipolarity¹. And if my modest contribution has been noticed, it is because I have tried to point out that at the moment, despite major conflicts between various countries, they are all submissively following the same globalist agenda. I mentioned that it is about what is called the Great Reset, Agenda 21 or Agenda 2030 for Sustainable Development, adopted by the UN. And if all countries, without exception, follow the same agenda, the result that will be reached will be one same for all mankind. That is, the disappearance of any collective religious, civilizational and cultural identity particularities. It is about the far-reaching program of the globalist elites which boils down to only two priorities: DEPOPULATION and CONTROL. And the means to achieve these demonic goals are those provided by techno-science. It is about the complex phenomenon of the destruction of man as a divine creation or, for those who do not subscribe to any religious faith, of natural man as he has existed throughout history.

And whoever ignores this evidence, preferring to remain only at the level of the animation of certain rivalries, even real ones, between various states and groups of states, manifests at least an error of perspective. Moreover, in addition to the policies for homogenising the world, mentioned in the previous text (adherence to the genocidal policy of the WHO, the total digitalization of society, the elimination of cash money and the imposition of CBDC, the introduction of electronic documents, the expansion of the 5G network and the acceptance of the technology development plan 6G, adherence to the climate myth etc.), the total war against sexual identity and the family must also be remembered (gender theory and feminism being part of the UN conventions and the policies of the EU, NATO etc.). And the fact that the countries of the East and the South have not yet reached the level of degradation of the collective West is a provisional state of affairs, because no political regime can put a stop to the world network of the Internet, nor to the immense cultural offensive through the Hollywoodization of the world.

¹ See: <https://www.geopolitika.ru/en/article/speech-iurie-rosca-global-conference-multipolarity-29-april-2023>; <https://multipolaristen.de/multipolaristen/politik/peter-toefer-our-anti-satanist-struggle-and-the-fifth-column-may-7-2023/>.

In other words, the devastating cultural war, the breaking down of moral codes, the dynamiting of traditions and the rapid homogenization of the world are taking on colossal rhythms and proportions. And this type of generalized and omnipresent identity aggression cannot be opposed only by economic, technological and military methods available to states who raise claims to form independent geopolitical poles.

Another factor that must be taken into account in our geopolitical analyzes is the fact that today the states of the world no longer represent independent international actors. Transnational corporations have decidedly subordinated their states, and the economic has taken control over the political. It is a triumism known for several decades. Under these conditions, overestimating the role of statesmen in key positions is a regrettable overstatement. And if states have become empty shells, manipulated by some private groups, to what extent can we ignore another problem, well known in Modernity? It is about the paradigm of democracy that triumphed after the French Revolution.

Under the conditions of today's technological achievements and the impact of mass media on the collective mind, the liberal ideology based on parliamentarism, pluripartism, electoralism and the religion of human rights represents only a major illusion cultivated by the globalist elites. But it is precisely this system of reference that is considered everywhere as the only form of political organization of society. Precisely for this reason, all UN member states, including those we called illiberal, are forced to regularly simulate some electoral processes and feed the myth of the sovereignty of the people. Thus, even those who claim to be conservatives or communists alike are victims of the founding myths of the French Revolution. And yet the political liberalism that underpins mass democracy, ensuring the dominance of moneylenders and merchants, appears at the present time as an obsolete reality. Currently, mind control, behavior shaping and perception management techniques allow the supposedly democratic system to function without deviations in the interest of the satanized elites.

The occult circles that hide behind organizations such as the WEF, the Trilateral Commission, the CFR, the Bilderberg Group, the Club of Rome etc. and which operate through official international bodies such as the UN, EU, WHO, WTO, IMF, World Bank, Bank for International Settlements etc. they boast some instruments of domination, in front of which no state is able to resist. It is about nebulous entities like Big Money, Big Tech, Big Pharma, Big Media with a devastating global impact. In the face of such a tsunami of diluvian proportions, any claim of political independence and civilizational autonomy evince either gross naivety or a simulacrum.

The above mentioned realities are extensively revealed in a multitude of books and studies. But we can't help but admit that, for now, it has not been possible to identify effective ways of resistance in the face of these tremendously powerful trends. The liberal paradigm as an expression of the political religion of the West that was exposed by many brilliant authors, among whom Alain de Benoist and Alexander Dugin are foremost, remains in the past. The very "civilization of money" that has asserted itself in recent centuries in the globalized West is on the verge of extinction. In a cashless society, the function of those conventional units assigned electronically will be radically different from today's.

Liberal political theory has fulfilled its nefarious historical function, being abandoned at the present time by the globalist elites who have used it to dominate the masses, seize the world's wealth, subjugate their states and concentrate all political power on the world scale. The globalist elites no longer need its theoretical tools nor its political-legal and economic manifestation.

But the death of Homo oeconomicus does not automatically determine the rebirth of Homo hierarchicus as an expression of tradition. Louis Dumont has said everything on this subject, but his excellent research nevertheless concerns an age that has reached its logical end. The sacralization of the dogmas of classical capitalism, the deification of an Adam Smith, the axiomatic nature of social Darwinism in economics, free competition and private property belong to the past, today they are nothing more than a simulacrum or a propaganda camouflage. The history of capitalism as “creative destruction” (Werner Sombart) ends its cycle.

Currently the globalist oligarchy or world superclass (David Rothkopf, Michel Geofroy) is approaching the complete fulfillment of its strategy of enslavement and control. Plutocracy establishes an absolute world tyranny with another name – Technocracy. Big Money secures its world domination through Big Tech. The triumph of economic ideology, excellently described by Louis Dumont, is succeeded by the triumph of technocratic ideology. At the present time, any geopolitical analysis that would ignore the entry into the scene of history of a new phenomenon – Technocracy – is incomplete and implicitly distorting. The American author Patrick M. Wood is indispensable for the in-depth understanding of this reality with a worldwide impact unprecedented in history.

A complementary reality to the one described above is called Transhumanism. Klaus Schwab familiarized us with this concept back in 2016 through his book “The Fourth Industrial Revolution”. And no country in the world seems to be able to withstand this danger to the very existence of mankind. On the contrary, the technophilia and enchantment caused by the emergence of Artificial Intelligence, as well as the total digitization of the world, have gripped the masses and the rulers alike. French philosopher and theologian of Romanian origin Jean Boboc has a fundamental contribution to the deciphering of transhumanism. And any political analysis that would ignore this phenomenon of an overwhelming magnitude and gravity is partial and therefore unable to capture the overall picture of today's world.

The death of the American Empire and the birth of the Chinese Empire as an occasion for jubilation of the adherents of multipolarity

Another common thread in the analyzes of authors in the camp opposed to American hegemony is the jubilation of China's rise to the world stage as the undisputed economic and technological leader. Detesting the collective West as an expression of absolute evil and challenging American dominance often creates the temptation to subscribe, consciously or not, to the idea of Chinese dominance. The New Silk Road delights the adherents of multipolarity, often preventing them from seeing a striking reality, namely, that if this gigantic Chinese project succeeds, the world will once again be unipolar, with a single command center located in Beijing. We remind you that One Belt One Road (一带一路) is a global infrastructure development strategy adopted by the Chinese government in 2013 with the aim of investing in more than 150 states out of the existing 193. And then why is unipolarity under the American baton challenged and à la chinoise applauded?

It would be appropriate here to remember the strategy of the globalist elites to deindustrialize Western countries and to transform China not only into the "factory of the world", but also into a pilot project, a model of society that would be imposed on all states. It would be good to refresh our memory on the role of Henry Kissinger (his July 1971 visit to Beijing) to better understand what factors ensured China's economic and technological leap. To ignore the fact that Satanic elites have long-standing strategies, as well as the fact that they are essentially stateless, exercising their world domination as extraterritorial entities, would be a regrettable error.

We mention here only a few elements that would help researchers who wish to deepen the subject of China as a tool of the same globalist elites that stood behind the British Empire, and after the Second World War – behind the USA.

- 1) In the annual report of the Rockefeller Foundation from 2010 (<https://www.rockefellerfoundation.org/wp-content/uploads/Annual-Report-2010-1.pdf>), which describes a hypothetical pandemic that coincided strangely – one hundred percent – with the Covid-19 pandemic launched in 2020, the authors praise the performance of Communist China for the fact that they coped best with this plague invented by the globalists. These eulogies are clear proof of the fact that the Satanist elites prefer a totalitarian government to a regime that would respect a minimum of civil rights.
- 2) On October 18, 2019, The John Hopkins Center for Health Security in New York (created and funded by the same Rockefeller clan) in partnership with the World Economic Forum and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation hosted the meeting called Event 201, a so-called pandemic exercise (<https://centerforhealthsecurity.org/our-work/tabletop-exercises/event-201-pandemic-tabletop-exercise>, <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AoLw-Q8X174>). Among the participants were American public health officials and representatives of the pharmaceutical industry, as well as a senior Chinese official, namely Professor George F. Fa0, general director of the Chinese Center for Disease Control and Prevention, president of the Chinese Biotechnology Society and president of the Asian Biotechnology Federation. And on December 27, 2019, the Chinese authorities already reported the first case of Covid-19 discovered in Wuhan. This pandemic simulation exercise was a classic case of predictive programming around the special operation of the satanic elites Covid-19 intended to contribute to the massive depopulation of the world. The event was funded by the Open Philanthropy Project belonging to the sinister tycoon George Soros.

- 3) The next meeting of the World Economic Forum will take place between 27-29 June 2023 in China. (<https://www.weforum.org/events/annual-meeting-of-the-new-champions-2023>). Any analyst with a minimum of training knows that this institution is one of the main tools of the globalists.

Now let's get back to the economic expansion going on at the expense of the US. Even if things are exactly like this, why would this phenomenon arouse satisfaction among anti-globalists? I personally supposed that the activists for multipolarity are by definition sovereignists, oppose foreign domination and aspire to restore the independence of their own countries. Under these conditions, the rejection of economic colonialism should be a key element of an anti-globalist's thinking and action. The school of thought focused on economic protectionism, conceptualized by Friedrich List who was inspired by the works of Alexander Hamilton, in my opinion has not lost its relevance. And if in the 18th and 19th centuries the two authors were opposed to British imperialism manifested in the framework of the free trade regime, wouldn't a modern-day patriot – even if he is a follower of the “large spaces”(Grossraum) theory according to Carl Schmitt – should they not worry about Chinese economic imperialism imposing itself through the same free trade regime?

It is known that the political dominance of a country is preceded and accompanied by its economic dominance. As is it known, the fundamental difference between a productive economy (China) and a consumer economy (the 150 countries that would be invaded by Chinese investment and goods). Let's face it, being an opponent of American unipolarity and at the same time a supporter of Chinese unipolarity is evidence of a worrying naivety. The economic decolonization of the countries of the world, that is, the rejection of the domination of capital and goods of Western origin, should not be succeeded by their recolonization by China.

Furthermore, the gigantomania so criticized under Communism and rejected in the case of the world domination of the Western corporatocracy should not be treated with such admiration and enthusiasm in the case of China. If the Chinese aspire to make 150 countries happy through their economic presence, it implicitly follows that all of them will accept the ungrateful role of China's "banana republics". The rest of the world would only provide the Chinese world giant with raw materials, markets and possibly manpower. In these conditions, how much room is left for our aspirations towards a multipolar world order?

Currently China is the golden dream of any dictator in history, with forced medicine, lockdown and incarceration of its own citizens in their homes, widespread surveillance, social rating and no political and civil liberties whatsoever. That is precisely why it is praised by exponents of globalist-satanic elites such as Klaus Schwab or Bill Gates. So those who want to know what their societies will look like tomorrow must look to China today.

The way to freedom

Starting with the year 2020, which established the world dictatorship under medical pretexts, it has been seen all too well how much democratic principles and legality are worth. At the same time, any illusion of the existence of truly independent centers of power disappeared. The Covid-19 pandemic, announced by the head of the WEF as a window of opportunity for the "Great Reset", has shattered any illusion that the global digital dictatorship can be stopped by resorting to the traditional methods of political struggle: elections, street protests, recourse to justice, criticism in the alternative press. The globalist monster no longer needs to maintain the appearance of the rule of law. State terrorism and the imposition of genocidal and liberticidal measures have become everyday practices everywhere in the world.

Let us remember that world governance is carried out unhindered by means of puppet governments subordinate to the Luciferian elites.

And the succession in government does not bring any substantial change, serving only as a setting for this sinister spectacle. The political spectrum in all countries with liberal democracies has definitely become uniform. The political class is hostage to the same dominant paradigm. The subordination of all world governments to the UN and its agencies (WHO, WTO, UNDP, UNICEF etc.) as an expression of the World Government is obvious to any careful observer.

So what to do? First, all illusions must be abandoned. Presenting the desirable as reality and cultivating the myth of geopolitical rivalries that would transcend the globalist-satanist agenda is not only counterproductive, but suicidal. That is, a paradigmatic leap is required that would overcome the clichés of political and geopolitical interpretation. A deep, realistic analysis and without circumstantial obedience to state hierarchies is the prelude to the development of an effective ideological and political struggle platform.

And since at the present time there is no country that has a strong leadership, determined to give a total fight, to the death, to the Satanist elites who have usurped political power on a world scale, it is imperative to reveal this state of affairs as a huge tragedy. At this critical historical moment for humanity, the spirit of sacrifice and courage of the anti-System intellectual elites is the indispensable condition of our effort to awaken the nations. Any attempt to sugarcoat reality and avoid the risks of direct confrontations with governments enslaved to globalist command centers can be fatal for the entire world. History is moved forward by strong and lucid characters. The time of merchants and the petty-bourgeois spirit must remain in the past. The time of heroes is knocking at the door. The future depends on the will of a few minorities who constitute the true elites of nations. He cannot build on the shaky foundations of mediocrity and cowardice. The future will not come at all if we miss the opportune moment.

We all agree that we are witnessing the end of a historical cycle that we associate with Modernity and capitalism. The signs of the times are causing some Christian religious leaders to see the apocalyptic de-nouement approaching. But resorting to René Guénon's interpretation, we still hope that it is not a case of the end of the world, but more "the end of this world". We do not subscribe to the Hindu conception of the cyclicity of time, but merely use this figure of speech to say that we all desire the birth of a better world. And the way to it necessarily goes through breaking patterns and challenging liberalism, but also the technocracy that tends to take its place. At this crucial historical moment a revolt of the nations is required, a major, worldwide, irreconcilable and victorious one. A new world can only be built on the ruins of an old world. Today's generation bears the mission to become the gravedigger of globalist capitalism, but also of demonic technocracy.

Yuri Roshka,
Moldavia

05.28.2023

On the end of classical geopolitics

The promotion of the same policies in all countries as imposed by the WHO and the UN Agenda 21 for Sustainable Development transcends any interstate conflict and will lead to the same end result: depopulation, genetic modification and total control, i.e. to a world tyranny whose name is technocracy and transhumanism.

The terminal crisis

The current terminal crisis of the world must be sought not only in the fact that the “collective West” embodies absolute evil. It resides in the spiritual collapse of humanity as a result of the “disenchantment of the world” through the fall of all societies into materialist scientism and implicitly through contamination with the Luciferian virus of self-destruction through technology.

Doing geopolitical exercises limiting the nefarious influence of the West only on the Atlantic space (the USA, the EU, NATO and their satellites) is evidence of either an insurmountable superficiality or an abhorrent hypocrisy. The source of evil is in the West, but the pandemic of technocracy and transhumanism has engulfed the entire world. Humanity has never been more centralized under a single command center, despite wars and conflicts or cultural differences.

A few words about the atlanticist summit, the future of Transnistria and the war in Ukraine

06.02.2023

Beyond the propaganda noise of the European agitation brigade, which arrived in Moldova to drink, eat and take group photos, some details should be noted.

1. Moldova did not receive any clear perspective of joining the EU, the same vague promises for decades. There is no need for Moldova's formal accession to the EU and NATO, because the regime formed by the "Soros network" is anyway perfectly integrated into this system and without fail serves the interests hostile to the country, but advantageous to the Judeo-Anglo-American hegemony. Including in total war against Russia.
2. Considering the fact that the Russian armed forces did not manage to conquer the Nikolaev and Odessa regions and achieve a land junction with Transnistria, an entry of Ukrainian, Moldovan and possibly Romanian troops into Transnistria remains an easy scenario to achieve.
3. More and more independent experts from the Russian patriotic camp come to the conclusion that the launch of the Russian Special Military Operation was not the result of a strategic plan elaborated in Moscow, but induced from outside. The stake of the West is to create a second Afghanistan for the Russians, that is, a fatal trap. And it is still premature to say that the game of Russia's enemies has failed.
4. The evolution of events on the battlefield and at the level of political and military decision-makers in the period after the start of military hostilities shows that decisions are taken not in the interest of a quick and total victory, but in the interest of economic interests such as the transit of gas, oil and ammonia on the territory of Ukraine, the endless “grain deals” mediated by the UN and Erdogan etc. And a country suffering total aggression from a coalition of over 50 states without mobilizing all its resources for victory and without allowing the Army to really fight does not inspire much fear in anyone.

5. In this context a realistic analysis of the state of affairs is infinitely more useful than exercises of hatred versus admiration towards the belligerent parties.

A reconquest for Europe. The example of Africa and the return to normality

06.03.2023

Following the example of Uganda and dozens of other countries in Africa, about which we Europeans, to our shame, do not know much, let us also covet the establishment of drastic punishments for sodomy and pedocriminality, which are the key values of Western powers affiliated with satanic circles .

A true national revolution, a Reconquista and a shaking off the yoke of the Luciferian forces that use the “collective West” as a weapon to destroy all humanity should have in its program, in addition to radical political and economic measures, a series of measures that to stop the genocidal practices imposed by the Western occupiers.

Today’s age is marked by the total assault of the occult circles that control the world agenda against man as a divine creation by imposing the LGBT ideology: gender theory, sodomy, pedocriminality, sexualization of children, male pregnancy, sex change, artificial conception of babies, genetic modification etc.

All these manifestations that seek the rapid and irremediable destruction of humanity must constitute the most serious crimes against the people and the human being, to be punished with death.

The same capital punishment is imposed for infanticide, the killing of unborn children being more serious than the premeditated killing of an innocent adult. In this sense, the death penalty must be imposed on women who kill their fetuses (a crime cunningly called “abortion”), the doctors who operate on them and the nurses who help them. Complicity in such crimes, as well as concealment of information about the intention to commit them or about their commission, shall be punishable by life imprisonment.

Life that is threatened with total extinction must be defended with particularly severe methods.

Today's world can only be saved by some strong political regimes, led by statesmen with a vocation, love for fellow men and a spirit of sacrifice. To stop the degradation and final disappearance of the nation, the State must establish a dictatorship of Christian morality, common sense, decency and normality.

The rest is empty talk and spiritual blindness caused by liberalism, depravity and Christophobia.

Total war against God. How do we respond?

06.03.2023

The whole dynamic of international life in recent decades bears the striking stamp of Satan. The process radically directed against man – globalism – can only be understood in all its depth and complexity from a religious perspective.

The final assault of the Luciferian forces against humanity has taken on an unprecedented scale precisely now for two primary reasons.

The first. The banishment of God from the collective mind of the masses has triumphed (The fact that some of us still attend places of worship does not exempt us from the devastating penetration of a deeply materialistic vision into our minds, pushing us into a state of schizophrenia).

Second. The achievements of techno-science, induced by the infernal forces of some demonized “scientists”, allow the exercise of total control over the world masses by a very small group of people.

The subversive action of the biblical serpent against man has not stopped for a moment since the temptation of Eve in Heaven until now. In the West this was manifested through the Reformation, the Renaissance, the Age of Enlightenment, the French Revolution. Thus the collapse in Modernity drew a line of continuous degradation of humanity. Scientism, Technolatriy, Progressism, Transformism, Anthropocentrism are just a few names of this fatal spiritual disease.

And if it was believed that man, nature and society can be reshaped infinitely, today we have reached the terminal stage of the demonization of the world. It manifests itself through the definitive disaggregation of harmony and balance in the world. The aggression against humanity, launched with a devastating force, takes forms such as the liquidation of the family, the annihilation of motherhood, the ritual killing of unborn babies, feminism, gender theory, the legalization of sodomy, pedocriminality, the sexualization of children.

The chain of procedures for dehumanizing the world and mass murdering the anesthetized multitudes through TV, the Internet, and mass culture necessarily includes the myth of vaccinism and the myth of climatism.

The messengers of the infernal world, gathered in organizations of the occult or visible type, preach the end of normal man by merging the biological and the technological in the human body. Augmented man, impregnated with nanoparticles and chips, is the “new normal” that Satanists are pushing us towards. Perception management, behavior modeling, mind control, memory modification, complete digitization of society and man – this is already the nightmare reality into which we are being pushed.

The vertiginous acceleration of the rhythms of reaching the terminal phase of humanity has acquired two complementary names, presented as superior achievements intended to establish an era of generalized bliss: Technocracy and Transhumanism.

The speed with which the globalists’ evil agenda is unfolding is so fast, and the consequences of these actions so disastrous, that the establishment of the New World Order is becoming an everyday reality.

The impasse in which humanity was mentioned in the face of these mortal dangers is due to the spiritual blindness induced by the Masonic circles initially in Western Europe, and today in the whole world contaminated by the deadly disease of Westernization.

Political militants, civic activists, book authors, honest researchers, independent journalists seek to form a Resistance in front of this globalist tsunami, criticizing the System within it without realizing the sterility of their own effort. The matrix into which we have been thrust for the past hundreds of years has been nothing more than the preparation phase for the final assault on humanity, which is unfolding with volcanic force. We could call this intellectual trap “materialism” or “liberalism” and we wouldn’t be wrong.

But the correct name for the state of the world today is rejection of God. The devil knew how to work discreetly to subvert the religious worldview. Today man considers his unbelief to be a matter of personal choice. He does not assume the dishonorable role of an object of manipulation by forces outside his own mind, of a spiritual nature.

Hence all the failures of analysis, no matter how refined and scholarly, of the intellectual peaks that seek to conceptualize today’s realities and above all to offer solutions to avoid a fatal end for humanity. Our puerile intellectual exercises about restoring the rule of law, national sovereignty, democracy, human rights etc. it is an occasion of special amusement for the devil. He knew how to escape from our sight, making us believe in our own autonomy.

Remaining captive to the materialistic paradigm that induces human self-sufficiency, without reference to God as the creator of the world and Satan as its destroyer, our struggle for survival is doomed to failure. We cannot save ourselves from the terminal catastrophe which is rolling upon us with increasing speed either by culture, or by science, or by the methods of political struggle offered by the liberal state.

The chance of the world’s survival under the conditions of this aggression of a huge destructive power lies not only in the effort to re-inform, in civic courage and in unmasking the plans of the globalist elite.

The devastating force of this aggression lies not only in the concentration of economic, political, technological and military resources that allow them to have full domination over the world. It is caused by a pact with the devil. That is, in other words, our forces are unequal. They have allied themselves with the spirit of darkness, and we remain alone, that is an easy prey for them.

Therefore, in order to have a chance of survival, and then victory, we also need an alliance that will make us stronger in the face of the enemies of humanity. And this cannot be other than with God. Only the creator of the world and man is more powerful than his creature, the first revolutionary who is Lucifer.

Our God, our savior, the almighty God awaits us. He looks at us with pity as helpless orphans before a pack of wolves.

The total war currently waged against humanity is not the result of “psychopaths”, as some dissidents from the anti-globalist camp try to convince us. These occult circles are not autonomous. They made their choice, they chose their master. Now it’s our turn to do it. Until it’s too late. If it’s not too late.

Christ is waiting for us. Will we come to Him or maybe He is already on his way to us?

A double inadequacy to the new realities: a false alternative and a sterile legalism

06.23.2023

1. Adherence to the religion of covidism as proof of loyalty to the globalists

In the present essay I will refer to a double inadequacy to the new realities, determined by a series of spiritual, economic and technological factors. Namely, to the false alternative to the globalist system, which is claimed by a number of countries united within BRICS, and to the ineffectiveness of the legalistic resistance practiced by those who try to oppose the system.

I personally follow the alternative media in four languages, English, French, Russian and Romanian. Especially after the launch of the special operation of murder by injection, genetic modification, and mind control, which was carried out under the code name "Covid-19 pandemic". More than three years have passed since the beginning of this sinister farce that has revealed a new geopolitical reality, which escaped our attention until then. Namely. All states visible as a geopolitical weight have demonstrated their absolute obedience to a single world command center.

The only states that tried to resist the total aggression of the globalist-satanic forces under medical pretext paid with the lives of their own leaders. And to their credit, all without exception were African black. In this sense, see the suggested material at the bottom of the page[1]. We could add to these examples Sweden and Belarus, where the authorities avoided terrorizing their own populations with draconian restrictions and destroying their own economies with lockdowns.

Otherwise, the USA, Canada, the EU countries, Russia and China, along with the other BRICS countries, have proven to be led by some puppet governments, controlled by a single power center that we can call without no exaggeration World Government acting through UN affiliated agencies like WHO.

As I have shown in several recent articles[2], the common denominator of all states subject to the globalist command center is the UN with its policies established by Agenda 21 and the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.

We list here once again only the main elements of the Great Reset as the end of human civilization and the entry into the apocalyptic phase of TECHNOCRACY and TRANSHUMANISM, which aims at two major priorities, DEPOPULATION and CONTROL, promoted everywhere in the world, without the states claiming to represent an alternative to the “collective West” to show major disagreements:

- The organization of false pandemics such as Covid-19 in order to introduce lethal serums, impregnated with components such as spike proteins, nano-particles, fluorescent substances suggestively named luciferase, cells from aborted human foetuses etc., all together producing irreparable genetic changes, an increased huge mortality rate, including among minors and young people, spontaneous abortions and sudden deaths, widespread developing of cancers and AIDS, as well as a sterilization of the world population.
- Adherence to the climate myth, which imposes the falsehood of global warming, the greenhouse effect as a pretext for the total destruction of the world economy by banning traditional fuel (oil, gas, coal), as well as by imposing the «green economy», the «carbon footprint” etc;
- Promoting the policy of eliminating liquid money and imposing central bank digital currency (CBDC);
- Establishing a total surveillance system through the massive use of surveillance cameras, facial recognition programs, QR-codes, digital wallets etc.;

- Total digitization of society;
- The massive introduction of AI and robotics that will cause, in addition to total surveillance and control, global unemployment of colossal proportions;
- Genetic engineering aimed at reshaping the entire creation, from plants and animals to the human being, including animal and human cloning;
- Human augmentation through the fusion of physical, digital and biological within the Fourth Industrial Revolution;
- Convergence between the scientific disciplines of Nanotechnology, Biotechnology, Information Technology and Cognitive Science, abbreviated by the acronym NBIC;
- Prohibition of normal consumption of meat of animal origin under sanitary pretexts (swine flu, avian flu, gas emissions in cattle as a cause of global warming etc.);
- The imposition of insects and worms under the title of foodstuffs.

It is well to remember that at the present time there is a rapid transition from the “civilization of money” (Valentin Katasonov) to the “civilization of techno-science” and posthumanity. In this sense, all the predictions of Jacques Ellul about the “betrayal of technology” accurately materialize. The obsession with the conquest of nature by man has turned out into the conquest of man by technology.

The list of nightmare realities listed above could be continued. For example, the artificial conception of children, the sexualization of minors, the legalization of pedocriminality, the LGBT revolution etc. It is true that a number of Muslim countries, China and Russia oppose sodomy and the destruction of the family, but given the devastating force of mass culture promoted by modern technologies and the total cognitive war waged by globalist power centres, a certain desynchronization in the degree of societal depravity will be overcome within a decade or two at the most. The West has become global, managing to contaminate the entire world with its diseases.

The dynamics and scale of the phenomena listed above is downright diluvian or, more precisely, literally apocalyptic. From this perspective, a correct and deep assessment of this international reality is required, which does not fit into the classical geopolitical schemes, overcoming the horizontal cleavages between states and groups of states. Also, an inventory of the methods of struggle of the resistance movement against the techno-scientific tyranny that is being established with lightning speed is necessary.

To test the degree of loyalty of any state and state leader to the globalist power center that we generically call the World Government, it is enough to undertake the following intellectual exercise. Let's project on them the reading grid proposed above, which will develop with maximum precision the true nature of the respective political regimes and the dignitaries in the state hierarchies.

The first exercise. Did the respective state/leader join the global genocide under the cover of the fake Covid-19 pandemic or not? And here – oh, what a shocking surprise! – we find in the same collection of puppets of the World Government Donald Trump and Joe Biden, Vladimir Putin and Xi Jinping, Justin Trudeau and Narendra Damodardas Modi, Emmanuel Macron and Ursula Gertrud von der Leyen, Vladimir Zelensky and Viktor Orban.

From this it emerges that any existing conflict between the “collective West” and Russia/China/BRICS – ideological, diplomatic, economic or military – is secondary in comparison with the common agenda imposed on them through globalist organizations such as the UN and the WHO. And that's because – utmost attention!!! – the forceful deployment of a tsunami of the globalist agenda will cause some huge transformations on a world scale that will accelerate the arrival of the terminal phase of human civilization. All the dystopian novels and horror movies with predictive programming functions will not only become reality faster than we anti-System dissenters can imagine. If there is no radical shift, no major break in the international order, humanity will face an inexorable extinction. Then even atheists and freethinkers will suddenly remember the Apocalypse and cry out to God. For the simple reason that they will see with their own eyes these transcendental realities inaccessible to modern man.

What should a state/political regime/leader of an independent nation do?

- 1) To firmly denounce the crimes against humanity which is the operation of mass assassination of humanity under the cover of the Covid-19 pandemic.
- 2) To immediately leave the World Health Organization and to denounce any relationship with GAVI, the Global Alliance for Vaccines and Immunization.
- 3) To cut off all cooperation with Big Pharma by denouncing all agreements with transnational corporations producing vaccines.
- 4) To cancel any mandatory vaccination of the population, from new-born children to the elderly.
- 5) To initiate criminal investigations against dignitaries who have established relations of complicity with the criminals of the globalist elite in order to commit mass murder.

More than three years after the outbreak of the Covid-19 pandemic, has any state taken such measures? Obviously, not. And then why so much enthusiasm in international circles of resistance against American hegemony over Putin's Russia, Xi's China, or the BRICS? I am trying to answer this question.

1. Our Western friends in the dissident network hate the ruling system so much that they fall into a state of blind adoration of these aforementioned countries and their formal leaders, even reaching states of idolatry.
2. That confusion is fueled massively by the official discourse of the front men from the East, who contest "Western values", claiming to defend alternative civilizational values. That is, intellectuals in the anti-Western resistance fall into the trap of official rhetoric and make no distinction between words and deeds.

3. In any conflict between two parties we are tempted to take the side of one of them. It is the syndrome of the spectator of a football match or of a voter in the confrontation between the government and the opposition. In such situations, it is difficult to accept the idea that the respective political fauna presents no positive figure.
4. The propaganda of capitals such as Moscow, through RT, Sputnik etc. is quite effective in maintaining the illusion of an alternative to the West. This is also maintained by the fact that the studios of the respective media company existing in Western countries constantly invite the intellectuals banned by the mainstream media, and the embassies take care of their presence at all worldly events.
5. Moscow resorts to the old strategy applied during the 1920s-1930s by the Comintern, which knew how to flatter and corrupt a large number of Western intellectuals who turned into trumpets of the Soviet regime, “alternative” to the capitalist one.
6. At the moment, a whole series of rebels engaged in the fight against the System have settled in Moscow or make regular visits there, turning nolens-volens into neocominterns in the service of the Kremlin.
7. Having a remarkable critical spirit and displaying a commendable power of analysis in their articles, public lectures and books, our Western friends often show an astonishing blindness to the realities of Russia or China. To discuss with them the nature of political power, the structure of state institutions, the decision-making process, the structure of the national economy, the editorial policy of the dominant media in these countries etc. it is impossible. People are willing to endlessly cultivate their own illusions when they simply do not have to follow a vision agreed by their Eastern sponsors.

2. Climatism as a weapon of mass destruction in the hands of globalists

Now a few words about the climate myth and its implications for the establishment of the New World Order. I will not go into depth on the subject, instead I would recommend a series of books on this subject of exemplary academic value:

François Gervais: «L'urgence climatique est un leurre», «Merci au CO₂: Impact climatique et conséquences: quelques points de repères», «Impasses-climatiques-contradictions-discours-alarmiste»; Christian Gerondeau: «Le CO₂ est bon pour la planète: Climat, la grande manipulation» «La religion écologiste», «La voiture électrique et autres folies: la religion écologiste»; Tim Ball; «The Deliberate Corruption of Climate Science»; Calude Allegre: «L'climate imposture»; Rémy Prud'homme: «L'ideology of warming», «Warmism as an ideology: soft science and hard doctrine», «Le mythe des énergies renouvelables», Marc Morano, «Climate Change», «Green Fraud».

Here we recall a trivial truth, known to everyone in the intellectual milieu of the anti-globalist dissidence. The de-sovereignation of the states is an old plan of the globalist elites that has been fully realized. And if we know that the world is run by some networks of influence, by secret societies and transnational corporations, why do we limit this axiomatic truth only to the Western space?

We also recall the fact that the diversion of global proportions with a major strategic stake rightly called “ecological religion” or “global warming ideology” was imposed on the states as a result of the deliberations of the Club of Rome created by the Rockefeller clan in order to substantiate the theory of depopulation. This bogus theory became international convention following the Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro in 1992, which was held under the auspices of the UN. Thus, climate change has become an international norm, and the concept of Sustainable Development has migrated into several acts of the same UN. Our camp understands very well the purpose of these projects – the estabishment of the New World Order. But does any country oppose this strategy? No. How, then, is it to be explained that we see all too well how this plan is being implemented in the West, but miss the fact that the same thing is happening in the East?

What should an independent and patriotic state/government have done to reject the globalist agenda based on the religion of environmentalism?

1. To denounce all the international conventions adopted within the UN and ratified by the member states, which give a legal appearance to the climate myth and the treacherous strategy called Sustainable Development?
2. To initiate an official debate at the international level, with the involvement of honest experts in the field, to denounce this diversion that aims to reduce the population and establish a world tyranny.

Has any state or its leader shown any intention to withdraw from international commitments that nullify national independence, destroy the economy and lead to mass depopulation? No. And if this is the case, why do we prefer to have a selective approach to this major problem of humanity as well?

Or, say, which state (group of states) with claims to independence could afford to abandon the World Trade Organization and the Bank for International Settlements? Not one? Then what kind of economic independence could we talk about? But precisely economic independence determines political independence. Not to mention the widespread obsession with the dependence of a national economy on foreign markets and foreign trade, any idea of economic protectionism or proximity economy being forgotten by both small and large countries.

In the same vein, we emphasize that the exit from the deadly embrace of the Globalist System goes through the decisive and official rejection of the plan to eliminate liquid money (cashless society), of the technocratic obsessions that are becoming a legal norm and a practical reality such as “15-minute cities”, “smart cities – smart things – smart bodies – smart minds” etc.

Under these conditions, if globalization is a destiny, an inexorable law in the sense of progressivism as the only vision of the world, why would we show such zeal for the cultivation of civilizational, religious, or ideological differences? All of these passes into the background, to be dissolved permanently in the cauldron of technological, economic and cultural globalization. The uniformization, homogenization, dehumanization, and entry into the terminal paradigm of the two twins of evil – technocracy and transhumanism (Patrick M. Wood[3]) appear as inevitable, as a predestination that would end the history of mankind in a tragic and accelerated way.

3. The inadequacy of the methods of political struggle under the conditions of tyranny

Given the new international realities and taking into account the fact that the globalist dictatorship has suppressed all legal rights and freedoms, a fact that was fully seen during the fake Covid-19 pandemic, we must admit that the traditional methods of political struggle have become totally inoperative. The sanitary tyranny imposed by the globalist hyperclass is accompanied by unprecedented terror against those who do not accept the official line. Methods of establishing a global totalitarian regime range from censorship on dominant digital platforms, to stalking, public stigmatization and ostracism, to outright assassinations, which are presented as heart attacks or car accidents. The thoughtcrime and the imposition of “single thought” (Fr: Pensée unique) is not only the prerogative of the Chinese regime but extends equally to the Western space and Russia.

In these conditions, considering the accelerated pace of imposing the New World Order, the individuals and social groups representing the Resistance find themselves in a total deadlock. Recourse to the old methods of political struggle in the new conditions has no chance of success. To make use of democratic and legalistic methods under conditions of state terror is as absurd as it was in Russia after the October 1917 coup or in Nazi Germany after 1933.

Creating parties, participating in elections, organizing street demonstrations, collecting signatures, sending e-mails or petitions to dignitaries, all these have no longer any purpose in the new conditions. Worse, the entire work of informing and awakening societies to reality, which we, the anti-System militants, do has a limited impact and cannot produce a reversal of the situation. This is because of the control over the collective mind exerted for decades by mainstream media and mass culture, by manipulation and perception management, by social media and hedonistic individualism.

And the endless appeals of some activists to the civic conscience of the citizens who are called to wake up have limited impact, falling within the margin of error not disturbing for the globalist power. Faced with a total inefficiency of legalistic methods, the solution that remains is to resort to political violence. But this option also seems to be taken into account by the world oligarchy. "Governance through chaos" (L. Cerise) is exactly what it aims for.

Under these conditions, only God's intervention in history can overturn the current state of affairs and open a brighter perspective for humanity. But the West, which has become global, has betrayed God, is proud of its own spiritual blindness, and persists in the error of self-sufficiency of autonomous man. Even the vast majority of us, the anti-globalist and sovereignist militants, have definitively secularized ourselves, having a horizontal perception of the world. And this unlike our enemies, deeply attached to Satan, who know well who they are fighting. Therefore, as we said in the previous article, while the Satanists have allied themselves with the prince of this world, we, their enemies, refuse the alliance with the King of heaven and earth, Jesus Christ.

Under these circumstances, when we find ourselves betrayed by all statesmen, disenfranchised, incapable of political violence, and strangers to the divine source, what remains for us to do?

I would say let's continue our daring work and determined affirmation of the truth despite all the risks. Let us expose traitorous statesmen and politicians, let us encourage followers to prepare for a long and sacrificial struggle. But also, to be in a full state of alertness. In the art of war as in boxing success depends on intuition and maximum utilization of the opportune moment. My boxing coach used to teach us like this: "When you're in the ring with your opponent in front of you, don't close your eyes. You risk missing the most interesting moment". That is, getting a coup de grâce and being defeated.

4. War as the terminal phase of the world or an opportunity and a new beginning?

There may be no other way out of this historical impasse than war. We don't want it. But if the globalists have already provoked it anyway, let's hope that the enormous sacrifices, which seem hard to avoid at the moment, result in a new beginning for humanity. A solution hard to accept for today's demasculinized, hedonistic, and narcissistic generations. But another way to wake up from the state of lethargy, to re-masculinize, to resettle societies on the foundations of moral virtues, hierarchies and honour seems to not exist.

The war that is currently raging on only on the territory of Ukraine, would deserve a separate article to investigate its origins and implications. Until then, however, we note that this war forged and initiated by the Atlanticists, by the USA that embodies absolute evil, is only a link in the long historical chain of offensives of the Anglo-Saxons, of the thalassocratic civilization against Russia as a continental, tellurocratic civilization. The goal is obvious: the destruction of Russia as a state, its territorial dismantling, its denuclearization, and its removal from history. The prime target of the aggressors is Orthodoxy and Russia's immense natural resources.

In these conditions, obviously, our sympathies are on the side of the victim of aggression, which is Russia. Except that they do not necessarily extend to the leadership of this country impregnated with foreign influence networks and lacking a leader who would be up to the great challenges of today's historical moment. The dynamics of the last three years, since the establishment of covidist terror, as well as the sixteen months of war have revealed the true face of the Russian rulers. From obedience to globalists and dependence on the oligarchy that controls the country's economy to the shocking inability to deal with a major crisis like war. Plus, a massive presence of elements hostile to the national interest in the state and propaganda apparatus, a situation that could be characterized by two complementary terms: "fifth column" and "xenocracy". But we hope to return to all this in more detail in another article.

Moreover, the war fits perfectly into the globalist strategy that seeks to depopulate, devastate nation states, destroy the economy, pauperize the masses, and cause generalized chaos, all representing the preconditions for the establishment of the New World Order.

In other words, given the new international circumstances, the current international political-legal and economic-financial system seems to be unreformable. And a possible resettlement of the world on some new, fairer, and more human bases, becomes possible only after a new world war. Only a post-war peace could remake the world. But that comes with the hard-to-avoid risk of the world disappearing in a nuclear meltdown.

In any case, even without self-annihilation as a result of the use of weapons of mass destruction this hyper-technological civilization is heading headlong towards an inevitable collapse.

In such cases, we Christians say, "Thy will be done, Lord!". Not because we are fatalists, nor followers of predestination. On the contrary. Christian optimism is the key to the invincible character of the religious man.

- [1] Speech by Yuri Roshka at the Global Conference on Multipolarity, 29 April 2023 | Geopolitica.RU (geopolitika.ru)
- [2] <https://telegra.ph/How-to-overcome-the-paradigmatic-dead-lock-05-11>; Satanic Transhumanism – Arktos
- [3] See: Patrick M. Wood, "Technocracy Rising: The Trojan Horse Of Global Transformation" (2015), "Technocracy: The Hard Road to World Order" (2018), "The Evil Twins of Technocracy and Transhumanism" (2022)

The fall from liberalism to global technocracy

A conversation with moldovan journalist Yuri Roshka

Edward Slavsquat

07.01.2023

I had the great honor of interviewing Moldovan journalist Yuri Roshka, whose work has focused on exposing Western infiltration of the ex-Soviet world, while highlighting the dangers awaiting us all as American hegemony is replaced by global technocracy based on the “Chinese model”.

Apart from his work in journalism and publishing, Roshka led Moldova’s Christian Democratic People’s Party, and served as an MP in his nation’s parliament for four terms between 1994-2009. He was twice appointed Deputy Chairman of the Moldovan Parliament, and served as Deputy Prime Minister for Security Agencies.

A devout Orthodox Christian, Roshka is a staunch anti-communist, and after the fall of the Soviet Union became an anti-liberal opposed to the Collective West.

He ran several websites that were shut down in March 2022 by orders of Moldova’s Security and Information Service. He currently curates a popular Telegram channel where he publishes texts and videos translated into several languages. Roshka is also the author of several books in Romanian, Russian and French.

His latest essay, “Coming Soon: The Apocalyptic Phase of Technocracy And Transhumanism”, was published by Technocracy News in June.

Let’s begin!

Yuri, tell us about your background and your approach to journalism. You are the organizer of an annual conference in Moldova, is that correct?

I started my fight for freedom some 35 years ago against the Soviet Empire, and I continue to fight against the American Empire up to the present day. For me it is unacceptable to be affiliated to any center of power. Otherwise I cannot be a free journalist and make honest political analyses. I publish books written by some friends from abroad (especially from French dissidents). Some of these books are my own. I also work as a translator.

My unrelenting critiques of Western influence networks and Satanist globalism have made me a target of the United States and Brussels. I am an outspoken critic of the economic, political, cultural, informational and – more broadly – civilizational occupation imposed by the Western corporatocracy on the ex-communist space.

But unlike the vast majority of dissidents who are against Western hegemony, I am not affected by Sovietolatry, nostalgia for the communist regime, nor do I practice Putinomania as a form of neo-pagan adoration and intellectual blindness. This kind of syndrome is sometimes promoted by clever people who seek sponsorship from groups affiliated with Moscow. But such moral compromises are not for me. Clientelism and the mercenary spirit can be draped in noble intentions, but that does not change their essence.

In 2017, with a group of friends from the West and Russia, I organized an international conference called the Chisinau Forum. This platform has become a kind of think tank, resulting in close cooperation in the international alternative press.

The Forum organizes public conferences in various countries and has published several books by sovereigntist authors. Unfortunately, in the last three years we had to cancel our conference due to the false pandemic. But I hope we can reconvene the Chisinau Forum in September this year. The topic for this year's event will be: "UN AGENDA 21 and the GREAT RESET: The Fall from Liberalism to Technocracy and Trans-humanism”.

In May you published a truly fascinating essay titled “How to overcome the paradigmatic deadlock” [which everyone should read – it’s a real eye-opener – Edward]. You begin this article with a very provocative statement: “Despite major conflicts between various countries, they are all submissively following the same globalist agenda”. Can you explain how you reached this conclusion? In what ways are the world powers following the “same globalist agenda”?

By 2020, especially after Russia condemned the 2014 coup in Kiev and took control of Crimea, I hoped that the Putin administration had decided to end Russia’s unsettling status as a Western colony, as a banana republic of the globalist corporatocracy, as a supplier of raw materials to the rich countries of the West.

I even expected that there would be a purge of those who had been in control of the government’s economic and financial bloc, including the central bank, for over 30 years, and Moscow would offer a clear and distinct geopolitical alternative to the world.

But my expectations were in vain. The “Fifth Column” (the vast network of the Western-backed agents) remained intact in the state administration, and the mafia-type network of oligarchs continued to exploit Russia’s vast natural resources for their personal benefit, to the detriment of the country.

Donbass was abandoned for eight years, the assassination of the peaceful population in this region continued daily, and the Minsk agreements confirmed my fear that Russia did not have a leadership capable of manifesting itself as a real and effective alternative to the West.

The evolution of events in Russia has shown that in fact the Putin administration is only the docile executor of the orders of the “Russian plutocracy”. Under the current regime, the country could be called without exaggeration a “xenocracy” (rule by foreigners). And, as in all capitalist countries, the economic factor has subjugated the political factor, with statesmen being only puppets of capital.

The false pandemic launched in 2020 has confirmed beyond any doubt that Russia, like China and the other BRICS countries, are subject to a single command center.

This shadow world government imposes binding directives on all states through its command centers such as the WHO and GAVI. Global genocide, the destruction of the world economy, assassination by vaccine, the imposition of masks, the social distancing, lockdowns and self-isolation – these policies were met with resistance only in a number of African countries, whose leaders paid with their lives. Belarus and Sweden also partly resisted.

In the summer of 2020, Klaus Schwab released his infamous book “Covid-19: The Great Reset”, a manifesto of demonic technocracy’s reorganization of the world economy, liquidation of private property, genetic modification, and total surveillance of humanity. I called this new reality at the international level “the end of classical geopolitics”.

The false pandemic has exposed the total obedience of false power centers claiming to be an alternative to the “Collective West”, there are many more indications that those economic, diplomatic and even military conflicts between states do not cancel out, but only divert public attention from the existence of a single international agenda, valid for all countries without exception. The name of this agenda has been well known since the 1992 Rio Earth Summit, which established a single development strategy for all the world’s countries. But even after three decades, many of us failed to detect this new geopolitical reality.

Since then, globalist circles have imposed the myth of climate change, the biodiversity trap, and the technocratic “Sustainable Development” diversion on all mankind. All of these initiatives have been launched against us with tsunami-like force – especially after 2020. I wrote about this common agenda for the whole of mankind in my last essay, which was published by Technocracy News.

So while Satanist forces have subordinated the whole world to them, promoting their agenda through the UN, you have to be blind or mercenary to not see that even after the beginning of the war in Ukraine, there was no change in the internal policy of the Putin administration with regards to Moscow's ongoing implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development – not to mention the massive digitization of society, total supervision and control over citizens, the elimination of cash, and the policy of implementing digital currency etc. etc.

A superficial perception of the West-East conflict places us on the side of Eastern countries. But it is important to remember that the West has become global, managing to colonize the whole world. States are currently undergoing a dramatic process of de-sovereignization, and the world's true leaders are being brought together within extraterritorial entities (Big Money, Big Tech, Big Pharma, Big Media etc.).

This is why I argue we are in a geopolitical stalemate, which only a war could help us escape from. No one wants a war, but globalists have concentrated a massive technological arsenal that could easily control all countries and every human in the world. Only a major rupture can provide a chance to destroy the current system of world domination. Everything else is propaganda for fools, and an opportunity for profiteers to make more money.

In the same essay you describe Beijing as an emerging economic and political power. But you also caution that China is “a pilot project, a model of society that would be imposed on all states.” How would you describe the “Chinese model”?

To understand the role assigned by the globalist elite to China, we need to return to Henry Kissinger's secret visit to Beijing in July 1971, followed by President Richard Nixon's official visit in February 1972.

Not coincidentally, Kissinger is known as a faithful ally of one of the most sinister characters of the 20th century, David Rockefeller. It was Rockefeller who founded the famous Club of Rome in 1968, which produced in 1972 the odious report “The Limits to Growth”. This document is the key to understanding the Malthusian strategy of depopulation, but also to understanding the deindustrialization of Western countries. With the penetration of globalists into China, a special operation of a colossal scale to destroy the economic force of the West, through the famous policy of deregulation, was launched.

The escape of capital and industries from Western countries to China and other Asian countries as a result of major transformations in economic policies have weakened the West and produced the “Chinese miracle”. Let us remember that the globalist elites have no loyalty to any state, being extraterritorial par excellence and pursuing a single strategy – world domination. The British Empire, then the American one, were used for this same purpose – and now China’s era of world triumph has arrived.

To help demonstrate how China is a geopolitical instrument in the hands of globalist “Rockefeller brand” elites, we can consult a key document: the 2010 annual report of the Rockefeller Foundation, which serves as an excellent example of predictive programming by accurately prophesizing the Covid-19 Plandemic a decade before it arrived.

This report, “Scenarios for the Future of Technology and International Development”, has a very interesting chapter, Lock Step, which has been quoted thousands of times since the beginning of Covid-19 scam (if you haven’t yet, please read pages 18-26). This report envisions, down to the smallest details, most of what we witnessed 10 years later, including the fact that the “virus” appeared in China. And the report correctly forecasted that Chinese medical tyranny (masks, lockdowns, quarantines etc.) would be hailed for its “efficiency”.

Praise from the Rockefeller criminal syndicate for China’s handling of the “medical emergency” can be described as Beijing’s apotheosis. China was and remains to this day the most important tool for ushering in global governance and the New World Order.

A few other examples of the “usefulness and the efficiency” of China’s so-called communist, but in fact technocratic, regime: Do you remember Event 201? As if by accident, the Johns Hopkins Center for Health Security – a university that has been a tool of the Rockefeller clan for the past century – in partnership with the World Economic Forum (the main entity of globalists) and the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation (the key player in vaccine mass-murder at the international level, and a main player in Big Pharma, including GAVI) hosted this high-level “pandemic exercise” on October 18, 2019, in New York. It was the last training session for the globalist demonic elite before the Covid-19 special operation. Again, as if by accident, health authorities from both the US and China were present.

And once again, purely by accident (predicted at least twice, in 2010 and in 2019) the sinister Covid-19 scam started in China. And as expected, China was praised by globalists such as Soros, Gates, and Schwab for its effectiveness in fighting the false pandemic.

One more example of China’s alleged sovereignty, and economic miracle: Recently Beijing was visited by a beloved friend of the Chinese people, Bill Gates. As Reuters reported:

Chinese President Xi Jinping called Bill Gates “an old friend” and said he hoped they could cooperate in a way that would benefit both China and the United States, in Xi’s first meeting with a foreign entrepreneur in years.

But actually, the most recent event that confirms Beijing’s main role in the globalist agenda was the WEF’s Annual Meeting of the New Champions, held on June 27-29th in Tianjin, China.

Taking into account all of the above, it is vitally important to understand the role assigned by the globalist-Satanist elite to China in the New World Order. China is the pilot project of world technocratic tyranny, which they hope to impose on absolutely all countries, under a single center of power that controls the world – most likely by 2030, as set out in the UN Agenda adopted in 2015 in Paris, which ultimately imposes the myth of climate change, the draconian idea of “sustainable development”, and puts an end to any remaining national sovereignty and personal freedoms.

Total control of each person, the end of any kind of political, economic or ideological liberty, transhumanism, digital totalitarianism, mandatory vaccination, genetic modification of all humans, and weather manipulation.

This will be a dystopian regime on an international scale, dominated by demonic forces that pretend to better organize our lives.

The humorous part of this disturbing plan with China-modeled happiness for all nations – embraced by Russia’s leadership and propagandists – is the so-called One Belt One Road project.

Could any of this be an occasion for joy for a patriot, for an intellectual familiar with the idea of economic domination as a precondition for political, cultural and civilizational domination? If China, and not the United States, is the vehicle for imposing a new global order, does this mean we should surrender our independence, our national identity, culture and traditions? Should we give up on hopes of national sovereignty, of creating regional blocs focused on common civilizational ideas with roots in the same religious tradition?

As we witness this unprecedented tragicomedy for human history, I feel sorry for those who claim that China would be a positive alternative to American and Western Hegemony, which obviously embodies one of the greatest evils the world has known. But imagine what is coming: A worldwide digital GULAG based on the Chinese model, with total surveillance, with prisons full of dissidents, with social rating scores and state terrorism – I don’t think this is a desirable alternative for a normal person who hasn’t prostituted himself to the globalists in the West, Russia or China.

In fact, it's amusing that the Kremlin seriously pretends to be Beijing's "ally". Russia could be more accurately described as China's vassal.

It is enough to simply look at trade between the two countries. We can determine Russia has escaped its role as a Western semi-colony in favor of the same kind of arrangement with China, and partly with India and Turkey.

What is the current situation in Moldova with regards to technocracy and medical tyranny introduced by the "pandemic"? Are there any mainstream or grassroots efforts to resist initiatives championed by the WHO, WEF, and other globalist organizations?

At present, the political regime in Moldova is completely controlled by the Americans, more precisely by the Soros network. Inflatable dolls without personality, without biography, without any political or administrative capacity, but loyal to Western masters. The rulers promote an aggressive policy towards Moscow, posing as a faithful ally of the Zionist regime in Kiev.

When the false pandemic was launched in 2020, the so-called socialists led by President Igor Dodon, who was the favorite of the Putin administration, were in power. And just as Putin and his regime have shown total subordination to the WHO Satanists, so has the puppet regime in Chisinau, violently imposing the same terror, including forced injections, using a medical pretext.

After the pro-Russian regime was succeeded by the pro-Western regime led by Maia Sandu, who served as president in November 2020, the same policy of medical terror was promoted under the pretext of the false pandemic. There was no difference.

In general, the entire political spectrum, from left to right, has embraced the WHO's agenda. The same homogeneity exists with the economic policies imposed through the IMF, the World Bank, the WTO, the EU etc.

Today's politicians are the irremediable captives of the liberal economic paradigm, with the myth of free trade, control over inflation, lending, customs, fiscal, and budgetary policies dictated from outside by the "Washington Consensus".

On the other hand, the political process itself does not exist. There is only dirty money, coming from either outside power centers or local mafia groups, which turn into successful media and political projects. If you have money, you are a successful "politician", if not, you are a loser.

You're quite critical of Moscow. Whose "side" are you on in the Ukraine war? Who holds ultimate responsibility for this conflict, and what is to be done?

This war is only a link in a long chain of historical events. The roots of the conflict can be traced back to the well-known obsession of the Sea Power, the thalassocracy or the Anglo-Saxons, to destroy Russia as a Land Power, as a Tellurocracy – a state whose power derives from land-based military or commercial dominance (Carl Schmitt).

This conflict is part of what is called geopolitical constants. And it doesn't matter who is in power in Russia – Tsar Nicholas II, Stalin, or Putin.

Russia's enemies have three goals:

- Spiritual – the destruction of Orthodoxy.
- Economic – taking control of Russia's vast natural resources.
- Military – to dominate Eurasia.

As Sir Halford J. Mackinder explained: "Whoever controls Eastern Europe controls the Heartland; whoever controls the Heartland rules the World Island; whoever rules the World Island rules the world".

Of course, Russia is in a defensive war, and Ukraine is used by NATO in this proxy war. But the way Putin's administration presents itself shows that Russia has a gerontocratic, inert, outdated leadership, dominated by oligarchs and massively influenced by foreign agents. By botching what could have been a successful blitzkrieg, Russia is now stuck in a protracted war that is causing colossal human sacrifice on both sides.

Power succession in Moscow through elections is impossible, a coup is undesirable, Putin and Shoigu awakening from their collective lethargy is unimaginable, and the appearance of patriotic feelings among the ruling class is very difficult to believe.

And as always throughout Russian history, all hope is with God. I know that heaven is full of Russian saints, martyrs, and heroes who pray for the salvation of Russia. I know that Russia has not entirely lost its manhood, and this war is shaping a new generation of heroes, who will also have their say in the major political changes that will follow in Russia.

I still hope for the defeat of Russia's enemies, and the triumph of the Christian and patriotic spirit – despite all the depressing developments.

A survival program from 2 points: cross and the sword

08.03.2023

An American journalist from the cohort of truth-seekers, a fighter on the metapolitical front, a deep and responsible investigator of the nightmarish realities we have been living since pLademic, the Great Reset, Metaverse, Technocracy and Transhumanism, digitization, the electronic GULAG, the war in Ukraine asked me to come up with some suggestions on his proposals for a radio dialogue we are going to have in a few days.

Here is what I answered.

Dear X, in the meantime I've been thinking about the topics you suggested that are most important, actually. Our analyses can be as deep and correct as they are, but a problem arises. What can we do with all this? How to get out of this trap? The most fruitful solutions, offered by various anti-system intellectuals, are naive and do not take reality into account. They say: wake up! But the vast majority cannot be woken up, and the System has enough weapons to mind-control and suppress any revolt. I have called this situation a paradigmatic impasse. We limit ourselves to the liberal paradigm, which has been imposed on us like a religion. We appeal to legality, constitution, rights etc. But these mechanisms of mass democracy and republicanism have been from the top down an enormous manipulation set up by those who committed regicide, marginalised religion and established the religion of money. This is an insurmountable dead end. In order to break out of the fascination, the spell, the hypnosis of liberalism, individualism, opaque anthropocentrism and horizontal interpretation of reality, and to have any chance at all that history will continue, we need to make two huge paradigmatic leaps.

Let us be aware that the state we are in today is caused by the spiritual degradation of the world, by the fall into materialism, by man's collapse into self-sufficiency, into the immanent. Denis de ROUGEMONT places as an epigraph at the beginning of his book "The Devil's Part" a quotation from an essay by Charles Baudelaire, which goes something like this: "The greatest farce Satan has presented to mankind is that he has convinced it that he does not exist". The globalist elites are not alone. They have allied themselves with Satan, which is why they dominate us. But we have been orphaned. We refuse to return to Christ. And that condemns us to total and irreparable failure. Therefore, in order to become strong and count in this battle with the Satanized globalist elites, let us put on the garments of Christ. This world has one small chance left, and that is to remember when and how it was deceived into giving up Life and allowing itself to be dominated by the forces of death. So man can only win in communion with God.

2. Let's give up the liberal illusion, electoralism, multi-partyism, all the other elements of the dominant political mythology. We cannot defeat our enemies with petitions, peaceful demonstrations and participation in elections. They have all the tools at their disposal for manipulation, domination and control. Ultimately, only political violence offers humanity a chance. The rest is misguided, naive and a direct contribution to collective suicide.

To sum up, we could call this programme in two words: THE CROSS AND THE SWORD.

Today's man between God and his monkey

08.08.2023

Initial version: 01.13.2021

I found this text through my articles of the last three years that are collected together for the forthcoming book “The Fall from Capitalism to Technocracy. Notes from a dissident under the New World Order”. I have enlarged a bit this text and I present it below in the English version.

During the 2020 we have found one of the root causes that prevents many people from understanding the essence of the Covid-19 plandemic events and the ultimate goals of this global project. This is an extremely serious spiritual and intellectual infirmity, namely the lack of a Christian perspective on life. Hence the inability to grasp with the mind the full global dimension and eschatological stakes of this operation. Hence the inability to bring together seemingly disparate components of reality, such as the global economic freeze and house arrest, the imposition of masks and forced vaccinations, the rapid development of the 5G network, the expansion of robotics and Artificial Intelligence, chipping, the suppression of cash and the cancellation of private property, depopulation and the complete digitization of the world, social and genetic engineering, Sustainable Development and climate change, forced deruralization and accelerated urbanization as a form of modern incarceration, and internet censorship.

In fact, however, without being an expert in all these areas, any man of common sense would begin to get a pretty good handle on this issue just by appealing to the Christian view. That is to say, in order to understand the Global Occult's plans to drastically reduce the planet's population, to assassinate by vaccination, by chipping, by electromagnetic bombardment and by other technological methods, and to establish total control over resources and people, the first task is to understand the spiritual, evil, demonic essence of the globalist elite.

Unfortunately, however, the majority of anti-system authors who criticize the globalist agenda label this world hyper-class as psychopaths or lunatics. But this clique is nevertheless a perfectly rational one. Those we call the masters of the game do not suffer from mental deviations, but represent the ultimate form of perversion, and this is because, as we know, the one who reverses values and overturns hierarchies is none other than “the prince of this world” (John 14:30), and the so-called globalists are nothing but his docile tools and frontmen covering the face of those behind the curtain.

Its stakes are not economic, even though the Great Reset it is carrying out is based on the concept called the New World Economic Order. The ultimate goal is to mass murder the population that has become a ballast for the masters of the world after the technological leap that allows human resources to be replaced by technical ones. And the survivors of this global holocaust are to be reduced to the condition of sub-human beings, genetically modified by vaccines and teleguided by means of Artificial Intelligence, devoid of any autonomy of thought and action.

So, Satan’s war against God and His creation is now entering a decisive, final phase. And man, each one of us, is in the very midst of this spiritual or religious war. In the conditions of this total war, man either consciously allies himself with God and therefore fights openly, through prayer and daily action, or he joins Satan, falling into his tempting snares. To evade this reality is impossible.

The fall from Christian cosmogony and anthropology into anthropocentrism (rationalism, positivism, materialism) is a form of dehumanization, a darkening of reason. Having arrived at this intellectual condition/conditioning, the vast majority of those who challenge and expose the System operate with the theoretical toolbox inoculated by it over several generations.

The experts in our camp reveal and describe with the utmost competence and civic responsibility the scientific and technical aspects of the means by which the servants of the New World Order implement our mass murder and distortion of the organic identity of human beings through the fusion of the biological, physical and technological in the Fourth Industrial Revolution prophesied by Klaus Schwab and the dark man beside him Yuval Noah Harari. The “Homo Deus” he promotes is none other than that promised by the serpent to Eve: “For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil. (Gen 3:5). Augmented man is nothing less than demonized man.

We in the anti-globalist resistance camp have on our side an impressive number of great personalities guiding our struggle of ideas with forces who covet to establish a tyrannical world government in a very short time. But we must recognize that the system of theoretical coordinates with which they operate is the one set by modern science as a substitute for the religious view of the world. That is, while we remain prisoners of a distorted, truncated and shaped optics after the patterns of Gnostic heresy, our enemies know well who they serve and who their master is. They know where their evil power and inspiration comes from, while we aspire to believe ourselves self-sufficient and self-sufficiency.

I do not separate at all from my comrades in the metapolitical struggle who are unbelievers or other religions. On the contrary, I have all the respect and I am sure that in the face of a common enemy we must consolidate our forces beyond any difference. But I feel compelled to show the vulnerability of our camp to our opponents. They chose their master, while we rejected ours.

The devil seeks to usurp the throne of the king of the world, to imitate it, to parody God. I mean, it’s his sinister cartoon. In this sense, the definition of the devil is well-known, attributed to Martin Luther: “The devil is the monkey of God, which is imitated entirely”. It’s just that the devil doesn’t have the qualities to compete with the One who created him too.

And here in the help of the enemy of mankind, obsessed with absolute power and the spirit of destroying divine creation, comes the Technique. The technique is not neutral, it is not a simple tool of man, it has a deep spiritual charge of an evil nature. This is not the technique of the man's servant, but man is the servant of the technique. A number of authors from the twentieth century, each with his own means, such as Martin Heidegger, Jaques Ellul, Aldous Huxley, George Orwell and so many others have amply demonstrated how technique becomes a means of alienating and enslaving man. In other words, science without faith has catastrophic effects. Scientism, positivism, technolatriy – all these are in fact the demonic tools of destruction, of perversion, of mutilation of divine creation.

In this way the devilish man came to believe that he was omnipotent, omniscient, all-seeing and even immortal. The work of the cunning has reached its logical end. The descending curve of the modern world is becoming more and more steep, and our rolling in the abyss of the demonized Technocracy is becoming more and more accelerated. Man-mass (but also the man-mask!) he lives as if nothing has happened, stretches out his arm to receive the life-saving vaccine and prepares with joy the foolishness of the earthly heaven offered by the Demonic Technocracy.

How do we dissidents respond to these challenges? Only through competent comments and pertinent analysis? Is that enough?

Are we still able to let ourselves be filled with the nostalgia of Paradise? Are we able to invoke the name of Jesus Christ without being afraid to affect our academic prestige? Can we still recover the mystical meaning of the Cross?

Deurbanisation or the recovery of self and freedom

08.11.2023

Initial version: 10.19.2020

The article below is written almost three years ago, but it seems to me that it is still relevant today. I selected it for my forthcoming book “The Fall from Liberalism to Technocracy. Notes from a dissident under the New World Order”.

Today I won't tackle head-on the incendiary subject that has been devastating the whole world since March this year. Those of you who have had to understand, have already figured out what is at stake in this special operation on a global scale, draped in medical pretexts. And those who have failed to accept the whole story about the so-called pandemic, I fear, may never wake up from their lethargy. I will continue to refer to the root causes, which have determined the effectiveness of the manipulation and take-over of entire peoples on a planetary scale. It is the uprooting, the rupture from the natural environment, the deruralization of the world in favor of industrialism, productivism, concentration and massification of the dispossessed and proletarianized in the new urban agglomerations. The entire economic history of the previous centuries, associated with the modern era, has not only meant the liquidation of traditional rural civilization, but also the suppression of food independence, as well as the faith and the entire axiological system of that world.

It should be noted in passing how the communist regimes, like the liberal ones in the West, succeeded in inoculating a generalized contempt for the condition of the peasant and, at the same time, an unconditional admiration for everything that has to do with the city with all its prerogative of supposedly superior civilization. The flight from the villages to the city has spread across the globe. Thus arose the phenomenon of self-hatred, of the denial of one's own social, cultural and religious identity, of the obsession with leaving the rural past in favor of an urban future. The collective mind on all continents is deeply marked by the perception of the village as inferior, backward, archaic and therefore detestable in relation to the city. "The 'religion of progress' and the fascination of the city seduce us irretrievably with the illusion of climbing a higher social ladder that provides an exaggerated 'self-esteem' and an easier life.

And so, step by step, decade by decade, from peoples with our own identity we have turned into depersonalized masses. And once we were herded together in large urban agglomerations, we became a mass of maneuver for the manipulators in the shadows, for the masters of money, for those who are currently preparing us for permanent incarceration in a global concentration camp under a technocratic tyranny.

These thoughts came to my mind while reading a book by the French philosopher Jean-Claude Michéa, "La double pensée. Retour sur la question libérale" (2008), which is a powerful critic of all the excesses of cultural, political and economic liberalism, i.e. the ideological wrapping that drapes the capitalist system. The title is inspired by George Orwell's term doublethink used in his famous novel-antiutopia "1984".

I have extracted from this volume only a few lines from a note, which I found most appropriate for the critical moment we are living. If we understood the full apocalyptic dimension of today's times and of the terrible trials that await us, we would run as fast as our legs would carry us, without looking back, from these prisons in the open air that are the cities to the villages from which we or our parents once left. So, here is the note from that book:

"This century will be the century of total over-urbanization (in the sense of total commodification, total computerization, total uprooting...). Fairs and towns have been relatively viable, humanly, historically, intellectually, as long as they depended on the villages, on the nature that surrounded them. Over-urbanization, however, tends to concentrate populations by detaching them from their previous bases (food, biological, social, historical, cultural, spiritual...) We could also call this generalized land-grabbing (...). You know that I have no magic recipes, much less precise programs, but you will agree that it is imperative that we look for and explore a few avenues (...)

To begin with, let us defend everything that has not yet been destroyed, disfigured, poisoned, eradicated... Let us think of a certain reclaiming (which will also be a fantastic adventure) starting from the local level, from its geography, from its history. The future belongs to the villages, and not to the mega-polices, nor to the sleepy villages (i.e. the suburbs to which the city dwellers retire at the end of the working day – my remark.) Reclaiming, whose inevitable corollary passes through de-urbanization, less in order to recover the cities (many of them once beautiful and emancipating) and the villages, but to reoccupy the ruined spaces and ecosystems” (p.188).

This quote is taken by our author from the article of another author named Jean-Pierre Courty.

In conclusion I invite you to consider the following. The state of affairs at global level is a disastrous one. Everything is on the verge of collapsing into a generalized and well-orchestrated chaos. The world is heading for total economic collapse, which will generate mass unemployment, famine and violence from both the forces of state terror and the criminal gangs that always appear in troubled times. A major food crisis is inevitable. And that means famine.

Our response to technocracy

08.21.2023

Three Complementary Academic Events

We live in an extremely somber historical period. The year 2020 precipitated an agenda about which only a small part of experts in the field were aware. The Covid-19 pandemic farce and “the Great Reset” served as a “historical opportunity” by the WEF accelerated the imposition of the 2030 UN Agenda for Sustainable Development, shattered the last democratic and legalistic illusions, pushing humanity into a beastly race to establish a New World Order. The world discovered with astonishment that, beyond rivalries and conflicts between countries, all states without exception follow a single common plan, imposed through the UN, WHO and other entities that serve as instruments for a single world power center. All kind of disagreements are minor compared to a single agenda that all countries follow with total obedience. I have called this new reality the end of classical geopolitics.

The “New Normal” has invaded the entire world; statesmen are imposing the same liberticidal policies everywhere, presenting total digitization as an inexorable destiny. The apostles of transhumanism preach the transcendence of the human condition, promising earthly paradise and eternal material life to the “augmented man”. We have entered the age of technocracy and transhumanism.

What are the religious and cultural origins of this form of tyranny that ends both human freedom and politics? And how could be overcome this nightmare situation?

Personalities from the academic world, authors and experts from the most diverse countries are persistently looking for answers to these challenges of unprecedented gravity in world history. Naturally, the challenges that affect all societies cause similar concerns.

Not at all surprisingly, the challenges that affect all societies cause similar concerns. Thus, by pure coincidence, three international meetings will take place in the next period, at which the fundamental aspects of the phenomenon of technocracy will be addressed. Although at the time these meetings were initiated none of the three teams knew anything about similar events planned elsewhere, thanks to the rapid flow of information in the digital age the junction occurred. The cooperation between these groups of researchers and experts will be felt both within the three events and in the future. The effect we aim for is a synergistic one, so our common voice will become much stronger worldwide.

The agony of the world between the ultimate end and a new beginning

08.23.2023

An essay from the forthcoming book

“The Fall from Capitalism to Technocracy. The notes of a dissident under the New World Order”.

The text was written for some Romanian friends concerned with identifying political solutions to the problems of today’s society.

Continuing the theme I outlined today in the two short videos in which I tried to respond to the state of bewilderment or perhaps alarm in which some of my conservative friends find themselves, I would like to sketch a few more ideas here.

The world at this historic moment is in a totally unique turmoil. It is a seemingly chaotic, spasmodic or perhaps more accurately agonistic movement. Beyond the clamorous spectacle produced by the artificial civilization of the world-city, which stubbornly tries to keep us joyfully placated, in which ‘thinking positively’ means losing the basic human ability to contemplate the world soberly, the man of today, when he finds himself disconnected from the hustle and bustle of the daily grind, falls into a state of profound anxiety.

This anxiety bordering on existential panic manifests itself as a deep hangover. It persists for a long time, because the disenchanting man has recovered from the allure induced by the histrionic spirit of the crooked puppet theatre. Disgusted by capitalism’s commandment of temptation to feel good, of cultivating a heightened vivacity that cancels out all coherent reflection, he searches for landmarks that will bring him back into harmony with the world around him.

This is where the need to return to Christian practice comes in, to restore his sense of fulfillment, to clear his outlook on life and to banish the apprehensions that have obsessively controlled him. In this way, abandoning the false normality of the world of today becomes a fait accompli. But our perception of communion with Christ is often vitiated by culture, mediated by reason and presented more as an intellectual exercise in philosophical meditation. The mind prevails over the heart, and this can neither restore us to a state of fulfillment nor peace of mind.

No matter how hard we try to return to the bed of ancestral tradition, the dark ages of Modernity gnaw at us incessantly. In order to overcome this devastating inner turmoil, we need to look at today's reality as an objective fact, to see it as it is, in all its spiritual and civilizational degradation.

The injustices that are poured upon us by venal and obtuse governments do not leave us unmoved, deeply affecting our ability to be in a state of harmony and balance with the world as God's creation. And so we rush to find political solutions to spiritual problems.

In other words, in an a-spiritual world, crushed by materiality, flattened, disconnected from the Heavens, there can be no operative political strategy and there is no chance of creating viable political organizations capable of assuming superior goals and a historical mission that would aspire to ascension to a transhistorical dimension. Between the aspiration to heavenly heights and the temptation of earthly joys, today's man prefers the option of being like everyone else and remaining in a state of irremediable collapse. The drive to transgress the mainstream paradigms is completely foreign to him.

Today's anti-civilization is quintessentially gynocratic, matriarchal, and feminist. Women's whims, vitiated by the customs of consumer society, push men towards rejecting 'being' in favor of 'having'. This is the essence of liberal capitalism. And the poison of the market society has pulverized any form of stability, permanence, constancy, loyalty.

We are versatile, circumstantial, and incapable of cultivating lasting relationships, individualism being the approximate term that captures the dissolution of the organicity and solidity of today's world. Life has become liquid (Z. Baumann), the once solid forms are liquefying, flowing, dripping into nothingness like Dali's clocks.

The deconstruction, dismantling, disintegration of today's world became a striking evidence. The gravity of this state of decay is unprecedented in history. The inversion of all values as a demonic work is triumphing under the powerless gaze of a world that has forgotten the meaning of sacrifice as a practical solution for affirming religious faith and solving major political problems.

Today's man appears as a stunted, cowardly, comfortable, domesticated being, devoid of major aspirations and superior gestures. In these circumstances, to try to build a sustainable political movement would be profoundly naive. Equally misguided would be to covet the creation of an elite group that could articulate a powerful message capable of awakening the masses from lethargy. And anyone who remains in the perverse coordinate system of mass democracy shows a total misunderstanding of how this type of society is constructed and how its mechanisms work.

Now is the time to cultivate a spirit of analysis, that springs from a state of authentic contemplation, which can only be attempted by those who have managed to connect their imagination to the pre-modern world and aspire to a civilizational leap that would overcome the historical hiatus that occurred with the disenchantment of the world and the fall into materiality.

We are at a crossroads. The end of the world and the end of this world. In both cases there is room for superior optimism. The first option, if it is somehow underway, must find us ready, on the alert, like a dutiful soldier at his post.

The second, if God allows it to happen, involves the radical destruction of today's world order. And here, without war we cannot be reborn. The Leviathan of the modern world can only be defeated by assuming the state of war as normality. The birth pangs of a new world will be painful, with blood and sacrifice, with the reappearance in history of the Man who has the sacred duty of overthrowing the Merchant and rebuilding the verticality to Heavens. In the consuming fire that will destroy today's world, the Saint and the Hero will appear in their herculean stature. Both models can only emerge in extreme conditions

Tomorrow's world cannot be a continuation of today's world. It can only be built on the ruins of today's world.

Published in Romanian version on September 25, 2022

Does BRICS threaten the globalist agenda?

08.24.2023

The BIRCS Summit in South Africa produced today, 24th August news that has already surrounded the world. In addition to Brazil, Russia, India, China and South Africa, the following countries also declared their adherence to this organization: Argentina, Egypt, Iran, the UAE, Saudi Arabia and Ethiopia. Starting from 2024, these six new countries will be affiliated with BRICS, but this is just a formality. The decision was taken and most probably some or even many countries from the former so-called Third World will join this economical organization.

“In addition, by the next meeting in 2024, the financial institutions of the member countries will draft proposals for using national currencies and common payment instruments”. – mentions the Russian news agency TASS.

Some are already prophesying the imminent end of the American empire, others are enjoying the rise of China as the undisputed leader of the new conglomerate of states. But I would like to offer a cold shower to the enthusiasts who rush to applaud the geopolitical reconfiguration of the world, the triumph of multipolarity, of sovereignty and to announce the imminence of a golden age in international relations.

Primo. The possible or perhaps imminent collapse of the American empire and the rise of China as a world leader do not necessarily mean a happier future for the peoples of the world. Let's not forget, the world is not ruled by states, but by non-state entities, transnational corporations, influence groups and secret organizations that manipulate states in favor of their private interests. As an example, I bring to your attention Henry Kissinger's two visits to China, the first, secret, on July 9, 1971, and the last on July 20, 2023. The first was succeeded by Richard Nixon's visit in February 1972, and the last was preceded by the visit of Bill Gates on June 16, 2023.

We remember well how China became an economic miracle and the factory of the world, who had to win and who to lose as a result of the economic deregulation plotted by the banksters, which have led to the deindustrialization of Western countries, the escape of companies and capital from the Western to China to the detriment of working and middle class of, but to the advantage of billionaires based in the USA and Europe.

Even the technological miracle of today's China is no stranger to the perfectly functional complicity between the smart boys from Silicon Valley and the Beijing regime. The whole history of capitalism and its expansion on a global scale has shown that the relations between an economically strong country and one "developing" nation logically leads to the economic domination of the first one over the other. That is, we are dealing with the most direct economic colonialism. In the case of BRICS countries it is not and cannot be different. So why would we applaud the liberation of countries from the American / Western yoke and their subordination to China's economic interests?

Now another important aspect. The BRICS countries have so far not shown any special political solidarity between them. Thus, for example, following Russia's military intervention in Ukraine, the UN General Assembly adopted a number of resolutions condemning this intervention. And Russia has never obtained anything more from its "partners" from BRICS than at best abstentions. That is, it is premature to talk about a political alliance, much less a military one.

Coming back to the 15th BRICS summit in Johannesburg. Vladimir Putin did not arrive at the event for fear of being arrested and sent directly to Hague. The friendship between Russia and South Africa is so strong that it cannot guarantee the Russian president even personal security on his territory. He is replaced by his brave Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov. It seems that the Russian president in general will refrain from traveling abroad. Thus, the announced visit to Turkey does not seem to take place. It is rumored that Erdogan will be the one to arrive in Moscow.

You have probably noticed the presence of the highest honorary guest at the ongoing event in Johannesburg, António Guterres, the UN Secretary General. That is, the respective conglomerate of countries gathers under the same UN umbrella. More than that. All official statements of BRICS meetings always emphasize that they remain faithful to the “UN ruling role” in international affairs. And if we know who controls the UN and what kind of policies this organization imposes on all countries, then it is easy to deduce that it is premature to express jubilation with regard of this event.

Namely, through the UN, the “2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development” is imposed on all mankind. It is from here that “the green agenda” emanates, as well as the myth of global warming, gender theory, transgenderism, feminism etc. etc. The very idea of global governance, that is, of a world government emanates precisely from this organization. So what does it matter if in a techno-scientific world tyranny the head of the concentration camp is American or Chinese?

We have not forgotten at all the nefarious role of China in the organization and unfolding of the false Covid-19 pandemic. Nor the particularly wild state terror imposed by this totalitarian regime against its own population, including compulsory mass “vaccination”. Do not forget that the Beijing official was also present at the Covid-19 special operations training exercise in October 2019 “Event 201” in New York. Nor the close relationship between Anthony Fauci and the Wuhan lab. We also took note of Bill Gates’ recent visit to Beijing on June 16, 2023.

We remind you that the UN signed a strategic partnership agreement with WEF in June 2019 (<https://www.weforum.org/press/2019/06/world-economic-forum-and-un-sign-strategic-partnership-framework/>). This document highlights:

- “The UN-Forum Partnership was signed in a meeting held at United Nations headquarters between UN Secretary-General António Guterres and World Economic Founder and Executive Chairman Klaus Schwab to accelerate the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development
- The partnership identifies six areas of focus – financing the 2030 Agenda, climate change, health, digital cooperation, gender equality and empowerment of women, education and skills – to strengthen and broaden their combined impact by building on existing and new collaborations...”

And the number one guest and dear friend of Klaus Schwab at the WEF meetings is none other than the Chinese leader Xi Jinping.

Coming back to the fantastic event in South Africa which supposedly would reshape or more precisely reset the destinies of humanity let me quote from the official statement of the UN Secretary-General António Guterres made at this meeting, quoted on the official UN website:

“As the global community moves towards multipolarity, we desperately need – and I have been vigorously advocating for – a strengthened and reformed multilateral architecture based on the UN Charter and international law.” – António Guterres, Secretary General of the United Nations, speaking at the 15th BRICS summit in Johannesburg, South Africa. (see: <https://media.un.org/en/asset/k11/k1188443xs>)

Gutteres warns the boys in BRICS to be obedient:

“Big Brother is watching you!”

The key word in this sentence is “multipolar”. And since the spokesman for the globalist forces who are rushing in every way to establish a single dystopian world government, in fact a technocratic tyranny on the scale of the whole world, we can draw one conclusion. The very idea of multipolarity is part of the general plan of the globalist elite or at least does not affect at all their efforts to establish single world governance.

By simplifying, we can reduce BRICS to the next photo gallery of accomplices in the establishment of the New World Order: Henry Kissinger, Klaus Schwab, Bill Gates, António Guterres, Antonio Fauci, Xi Jinping, Tedros Adhanom Gebreyesus (formal head of WHO). Of course, this group portrait is an incompetent one, and yet it is quite relevant to show that there is currently no state, no group of states that would oppose globalization and would be an alternative to the Great Reset, to the totalitarianism of techno-scientific, depopulation, i.e. technocracy and transhumanism. Between the collective West and BRICS, even if the rivalries are real, they are exclusively related to economic interests, the redistribution of resources and markets of the world between different interest groups. But both belligerent camps serve the same master, blindly subordinating themselves to his orders.

Beyond the smoke curtain of propaganda, we have no reason to rejoice yet. Multipolarity proves to be just a mask of globalist unipolarity. Or, if you will, as I spoke at the international conference on this subject on April 29:

“And since there is ONE COMMON AGENDA for all the countries of the world, multipolarity remains for the moment only a desirable perspective”.

BRICS summit – the last nail in the multipolarity’s coffin

08.26.2023

I have to go back to my previous article dedicated to the same event[1] – “Does BRICS threaten the globalist agenda?” – because I missed a striking detail that actually represents the key of understanding this state conglomerate seen by some as a guarantee for a bright and non-imperialist future, in which the nations will be in a continuous state of jubilation, cooperation and prosperity. Material, of course, because this paradigm is not only dominant, but the only one valid at present.

It is known that you best hide one thing when you place it in the most visible place. This is exactly what happened at that international meeting, at least for me. Thanks again to my friend Jesse Zurawell of TNT Radio, New York for warning me on this issue.

So, to understand the essence of this rather amorphous and eclectic organisation it was enough to note the name of the event in Johannesburg, South Africa, August 22–24.

“The theme of the session is “BRICS and Africa: Partnership for Mutually Accelerated Growth, Sustainable Development and Inclusive Multilateralism.” [emphasis mine]

As we see, “The 2030 UN Agenda for Sustainable Development” is the core mission of this group of countries.

This strategy of resetting the world in the interest of the globalist elite, which floated from the elaborations of the Club of Rome in the official documents of the Earth Summit in Rio de Janeiro in 1992[2], finding its continuation in another UN event that took place in the same South African city two decades ago[3]. I am quoting from the official UN website:

“The full implementation of Agenda 21, the Programme for Further Implementation of Agenda 21 and the Commitments to the Rio principles, were strongly reaffirmed at the World Summit on Sustainable Development (WSSD) held in Johannesburg, South Africa from 26 August to 4 September 2002”.

Finally, there was the UN General Assembly in 2015 which refreshed the globalist strategy of imposing a single direction on all the countries of the world, known colloquially as the 2030 UN Agenda.

All these tedious things I have invoked above are well known to an informed public. But I mention them here only to show that BRICS has not deviated one iota from the general plan of establishing the New World Order prophesied by the globalists, and in the functions of an undeclared World Government it has taken over the UN in its entirety.

So what remains of the pretention of a new architecture of international relations? What is the major geopolitical rupture achieved by the BRICS? And what can any cosmetic changes in the international system mean if the game is led by the same private globalist entities that control the UN? The rule of arithmetic teaches us that changing the place of terms does not change the result. And the same premises lead to the same results. Especially when the driving force remains the same.

It is worth remembering that the very idea of creating this conglomerate of states with the acronym BRICS did not come from within any of them, but is the work of the transnational megacorporation Goldman Sachs, one of the key players in the world of financial sharks[4]. I also note that Goldman Sachs is one of the key owners of the Fed, which understood at some point that this group of countries could represent a huge opportunity for new investments.

The very intention to launch a possible new currency that would replace the dollar in trade between BRICS countries, even if it would be a danger to American dominance, would not necessarily endanger the world plutocracy. Such a currency could be worth something if, unlike the dollar, would be convertible into gold. And the world's number one gold controller is still the Rothschild clan. World cleptocracy is par excellence stateless, and throughout the history of capitalism it has successfully migrated from Italian cities to the Netherlands, then to the United Kingdom, and after WWII to the United States. So what would make us believe that these extraterritorial entities could not with the same success towards China and other BRICS countries?

We will not insist on who instigated the two world wars and who took advantage of them. We will not even remember who was at the origin of the League of Nations after WWI, and after WWII produced the United Nations. But it is good not to miss the role of the eternal philanthropists of the Rockefeller clan in creating and supporting the UN:

“JDR Jr.’s deep interest in international relations was reflected by his many contributions to international causes. Perhaps most outstanding was his gift of $8.5 million in December 1946 for the purchase of the land for the permanent home of the United Nations in Manhattan. Previously, JDR Jr. had given the library building in Geneva to the League of Nations.”[5]

And if we know these historical truths that reshaped the world in the 20th century, why not admit that in the 21st century, while WWII in its hybrid form is underway, wouldn’t the same globalist elite do the same maneuver, preparing for UN reform? UN Secretary-General Guterres pointed out in his speech at the BRICS summit a few days ago this idea as bait for the public.

Now let’s focus a little on two terms present in the name of the BRICS summit in Johannesburg, namely “Inclusive Multilateralism”. The term “inclusive” has recently been promoted by leaders of corporate capitalism along with notions such as “public-private partnership” as an expression of the definitive subordination of states to the private interests of “money masters” who are preparing to be masters of the world.

The so-called Inclusive Capitalism Council was created on December 8, 2020[6]. He brings together all the major gangsters of Big Money, who launched themselves using Pope Francis as a brand. This pope is a faithful servant of the globalist elite, supporting both the LGBT agenda and the myth of global warming, and any other initiative of corporate capitalism. The true leaders of this international mafia who has subordinated all states and all international organizations do not even hide too much. Please applaud VIP no. 1 of this fantastic initiative to make humanity happy, madam Lynn Forester de Rothschild:

“Lynn Forester de Rothschild is a Founding and Managing Partner of Inclusive Capital Partners, which seeks positively differentiated returns by deploying its governance skills and value investment discipline to improve environmental and societal performance of the businesses in which it invests. She is also the Founder of the Coalition for Inclusive Capitalism and the Council for Inclusive Capitalism[7].”

Let’s go back to the term “Multilateralism”. I will not delve into the subject of various schools in the field of international relations; Kissinger did it for all in his time. I’m just sending you to the Wikipedia[8] page on this topic, quoting a single sentence from this source:

“International organizations, such as the United Nations (UN) and the World Trade Organization, are multilateral in nature”.

Sounds good, but is functioning badly. Those who are able to capture the big picture know that behind the persons like Guterres are the real players. And the treacherous and soft imposition of an agenda common to all states through such organizations is a verified technique of globalists.

Therefore, given the circumstances invoked above, I emphasize again that the BRICS is not an alternative to the global governance of globalists, but an integral part of it. And the existence of major rivalries and even the wars between the various groups of states does not contradict at all their common agenda drawn from above through the UN or WHO. On the contrary, these divisions and conflicts serve as an excellent smokescreen for advancing the globalist strategy.

I leave the practitioners of oneiric geopolitics or, if you will, of magical realism in international relations (term borrowed from literature) to practice in theorizing the emergence of alternative poles to the globalist system. Personally, I prefer the truth, which becomes really striking.

In conclusion, I return to the thesis set out in the title of this article. The recent BRICS summit hit the last nail in the coffin of multipolarity. The rest is just an illusion, a confusion between reality and desirable or sometimes pure propaganda.

- [1] <https://telegra.ph/Does-BRICS-threaten-the-globalist-agenda-08-24>
- [2] <https://sustainabledevelopment.un.org/outcomedocuments/agenda21>
- [3] <https://sustainabledevelopment.un.org/milestones/wssd>
- [4] <https://www.goldmansachs.com/intelligence/archive/building-better.html> <https://www.investopedia.com/terms/b/brics.asp>, <https://www.cnbc.com/video/2022/09/12/brics-how-a-goldman-sachs-acronym-became-a-strategic-economic-bloc.html>
- [5] <https://dimes.rockarch.org/agents/StJ2oY6P3jzUEnLxquKVLt>
- [6] <https://www.inclusivecapitalism.com/about/>; <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=USWLnN-jkJo>
- [7] <https://www.inclusivecapitalism.com/news-insights/lynn-forester-de-rothschild-on-launching-the-council/>
- [8] <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Multilateralism>

BRICS – a key instrument for establishing the new world order

08.29.2023

After publishing two successive articles on the BRICS Summit in Johannesburg[1], in which I showed that this conglomerate of countries does not represent an alternative to unipolar globalization, the final document[2] of this meeting fully confirms my approach. The BRICS represents a key element in the globalist strategy of implementing a global coup d'état and establishing the New World Order.

Before entering into the examination of this document, I will make a few general remarks. From the time of the emergence of this organization until today, there has been a striking discrepancy between the propaganda praising the BRICS as an alternative to the globalist international system and their official documents. While the propaganda portrayed this initiative as a major break, stemming from the will of the emerging economies to emancipate themselves from the imperial domination of the collective West, the official documents, on the contrary, unambiguously show total obedience to the agenda set by the globalists for the creation of a unipolar world order under a single command center. To find this discrepancy, it is enough to carefully go through the official documents of all the meetings of this organization.

The entire political philosophy that emanates from these texts is impregnated by the spirit of globalist neoliberalism, by the myth of free trade as its key element, by the exaltation of foreign investments in the economies of all countries, by the primacy of economics and, more broadly, by the myth of progressivism, scientism and technolatria.

So, the first observation would be that the “political elites” of those countries were mentally colonized in an irremediable way. The ideological poison of the West that has spread to the whole world has devastated any traditional value system, imposing its own paradigm as the unique, indisputable and axiomatic reference system. And the perorations of some formal leaders of these countries about the preservation of national traditions are nothing more than fakes or perhaps illusions of some provincials who are unable to grasp the big picture of the processes taking place on a global scale.

The second fundamental remark concerns the total affiliation of these countries with all the international bodies through which the globalist elite establish the New World Order: UN, IMF, WHO, WTO, The Bank of International Settlements and so on. As we have already noted, making firm and slavish commitments to implement the provisions of the UN Agenda for Sustainable Development, to blindly comply with all WHO orders related to false pandemics etc., to obey the myth of 'global warming', to implement total digitization and total control over citizens etc., all reveal a relationship of subordination to a single command center that imposes itself through these international institutions.

I recall here a well-known truth. With the launch of the deregulation process and the imposition of free trade as a mandatory norm for all states of the world, states as actors of international relations found themselves subordinated to economic entities, namely transnational corporations, which became the main actors on a global scale that shape the world according to their own private interests. Suffice it to cite here David C. Korten's book "When Corporations Rule the World" written three decades ago. And in the thirty years since the publication of this book, corporations have gained infinitely greater power, totally subordinating politics, the administration of countries and international organizations. In this sense, the BRICS countries are not an exception, but appear in the common register of countries subjected to a deep process of de-sovereignisation.

I would also specify here that the entire rhetoric of the BRICS conglomerate does not mention anything about a possible alternative development strategy. For example, not a word about rejecting unique thinking in economics. Not a word about protectionism, economic nationalism, the defense of domestic markets against the invasion of foreign capital and goods, about the proximity economy or to quote a famous author, about the splendor of a molecular economy. “Small Is Beautiful” rightly argued E.F. Schumacher[3]. And of maximum benefit to people, but not to the sharks of globalist capitalism. Do you remember this brilliant line? “It’s the economy, stupid![4]”

And because the brave leaders of the BRICS countries are not stupid, they reject any heresy that would endanger the dominated economic system and its unique religion. The vision of an Alexander Hamilton or Friedrich List is forgotten, as is the whole school of thought based on economic patriotism, also called economic sovereignty.

Globalist gigantomania with the four “core values” at its base – the free movement of goods, capital, services and people – underlies the principles of activity of BRICS countries, therefore fully contributes to the definitive disappearance of states and nations in the world’s melting pot.

And now let’s move on to examining the Final Declaration of the BRICS summit in South Africa. We reproduce here the full name of this document: “Johannesburg II Declaration. BRICS and Africa: Partnership for Mutually Accelerated Growth, Sustainable Development and Inclusive Multilateralism, Sandton, Gauteng, South Africa, 23 August 2023[5]”. We will cite excerpts from this long document without giving too many comments.

“3. We reiterate our commitment to inclusive multilateralism and upholding international law, including the purposes and principles enshrined in the Charter of the United Nations (UN) as its indispensable cornerstone, and the central role of the UN in an international system...”. So, UN is an indisputable authority for them, although it is through this organization that global governance is carried out.

“5...We also call for increasing the role and share of women from EMDCs at different levels of responsibilities in the international organizations”. Emphasizing the role of women in politics, society, business etc. it is part of the feminist ideology as a strategy to destroy the family through the masculinization of women.

“6... In this regard, we underline that they should be implemented on the level of global governance as well as at national level”. The term global governance involves the exercise of world-wide power from a single center.

“7. We support a comprehensive reform of the UN, including its Security Council, with a view to making it more democratic, representative, effective and efficient, and to increase the representation of developing countries in the Council’s memberships so that it can adequately respond to prevailing global challenges and support the legitimate aspirations of emerging and developing countries from Africa, Asia and Latin America, including Brazil, India and South Africa, to play a greater role in international affairs, in particular in the United Nations, including its Security Council”. “UN reform” is the basic bait for the leaders of those countries, who believe that this will escape the domination of former oppressors. But because it is not the states, but the private entities that determine the policy at the international level, these changes will most likely be only decorative.

“8. We reaffirm our support for the open, transparent, fair, predictable, inclusive, equitable, non-discriminatory and rules-based multilateral trading system with the World Trade Organization (WTO) at its core, with special and differential treatment (S&DT) for developing countries, including Least Developed Countries...” The acceptance of the WTO as a body regulating international trade is another proof of the subordination of these countries to the globalist strategy. Any claim to gain benefits and privileges within this organization is proof of either gross naivety or hypocrisy.

“9. We call for the need to make progress towards the achievement of a fair and market-oriented agricultural trading system...” Agriculture seen as agribusiness to conquer new markets already has its champions. Monsanto, Vanguard, Black Rock, Bill Gates, George Soros etc. they will continue to make all the land in the world their private property. And the free trade regime and WTO membership do not reward any protectionist measures at the national level.

“10. We support a robust Global Financial Safety Net with a quota-based and adequately resourced International Monetary Fund (IMF) at its center...”. Recognizing the IMF as an institution that would have a positive role for the countries of the world means completely ignoring its functions and the harmful effects faced by all the countries of the world that have accepted cooperation with it.

“13. We recognise the importance of the increased participation of women in peace processes including in conflict prevention and resolution, peacekeeping, peacebuilding, post-conflict reconstruction and development, and sustaining peace...”. Once again, “the increased participation of women” implies a decreasing participation of women in family life, i.e. the feminist inversion of the social roles belonging to men and women, which are complementary and not interchangeable.

“22. We express strong condemnation of terrorism in all its forms and manifestations whenever, wherever and by whomsoever committed. We recognize the threat emanating from terrorism, extremism conducive to terrorism and radicalization...”. Adherence to the myth of combating terrorism, imposed by the globalists after 9/11, shows the subordination of these countries to the strategy of suppressing liberties in favor of a police state. The sacrifice of freedom in favor of security is the well-known formula of this globalist maneuver.

“25. We reaffirm our commitment to strengthen international cooperation and our collaboration against corruption and continue to implement the relevant international agreements in this regard, in particular the United Nations Convention against Corruption...” “Fighting corruption” is an old globalist trick that covers the desire to totally control the privacy, transactions, money and movement of every person within a global digital prison.

“Partnership for Mutually Accelerated Growth”. Attractive slogan, but which only works to the advantage of corporations, not states. It only presupposes free trade, which is claimed to bring prosperity to nations, while only benefiting cross-border economic sharks.

“30. We reaffirm the importance of the G20 to continue playing the role of the premier multilateral forum in the field of international economic and financial cooperation that comprises both developed and emerging markets and developing countries where major economies jointly seek solutions to global challenges...” Recognizing the “leading role of the G20” means condemning all the countries of the world to an eternal state of vassalage, and promoting economic colonialism as the norm of international relations. This time it is not states but private entities that represent the world colonizers.

“31. We recognize the important role of BRICS countries working together to deal with risks and challenges to the world economy in achieving global recovery and sustainable development. We reaffirm our commitment to enhance macro-economic policy coordination, deepen economic cooperation, and work to realize strong, sustainable, balanced and inclusive economic recovery. We emphasize the importance of continued implementation of the Strategy for BRICS Economic Partnership 2025 in all relevant ministerial tracks and working groups. We will look to identify solutions for accelerating the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.[6]” Agenda 2030 is worth reading and re-reading with pencil in hand. Those who submit to it condemn their own peoples to death and slavery.

“33. We recognize the dynamism of the digital economy in enabling global economic growth. We also recognize the positive role that trade and investment can play in promoting sustainable development, national and regional industrialization, the transition towards sustainable consumption and production patterns. We recognize the challenges facing trade and investment development in the digital era and acknowledge that BRICS members are at different levels of digital development, and thus recognize the need to address respective challenges including the various digital divides...". "Digital economy" means the death of the state, of the productive economy based on industry, "surveillance capitalism", the massive use of AI, but also a huge mass of unemployed. Working people become useless under the conditions of the technological revolution. Therefore, the mass of unemployed, "useless eaters" are to be subjected to depopulation, and the survivors to be kept under control by "tittytainment", according to the recipe of Zbigniew Brzezinski.

"36. We commit to strengthening intra-BRICS cooperation to intensify the BRICS Partnership on New Industrial Revolution[7] (PartNIR) and create new opportunities for accelerating industrial development... We reiterate our commitment to continue discussion on the establishment of BCIC in cooperation with UNIDO to jointly support the development of Industry 4.0[8] skills development among the BRICS countries and to promote partnerships and increased productivity in the New Industrial Revolution. We look forward to the cooperation with UNIDO and request the PartNIR Advisory Group to coordinate with UNIDO.". This article univocally shows that BRICS countries are totally subjugated by the WEF and subject to the same "globalist technological revolution" preached by Klaus Schwab, Yuval Noah Harari and other exponents of the global elite. It means, in accordance of their explanations, "The insight "fusion of the digital, biological, and physical worlds" refers to the integration of technology, biology, and physical objects in a seamless way. This integration is made possible by the Internet of Things (IoT), artificial intelligence (AI), and other advanced technologies". Therefore, Welcome to the dystopian future! The gates of hell are open! You can enter it under the triumphal sign of BRICS.

"38. We reiterate the commitment to promote employment for sustainable development, including to develop skills to ensure resilient recovery, gender-responsive employment and social protection policies including workers' rights". Thus, everything is geared towards realizing the plans of the "unique party of globalists" for sustainable development, including gender theory as part of this strategy. We remind you that gender theory challenges the fact that people are born without any native sexual identity, male or female. It claims that we are born neutral, without any belonging to one of the two “genders”. In the acceptance of this theory gender is a social construct, which is optional one and could be a subject to infinite changes to the free will of each individual. So welcome to the Satanist universe of transgenderism[9]! You have reached this destination through the BRICS gates.

“39. We acknowledge the urgent need for tourism industry recovery and the importance of increasing mutual tourist flows and will work towards further strengthening the BRICS Alliance for Green Tourism to promote measures, which can shape a more resilient, sustainable and inclusive tourism sector”. Even this alienating attraction of today’s world, tourism, is framed in the Procrustian formula of the “green economy”, based on the myth of “global warming”, which pretexts the entire Great Reset.

“41. We agree to continue to deepen cooperation on competition amongst BRICS countries and create a fair competition market environment for international economic and trade cooperation”. Here is another point that testifies to the religion of globalist neoliberalism, without state borders, without customs barriers, which ensures the total and totalitarian dominance of corporations.

“42. We agree to enhance dialogue and cooperation on intellectual property rights through, the BRICS IPR cooperation mechanism (IP-RCM). As we celebrate a decade of cooperation of the Heads of Intellectual Property Offices, we welcome the alignment of their workplan to the Sustainable Development Goals.” The subordination of the BRICS countries to the rules of “intellectual property” condemns them to chronic underdevelopment and total dependence on the big players of corporate capitalism.

“49. We continue to support the work of the Task Force on Public-Private Partnership (PPP) and Infrastructure in sharing knowledge, good practices and lessons learnt on the effective development and delivery of infrastructure for the benefit of all member countries...” Public-Private Partnerships represent a form of subjugation of states by corporations.

“Partnership for Sustainable Development

52. We reaffirm the call for the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development in its three dimensions: economic, social and environmental, in a balanced and integrated manner by mobilizing the means required to implement the 2030 Agenda”. Once again, the BRICS states as empty shells of the extraterritorial world empire at the service of the globalists.

“53. We recognise the importance of implementing the SDGs in an integrated and holistic manner, inter alia through poverty eradication as well as combating climate change whilst promoting sustainable land use and water management, conservation of biological diversity, and the sustainable use of its components and the biodiversity and the fair and equitable sharing of the benefits arising out of the utilization of genetic resources, including by appropriate access to genetic resources...” As we know, SDG means Sustainable Development Goals, 17 in number, which are a kind of “divine commandments” of the globalist-satanic anti-religion, assumed with total obedience by the puppets from BRICS countries.

“56. We reemphasize the importance of implementing the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) and its Paris Agreement and the principle of Common but Differentiated Responsibilities and Respective Capabilities (CBDR-RC) enhancing low-cost climate technology transfer, capacity building as well as mobilizing affordable, adequate and timely delivered new additional financial resources for environmentally sustainable projects. We agree that there is a need to defend, promote and strengthen the multilateral response to Climate Change and to work together for a successful outcome of the 28th Conference of the Parties of the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC COP28).” The myth of Climate Change is fully assumed by the globalist servants within BRICS. The same story of Climate Change is exposed in very detailed form in articles 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63. No doubt, they are part of the globalist game. And we are victims of their open conspiracy.

“64. We commit to intensify our efforts towards improving our collective capacity for global pandemic prevention, preparedness, and response, and strengthening our ability to fight back any such pandemics in the future collectively. In this regard, we consider it important to continue our support to the BRICS Virtual Vaccine Research and Development Center. We look forward to the holding of the High-Level Meeting on Pandemic Prevention, Preparedness and Response to be held on 20th September 2023 at the United Nations General Assembly and we call for an outcome that will mobilize political will and continued leadership on this matter.” During the last three years we have become convinced that the sinister hoax of Covid-19 is being promoted with tyrannical measures in all BRICS countries. They remain part of the depopulation, genetic modification and total tracking of all humans. Nihil novi, we just have to open our eyes to the surrounding realities and give up illusions and self-deception. In the article 65 the same adoration of the religion of vaccinism. Despite of all the striking scientific evidence about the fatal harmfulness of fake vaccines the measure of state terrorism is imposed abusively by BRICS countries. The strategy of enslaving humanity under medical pretexts, and by following of prescriptions of WHO are played by these “rebellious” countries too.

“78. We acknowledge the critical role of women in economic development and commend the BRICS Women’s Business Alliance. We recognise that inclusive entrepreneurship and access to finance for women would facilitate their participation in business ventures, innovation, and the digital economy. We welcome initiatives that will enhance agricultural productivity and access to land, technology, and markets for women farmers”. Once again, the heritage of Rockefeller’s clan which invented and imposed the ideology of feminism represents the core value for the alliance of the BRICS demographic and territorial giants, but geopolitically dwarfs.

We could bring even more quotes from this long official document of BRICS 2023, but I think the information presented above is enough.

The conclusion is the same. BRCIS is not an alternative to unipolar globalism, but on the contrary, it is an integral part of the process of liquidating states and establishing the New World Order under a single world government in a dystopian world ruled by truly demonic forces.

To the question “What to do?” the first answer is to wake up. Let’s abandon all illusions and hopes in ephemeral and vassalized state conglomerates.

In my opinion, the solution is primarily religious. Overcoming materialistic secularism and returning to Christ. And if God allows, the revolt of nations is the only way that would avoid a fatal and rapid end for all mankind. Tomorrow’s world can only be built on the ruins of today’s world.

Chisinau forum 2023. Introductory remarks

09.12.2023

“UN Agenda 21 and The Great Reset. The Fall from Liberalism to Technocracy and Transhumanism”.

Good morning!

Dear friends, welcome to Moldova! Welcome to Chisinau Forum 2023!

Our event takes place under the title “UN Agenda 21 and The Great Reset. The Fall from Liberalism to Technocracy and Transhumanism”.

I would like to mention at the outset that our event is being broadcast live. And it is important to emphasise that today, we will have many brilliant participants from different countries and even different continents. Among us are people from academia, scientists and researchers, philosophers, experts in geopolitics and economics, in sociology, and political sciences, lawyers, authors of remarkable books, writers and journalists.

So be ready for an exceptional international event, and to listen to the crème de la crème of the international antiglobalist intellectual and metapolitical Resistance. This fascinating marathon takes place in the countryside of the Republic of Moldova, away from the noise of the capital city and the curiosity of some too vigilant international and local circles. We will have over thirty speakers. And that means a real marathon, in which we will present our ideas in about fifteen minutes.

Our meeting will be held as follows. On stage will be a succession of speakers, both of participants personally present at the Chisinau Forum and those who sent us their speeches in video format. But all of us – those present in this room and those who follow us on the internet – will have the opportunity to hear all the speeches. So, be ready to resist fatigue during this marathon, since we are the Resistance.

And now, after those housekeeping remarks, I would like to remind you that Chisinau Forum was set up in May 2017 by a group of intellectuals from various countries who oppose globalist tyranny and affirm freedom as the supreme gift and fundamental right of every human being and nation. Chisinau Forum is an international think tank concerned with geopolitical, economic, moral, cultural, and religious issues, which emerged as a reaction of active non-compliance to the globalist strategy of imposing a single world state, led by a perverse elite, which seeks to impose a mainstream ideological conformism within a dystopian regime.

After three successive and successful annual meetings of the Chisinau Forum, we had to suspend our regular activity because of the imposition of state terrorism on the pretext of a “medical emergency” in 2020. I mean, of course, the so-called Covid-19 pandemic. For three years, we have been waging a tough metapolitical and re-informational battle against the world power centre, which has manifested itself through the WHO and governments around the world that have been totally obedient to it, and hostile to their own peoples. In the meantime, we have seen that the plans for the total overturning of the sovereignty of the world’s nation states, worked up within entities such as the Club of Rome and the Trilateral Commission, have become a striking geopolitical reality.

Among all the world’s governments, only a few, mostly African, leaders – most famously Tanzanian President John Magufuli and Haitian President Jovenel Moïse – have opposed forced vaccinations. They have paid with their lives for resisting this globalist tyranny. In Europe, we have only two examples of national authorities avoiding the harsh imposition of draconian measures under medical pretexts, namely Sweden and Belarus. I called this new international reality “the end of classical geopolitics”. Since the spring of 2020, rivalries between states have been seen to be fake dichotomies or false polarities, because they are altogether secondary in comparison to the common agenda they pursue, imposed through entities such as the WHO and the UN.

The Great Reset, pushed by Klaus Schwab as a major opportunity and historical accelerator of the agenda, has become “The New Normal” in recent years.

We live in a time of major crisis. This crisis, called a polycrisis by some, is multidimensional and is artificially instrumentalized by the ruling global elite. Hot on the heels of the health crisis have followed an economic crisis, food crisis, climate crisis, cyber crisis, and finally the last blow to us is being prepared – the false alien invasion that is to be mounted under a Project Blue Beam terminal operation.

All this strategy is being pursued for the installation of the New World Order, euphemistically referred to as “global governance” in official international documents. Even the war in Ukraine seems to be part of the general plan of controlled demolition. A state of emergency is being imposed everywhere and fear is the basic means of domination and control.

The 2030 UN Agenda for Sustainable Development and the new International Pandemic Treaty and International Health Regulations prepared through the WHO hang like the sword of Damocles over humanity. The rise of the new model of totalitarianism, namely technocracy, promoted under the Hegelian formula of problem-reaction-solution, is being imposed with a speed and scale unprecedented in human history.

Against this background, Chisinau Forum concentrates its efforts upon analyzing these phenomena of huge gravity for mankind, affirming truth and freedom as supreme human values.

Unmasking globalist plans and consolidating a peaceful civil resistance is our permanent concern. Our goal is the continuous expansion of our intellectual and moral brotherhood beyond all frontiers. We respond to the present major global challenge with cross-border solidarity and cooperation. In the face of existential threat for the whole human race, we must overcome all kinds of divisions and differences and to form a Global Resistance Movement (GRM) in order to reject the total aggression of globalist demonic elites.

While having different approaches to the current international situation, as well as the causes that have generated this offensive of the world hyperclass against humanity, we remain determined to face these catastrophic situations side by side. Some of us bind their hopes to certain countries, considered to as an axis of resistance to globalism; others are persuaded that Western Modernity, the plague of plutocracy and the reign of quantity has gained the upper hand over the entire world.

Some believe that sovereign states still exist today; others argue that national independence is already a thing of the past. Some operate with strictly “objective” arguments, which fit into the liberal paradigm; others appeal to religious and even eschatological interpretation. Thus, our debate is an open one and aims at defining as well as we can the primary causes of the ongoing global coup d’état, and at identifying effective solutions to halt the destruction of the human race. In this manner, our disagreements become complementary and fruitful characteristics in our joint effort to determine the truth and to propose optimum solutions to reject this total war of the globalists against humanity.

Dear friends, as an Orthodox Christian, I would like to conclude these introductory remarks with the following words, which during Communism remained the standard reply to any greeting here in the Moldovan countryside:

“May God help us!”

Thank you for listening.

“Know your enemy” – the golden rule of the art of war in the technocratic era

09.09.2024

Dear friends,

In recent years, we have all been engaged in the fight against the sinister Covid-19 hoax and all the tyrannical measures imposed by the worldwide single command centre through puppet governments. We risked our careers and our freedom, and some of us lost their lives in this confrontation with the globalist technocratic regime. We were able extensively to investigate the hidden agenda of the shadow power which prefers to address us via its front men like António Guterres, Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, Klaus Schwab, Bill Gates or even through those who formally are our national monarchs, presidents, prime ministers, EU commissioners and the like.

But more often than focusing on individuals, our sharply argued and justified criticisms came to identify the main motivation of these private entities pulling the strings as being greed and obsession with absolute power. Yes, it is true that these fundamental sins characterize the servants of the shadow powers as no other tell-tale signs do. But we have to look deeper and to be able to identify the real nature of the masters of this sinister game.

So how can we define the nature of the driving forces behind the curtain?

We have recently been labelling globalists as psychopaths, lunatics, maniacs and even devoid of reason. In truth, however, we are dealing with perfectly rational creatures. They methodically impose their strategy, focused on depopulation, dehumanization, moral perversion, and imprisonment of the survivors of this global holocaust in the digital prison, guided as they go by some kind of superior force which exceeds our powers of schematic interpretation.

In other words, in order to arrive at a correct definition of our oppressors, we must arm ourselves with the golden rule of the art of war. And we are at war; an unannounced, cunning, perverse, but a total and devastating one. I mean the old principle enunciated by the ancient Chinese strategist Sun Tzu, “Know Your Enemy”.

In this respect, in my view, we are committing a very serious mistake when we seek to describe definitively the collective profile of forces which are operating a total aggression against humanity. Normally, we find ourselves fighting back against political figures and state dignitaries, against international bureaucrats, bankers and Big Pharma owners – and we must do that, of course. But at the same time, in my opinion, we have to understand that these figures are merely the executors of orders which come from some entity hidden behind them.

And here, I would like to apologize to my friends who have different opinions in this regard. I think we can agree maturely that on some points, we do not agree. In my view, the biggest problem our camp has today is an error of perspective. That is to say that, without returning to the primary source of evil – to the origins of scientism and technocracy – we risk limiting ourselves to a partial or fragmented interpretation of reality. We have to review the entire adventure of Modernity, starting with the nonsense of the Big Bang and the whole narrative of evolutionism.

Since the imposition of state tyranny as a current policy under “new normal” conditions, our enemies have taken off the liberal mask. And now it’s time for us to do as they already have done, and cast off the liberal illusion. Of all people, we intellectuals are most affected and infected by these deadly induced diseases engineered to deceive and dominate mankind. To abandon this reference system for some of us is a very difficult effort; it is as if you were giving up your own intimate identity.

The fatal conceptual chain materialism – evolutionism – anthropocentrism – scientism – positivism – nihilism, and the logical consequences of this chain, such as technocracy and transhumanism, must be understood in their totality. Otherwise, we will be kept as the hostages of a reductionist vision which is unable to guide us to the truth. More than that, by remaining the prisoners of the liberal paradigm induced in the collective mind by our enemies, we not only have no chance of defining correctly and profoundly the realities around us, but we even become useful idiots of the system we profess to oppose.

Our partial mindset, or truncated way of thinking, takes on the splendid forms of philosophical doctrines, sociological currents, economic schools, or political ideologies. But however they manifest themselves, false dichotomies give birth to false oppositions and keep the thinking of anti-System dissidence under enemy control. Therefore, to get out of this vicious circle, we need a huge paradigm shift.

In this respect, the WEF's malefic brain Yuval Noah Harari can be highly instructive for us. The very title of his book, which is a sort of bible of the globalists, Homo Deus, as well as his endless perorations about the fusion of man and machine and the perpetuation of the terrestrial life of man, is extremely instructive.

Do you remember this story?

But the serpent said to the woman, "You will not surely die; for God knows that when you eat from it your eyes will be opened, and you will be like God, knowing good and evil." (Genesis, chapter 3, verses 4 and 5).

Sounds familiar, doesn't it? "You will not die ... you will be like God". The distance between the biblical tempter's message and Harari's discourse is precisely zero. It's the same message, with the same purpose: to trick man and to bend him to follow a suicidal purpose.

Another quotation from the same false prophet, Harari, completes the identity profile of the forces he speaks for:

I mean, all this story about Jesus rising from the dead and being the Son of God is – this is fake news.[1]

Thus, globalists reject and deny the Resurrection of Christ and the fact that He is the Son of God. And we, the anti-globalists: what do we have to say in reply? Or maybe the poison of nihilism, of opaque and self-sufficient anthropocentrism has irreparably paralyzed even our perception of transcendental reality? If it has, we cannot oppose ourselves effectively to forces which have tricked us and are holding us in their mental jail.

So, if we are rejecting the globalist agenda, then before addressing the people with the call to “Wake up!”, we have to ask ourselves whether we, the dissidents, have been able to overcome our own state of lethargy. Once again, to remain the blind prisoner of the enemy means to serve his cause.

In recent years, very diverse individuals from our camp have named our globalist enemies as satanic forces. When we are talking about the pandemic scam, mandatory injections, climate warfare, transgenderism or pedocriminality, religious terminology is increasingly present in our alternative media. But typically, we use this notion as a metaphor, as a figure of speech. Yet my conviction is that we have to operate with such notions literally, because we are talking about evil spiritual forces, about infernal entities, about non-human beings.

I plead for the abandonment of modern rambles and the return to tradition as the only chance for humanity to survive. It is not a matter of preference, but a vital necessity. The rediscovery of the mystical truth, of metaphysics, of the transcendental dimension will lead us directly to the exact definition of our enemy. And from there to religion as a personal experience is just a step.

Our globalist enemies have made their choice. They made a pact with the devil, while we are left alone in the face of an infinitely stronger enemy. Thus, we condemn ourselves to the position of eternal and irremediable losers.

So, our enemies have made their move by allying with Satan. Are we able to acknowledge this shocking reality? And if so, are we able to seek the alliance and protection of our almighty and invincible God? Or will we prefer to cultivate our prejudices and inertia of thought and inhabit the psychological niche that creates an illusion of conceptual coherence?

Dear friends and comrades of our common struggle, this is a religious war, a total spiritual aggression against all of humanity. And if so, our reaction must be adequate. We must understand that we have not the slightest chance to survive by using only political, academic and media channels. We are in a very critical moment of history and have no time to lose by making blind gestures against absolute evil. Our defence strategy must be first of all a spiritual one. We cannot have an efficient Resistance without this way of thinking and acting.

Our enemy has poisoned all of humanity with the fallacy of the primacy of economics, with scientism and technolatriy. And this old and devastating demonic strategy requires an immediate and deep re-evaluation of our system of reference.

Satan as a concrete political embodiment has entered the world stage in his full stature, accelerating the arrival of the terminal stage of mankind. In this situation of unprecedented gravity, we must ask ourselves: Are we able to determine a radical change to this deadly trajectory? We are not able to shake off this serious self-interrogation, whether it fits our conceptual paradigm or not. I am convinced that our chance to leave behind us or status as an object of manipulation, domination and mass murder lies in the following path. We must shake off the humiliating state of being the objects of external manipulation, and become the subjects of our own destiny instead. To overcome the condition of insurmountable strategic inferiority, we have only one means. Namely, we must ally with the One who is infinitely superior to His own fallen creation.

We do not know and cannot know whether we are living the end of the world or even the end of this world. But whether we are or not, we must urgently find the source of our empowerment and even invincibility. And this source comes only from above. We must be equally ready to face both the death of capitalism through controlled demolition and even the end of history. But in either case, we must equip ourselves with spiritual tools or weapons by adopting an eschatological approach. The year of 2020 has commenced a decade that could be fatal and even terminal to all mankind. Not coincidentally, it started under a false pandemic and it unfolds under the terror of the United Nations' Agenda 2030.

The pressure of time and the urgency of identifying life-saving solutions force us to act quickly. Otherwise, tomorrow may not arrive at all. Our disruptive reality requires no less disruptive changes in our vision. This earthquake of events, with a huge impact on humanity, requires a commensurate response, one that departs from our previous perception.

And that is exactly what I want to tell you as a Christian optimist.

Thank you.

21 May 2022, YouTube,

"Covid is critical because that is why people accept total biometric surveillance".

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=e8CZuv4OO6Q>

One world government as an obvious reality

09.28.2023

The Great Reset and the End of Classical Geopolitics: How Many Power Centers are There Worldwide?

Youry Roshka, journalist, publisher, chairman of People's University, Moldova

Dear friends,

Many of us have noticed that with the outbreak of the so-called Covid-19 pandemic, a new state of affairs in international relations has come to light that may have escaped many of us until then. Namely, beyond any divergence between several countries and groups of countries, they all submit without any deviation to a single world power centre. Personally, I have called this new state of affairs “the end of classical geopolitics”.

Throughout history, we have become accustomed to watching rivalries, conflicts and wars between numerous empires and superpowers or coalitions of states. Their logic was clear to us, regardless of which ideology or which school in the international field was the basis of the interpretation of these major divergences between civilizations, power centers, tribes or peoples.

The Geographical Pivot of History by Sir Halford John Mackinder, with his theory of the Heartland, the World Island and the crucial importance of Eastern Europe for world domination; Carl Schmitt, with his theory of the conflict between Sea Power and Land Power; Zbigniew Brzezinski with The Grand Chessboard; or Alexander Dugin with his theory of Tellurocracy versus Thalassocracy, and so many others, retain their validity as complex views of history and geopolitics. But in my opinion, these theories, if they have not completely lost their relevance, need to be developed in the light of the new realities that have emerged worldwide in recent decades.

We could also describe this new picture of the world in the following way. Western modernity has triumphed everywhere, the primacy of economics and the reign of quantity have contaminated all the peoples of the world, the Sea Power of has flooded the entire surface of the Land Power with mercantile civilisation.

The post-Second World War bipolarism that dominated the world for almost half a century, balancing the two superpowers, the US and the USSR, collapsed with the disappearance of one of the poles, Soviet communism. This is where the divergence of opinion between Western strategists and those in Russia, China or BRICS as a whole comes in. While Washington insists on maintaining its status as world hegemon, these countries say they are on the way to emancipating themselves from the tutelage of the collective West and creating a “multipolar world”.

Both narratives have become dominant in their respective countries, with “the West” and its satellites riding on the universalism of the liberal-democratic model and “the Rest” claiming emancipation from Western imperial tutelage. In fact, however, as I noted in my remarks just now, the imposition of the global emergency on the pretext of health was like a cold shower for any lucid mind. People began to wonder why virtually all countries were totally subordinate to the dictates imposed through the WHO. Moreover, the “Great Reset” announced as an inexorable historical fate by Klaus Schwab actually meant a Great Awakening for humanity.

The liberticidal measures and the nightmarish “new normal”, forced vaccination and the suppression of all political, economic and social freedoms represented a major shock that has led scholars, academics, authors and investigative journalists to look deeply into the origins and ultimate goals of the major transformations that have taken place.

Thus, from the starting-point of Covid-19 as a historical accelerator for the establishment of a world regime of technocratic tyranny, researchers who have not allowed themselves to be corrupted by the dominant discourse have re-examined the recent history that made it possible to rule all the states of the world from a single center of power.

Among the various causes that have led to a hyper-centralization of power on a global scale, the following are rightly invoked.

The entire history of capitalism shows that “the economic factor” has taken over from “the political factor”. Or, in other words, usurers and merchants subordinated the decision-making act at the state level to their own economic interests, turning states into docile tools for obtaining super-profits.

The Club of Rome, as a think tank of globalists founded by the Rockefeller family in 1968, had among its major tasks the theoretical substantiation of the process of de-sovereignization of states in favor of a global governance exercised through the UN and its affiliated agencies. Several other organizations can also be cited in this regard, such as the Council on Foreign Relations, the Trilateral Commission and the Bilderberg Club, equally concerned with the exercise of power worldwide and the weakening of national states subject to a single command center.

The whole strategy of deregulation, implemented since the 1980s, has sought to establish a new world economic order in which the principle of free trade and the sacralization of the interest of large corporations have become mandatory legal norms and everyday practices throughout the world. And the WTO is an expression of these corporate interests that place states as subordinate to major private entities.

The key moment in establishing global governance, exercised under the pretext of a climate emergency, was the 1992 Earth Summit at Rio de Janeiro, which established the UN Agenda for the 21st Century. So, precisely in 1992 at Rio, the alleged problem – climate change or anthropogenic global warming – and the false solution, with claims of a universal recipe known as Sustainable Development – officially became international documentary standards within the UN system to which all the states of the world adhered.

The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, adopted by all United Nations member states in 2015, and its 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) represent the direct continuation of the Rio Summit of 1992. It should be noted that this strategy is becoming binding on all states in the world.

That is to say, the New World Order is being imposed worldwide, based on false scientific arguments, and it aims to reshape the global economy, the role of states, the rights of producers and of all citizens. These are all intended to be chained up, in the race for zero carbon footprint and to accomplish other elements of “controlled demolition”, as well as to achieve the total surveillance society.

After Klaus Schwab and his accomplice from the WEF, Thierry Malleret, published their programmatic book The Great Reset in the summer of 2020, many of us reassessed the previous book written by the head of the WEF in 2016, The Fourth Industrial Revolution. When we did so, we once again discovered that beyond any differences between states, everyone follows the line drawn by the globalist elites within the Davos Forum and other private organizations that bring together the world’s billionaires. For those of us from the ex-communist space, the comparison is self-imposed. The UN, WEF, WHO, WTO etc. – they all appear to our gaze as a kind of Central Committee of the Communist Party that imposes its directives without encountering the slightest disagreement.

When we talk about the total war of globalists against all states and peoples, about total surveillance, about 15-minute cities, about the Internet of Things (IoT), about the Internet of Bodies (IoB), about AI, about central bank digital currencies (CBDC) and all the other elements of world technocratic tyranny, any responsible researcher who is not affiliated to any interest group cannot ignore the observation that the whole world is subject to a single agenda. This single agenda is being pursued by all states, and surpasses all geographical boundaries: any political, ideological, economic, diplomatic or even military conflicts.

In conclusion, we must not be fooled by the consideration that, for example, the US is in decline while China is on the rise. Nor is it all-decisive that Russia is in a major conflict with the collective West due to the war in Ukraine. And not even the current claims that the BRICS would be an alternative to technocratic globalism are the be-all and end-all. As long as all countries of the world recognize the UN as a supreme authority and unabatedly fulfill all the freedom-killing and even genocidal policies of this organization, any claim of defending national interests or resisting the world hyperclass is unfounded and ridiculous – no matter which state or political regime it comes from.

Neocominternism as a false alternative to globalism

12.06.2023

The reason for writing this article is that I notice among us some combatants of the anti-globalist front show a perseverance worthy of nobler things to practice open and noisy propaganda in support of the Kremlin at the expense of relevant geopolitical analyses. I have no way of knowing if it's just an inertia of thinking, a psychological comfort zone or a pecuniary motivation. The motivation may differ from case to case. But I also cannot tolerate lying with claims of valid and above all honest intellectual exercises to continue its course unabated.

I have noticed for a long time and even commented on the fact that within the circles considered dissident, anti-System, anti-globalist there is a certain category of people who have replaced political analysis with exercises of adoration-veneration of the Kremlin administration. And whatever this "Putin collective" does, the indefatigable admirers of the Moscow officials are always ready to promote their policy, posing as propagandists or advocates of the Kremlin gerontocracy/xenocracy.

Their approaches do not differ at all from the editorial policy of RT or Sputnik. Worse, they place on their own blogs directly, without any comment, the official communiqués of the rulers of Russia (who are not necessarily Russian or at least pro-Russian!). As a person who grew up in the USSR and therefore know the realities of Russia well and follow the original alternative press from this country (present only on the Internet due to censorship and persecution!) I can more easily detect the confusions that dominate the minds of some otherwise valid authors than when they criticize the collective West and the globalists.

The cause of some confusion in the understanding of the nature of the power in Moscow resides in the folding on the West vs. Russia conflict formula. That is, if you are against the West, then you necessarily have to be on the side of those it faces. I mean Russia, China, BRICS. Tertium non datur. The logic is simple. Since the Americans/Westerners are the “bad guys” par excellence, it would appear that those they are fighting/confronting are from the “good guys” camp.

To understand this kind of conflicts, it would be useful to remind us of the “Karpman drama triangle” which is actually a social model of human interaction proposed by Stephen B. Karpman. In this manipulation scheme, the roles are distributed: The West is in the position of “the Persecutor”, Russia is assigned the role of “the Victim”, and the “savior” is to appear later, as a single center of world power. For now, however, the position of savior hero is generously attributed to Putin. It is a matter of the mass manipulation handbook or the alphabet of social engineering that the instrumentalization of such conflicts, in order to be successful, must leave the manipulator, at the top of the respective triangle, invisible.

In order to decipher such scenarios and avoid the ungrateful position of being a victim of manipulation, or even a propagator of globalist disinformation, we are only required to correctly identify the appropriate framework to read such situations. And, if identifying a system to decode these games on an international scale was more difficult until 2020, the fake Covid -19 pandemic caused a shock strong enough to wake up from reverie.

As I have mentioned in my other texts and interventions, I have noticed, especially since the spring of 2020, that Russia under Putin is playing the game of the globalists by the adherence of the rulers of this country to the genocidal and liberticidal directives of the WHO. The entire narrative of Satanists operating through Big Pharma and the WHO became and remains to this day a mandatory official discourse in Russia. Absolutely all draconian measures under the pretext of health: lockdowns, forced injections, etc; were imposed in Russia as well as everywhere. And Mr. V. Putin has repeatedly appeared as an advertising agent for Big Pharma, promoting mass injection and claiming that he and his daughters have been vaccinated repeatedly. And the one who led the whole “murder by injection” operation, Alexander Ginsbourg, the head of a dubious institute called “Gamaleya National Center of Epidemiology and Microbiology” received the highest state orders from Mr. Putin. Russia remains loyal to the WHO and participates in all meetings of this organization created by the Rockefeller clan in collaboration with other Satanist circles.

More seriously, critics of the genocidal policy were and are being persecuted by the rulers of Russia. Not a little dramatic is the fact that the hierarchs of the Russian Orthodox Church have once again shown a relationship of subordination to the state, which has remained unchanged since the days of the Bolsheviks. The phenomenon is called Sergianism.

The expression Sergianism, which designates a policy of unconditional loyalty to the Soviet regime practised by the leadership of the Russian Orthodox Church, and is associated with his [Patriarch Sergius] 1927 declaration, is derived from his name. (Wikipedia)[1]

As a necessary remark. The trap of total adherence to the Putin regime, into which some Western intellectuals fall, is not new. The same thing happened during the Cold War, when a lot of Western intellectuals who hated the capitalist system fell into the arms of the Soviets, presenting the USSR as an alternative to the West. Some even became members of communist parties in Europe a few decades ago or joined various Marxist, Maoist, Trotskyist etc. groups.

The situation is repeated today. Being disgusted and outraged by the globalist plutocracy and its policies in the West, some allow themselves to be seduced by the statist-Orthodox propaganda from Moscow, not understanding that in fact it is only a simulacrum, a Potemkin village[2].

The state of incantation, fascination, hypnosis exerted by the Russian colossus paralyzes any critical spirit, annihilates any trace of lucid analysis. In this this state of wide-eyed dream these intellectuals, who produce valid criticisms when referring to their own countries in Europe, become omnivorous and consume every surrogate of Moscow propaganda. Imperial Russia, the USSR, Nicholas II, Stalin, Lenin's mausoleum, the pentagrams on the Kremlin towers and on the officers' epaulettes, and Orthodoxy are perfectly integrated into this picture of the world.

I have called this kind of anti-globalist network, that sees with only one eye, hears with only one ear, and thinks with only half a brain, Neocominternists. Ultimately, it doesn't matter too much if it's about "useful idiots" (Lenin) or mercenaries aware of their mission. What matters is only the intoxication effect of the dissident media in the West who are beginning to believe the Russia-China-BRICS narrative as an alternative to globalism.

I published three articles about BRICS[3, 4, 5] a few months ago, that's why I won't stop here on this globalist construction, which excites so many naive people who hope to escape from the domination of the West. How do you explain to them that Western countries are also colonized by the same private entities or corporations that have colonized the rest of the world, including Russia and China?

I emphasize, the fact that Russia is the target country for the globalists cannot be doubted. But it was still colonized immediately after the collapse of the USSR, just like the other ex-communist countries. The structure of the economy, of political power, of the mainstream media is perfectly homologated to the Western system. The state administration is deeply penetrated by influence networks affiliated with outside power centers, deeply hostile to Russian interests. It is true that the external enemy of Russia is strong, but without its connection with the internal enemy (the fifth column) it would be less dangerous.

To understand how serious the situation in Russia is, it's enough to follow the dynamics of the war in Ukraine. Instead of achieving a quick and definitive victory, the Russian leadership bogged down in a long series of setbacks and retreats from already conquered territories, preferring trench warfare without any significant offensive. Let us hope that Moscow will manage to avoid a second Afghanistan. This is because the involvement of the USSR in the war in this country represented a trap that largely determined the dissolution of the Soviet empire.

As for Russia's cooperation with China, in short, Russia, after being isolated from the West, reoriented the supply of its own energy resources and other natural resources such as wood to this country. If I were to look at the structure of Russia's commercial exchanges, it looks like a "banana republic" with atomic weapons.

For the last few days, supporters of the Putin regime can't stop applauding his visit to Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates. Jubilation flows from the generous pens of the propagandists of globalism à la russe. Hurrah! Putin's international isolation has failed! Vivat! More and more countries want to join BRICS and resort to "de-dollarization" of their economies and trade! In fact, however, there is no occasion for rejoicing. The de-dollarization of the world in favor of subordinating all countries to a single CBDC system is not an occasion for any patriotic analyst to get excited about.

The Bretton-Woods system is outdated and disintegrating not because Russia, China and, more broadly, the East and South of the world are emancipating themselves in relation to the metropolis, but because the masters of the metropolis decided to change the world economic paradigm. The process of concentration of the world's capital and wealth is over. Classic industrial capitalism, which was succeeded by financial, speculative capitalism, is currently being reshaped in the formula "inclusive capitalism". The huge technological leap of recent years is rapidly reshaping the entire world. And here Klaus Schwab with his two books – "The Fourth Industrial Revolution" and "The Great Reset" – is as explicit as possible in this regard.

So, those who turn themselves into Kremlin sounding boards should take into account that, for example, despite the conflicts with the West, in Russia, as in all other countries, the same globalist agenda is imposed. And this is well known in our circles. It is called Agenda 21/2030. And the globalists' single command center works perfectly through the UN (which already exercises total world governance), the WHO, the Bank for International Settlements etc. Once again, the entire dystopian agenda of the globalists is being implemented with tremendous speed in all countries, and Russia or China are champions in this regard.

The elimination of cash, the digitization of the entire society, the collection of biometric data, the imposition of electronic documents, the widespread surveillance, the triumph of AI, the expansion of the recipes of 5 and 6 G technology, the suppression of all civil liberties, the adherence to the ideology of fake pandemic and vaccinism, here are the nightmarish realities behind horizontal divisions and conflicts.

In our dissident, anti-System, conservative circles it is known what the instruments are for establishing the New World Order and a World Government. Along with fake pandemics and total digitization, the key tool for the enslavement of all humanity and massive depopulation through artificial starvation, wars and mandatory vaccinations is the religion of climate change. Namely, this scientific fake, originally promoted through the globalist organization Club of Rome which then became an act adopted during the 1992 Earth summit in Rio, serves as a pretext for the destruction of the world economy, the imposition of the carbon footprint and the other components of this diabolical plan.

We all know that these very days the Climate Change Conference, or COP28 under UN umbrella, there is taking place in Dubai . And our friends from the Russian government are present there[6, 7]. While visiting the United Arab Emirates, Putin appeared happy on the occasion of this satanist sabbath:

"Today, one of the most important international ecological forums (the UN Framework Convention on Climate Change – COP28 – TASS) is being held in the UAE. The initial results of the Paris agreements are being summarized...". The Russian president emphasized that "the Russian delegation is very involved in the conference's work. We wish you success, which I have no doubt you will have". (TASS)

To conclude, we are forced to note that the old plans of the Luciferians, masked in transnational mega-corporations, in international organizations, seconded by puppet governments, continue their triumphant march throughout the world. The roles are distributed and the actors strictly follow the set script. Any deviation is punishable by death. See the cases of Yugoslavia, Iraq and Libya. Plus the series of assassinations during the fake pandemic Covid 19 of leaders of African countries and the Haitian President Jovenel Moise. Only the servants of the power of darkness remained in leadership positions.

I don't know what tomorrow will bring. We hope for a divine intervention in the course of history and a revolt of the nations. In this context I'm really sorry, but Putin and his regime are not the saviors.

History risks entering its terminal phase, but human nature does not change. Man continues to create his idols, to worship them, and sometimes to be rewarded for divinizing some nullities.

P.S.: Putin mourned the death on the 100th anniversary of the monster and war criminal Kissinger. A long and strange relationship linked these two people, the very rise of the Kremlin leader is said to be linked to it. The Russian president also sent a telegram of condolences to the widow of his spiritual patron, who was also Klaus Schwab's mentor (see <http://en.kremlin.ru/events/president/news/72875>).

Yuri Roshka

Journalist, publisher, and the chairman of the Peoples' University.

Controlled opposition and the new world order

12.19.2023

by Yuri Roshka

Yuri Roshka asks if the controlled opposition and the euphemistic opposition are the two minions of the New World Order. He urges us to avoid being useful idiots or blind fighters.

I have noticed for a long time that a number of anti-System authors and journalists from the alternative media, with all their indisputable qualities, try to avoid approaching overly penetrating subjects, out of a certain prudence or self-censorship imposed as a result of the dominant narrative that functions as a kind of Ministry of Truth or thought police. Thus, we in the anti-globalist camp accept a bed of Procrustes called “political correctness,” which, in other circumstances, we strongly criticize. We prefer practicing a euphemistic, allegorical, Aesopian, encrypted, allusive style, characteristic of the literary genre under totalitarian regimes. Nothing new under the sun. We know who’s running the show after WWII.

The recent talk show in the Info Wars studio of the legendary anti-System journalist, author, and filmmaker Alex Jones, who had as a guest another well-known alternative media journalist, Stew Peters, led me to write these lines in order to clarify some conceptual inconsistencies which an important number of authors and journalists in the anti-globalist dissidence/resistance manifest. I confess right from the start that I have great respect for the work of both participants in this discussion, who, over the years, have had a special role in exposing the occult plans and criminal actions of the globalist-Satanic elite. But within this debate, a fundamental disagreement between the two interlocutors was visibly accentuated, namely the attitude towards the most delicate, dangerous, and taboo subject – known as “the Jewish question.”

After expressing his appreciation for Alex Jones' decades-long work of exposing the globalist cabal, the younger Stew Peters went for the direct, head-on approach to the subject. He said that it is imperative to identify the source of absolute evil and to name the authors of this global conspiracy without hesitation. Otherwise, we cannot reveal the whole truth and thus leave public opinion in complete ignorance. As is normal for a true conservative Christian, he pointed out that he was referring to the Khazarian mafia, the global Zionist network, who have infiltrated and penetrated all the institutions of the American state, as well as the governments of the world states and international organizations.

Stew Peters rightly pointed out that without applying the golden rule "Know your enemy," we cannot honestly and effectively serve the truth and therefore the cause of liberty of our own nations. Without highlighting the identity of the criminal bankster cartel, the promoters of sodomy under the LGBT label, transgenderism, cultural Marxism, free-tradeism and the "no borders" policy, immigrationism and the destruction of white and Christian civilization, religion of vaccinism and climatism, technocracy and transhumanism, no fight to stop global genocide and the creation of a world government under the mask of the UN is possible.

In the context of the Gaza genocide, Stew Peters said that, in fact, Benjamin Netanyahu is the real president of the USA. And that in addition to other key sectors, the Zionists control the State Department (Antony Blinken and Victoria Nuland are only the tip of the iceberg), as well as the military-industrial complex. This Khazarian mafia operates on behalf of the American state and is guilty of murdering millions of innocent civilians around the world and invading sovereign states without the US being subjected to any threat from these states.

Alex Jones was visibly disturbed by his interlocutor's position and sought to express his disagreement; it is true, with little success. It was a real surprise to watch how an excellent and very energetic public speaker, a formidable polemicist like Alex Jones, could no longer escape the embarrassing situation of placing himself in the position of an advocate for the masters of the dominant discourse or the mandatory narrative that, moreover, he himself has disputed over the years. The verbal maneuvers of the famous journalist from infowars.com to disqualify (it's true, elegantly) his interlocutor seem to have been borrowed from the practice of some servants of the System, from CNN or BBC. Asking Stew Peters, for example, about his opinion of Adolf Hitler is to slip the allusion that anyone who opposes Khazarian mafia domination is a Nazi, fascist, racist, anti-Semite etc. It's an old ploy by Zionism to demonize anyone who tries to question the founding myths and inhumane and genocidal practices of this racist and xenophobic ideology. Poor Alex Jones kept repeating that he couldn't agree and that, in his opinion, "things are much more sophisticated."

Of course, they're sophisticated, but that doesn't invalidate Stew Peters' claims. This just reminds us once more, for example, who instrumentalized and profited from WWI and WWII, who imposed the respective myths as state ideologies in the countries colonized by this extraterritorial network, including criminal penalties for anyone who goes out from the limits of compulsory discourse. The foundational myths of the secular religion of the collective West and the "international community" as a whole are defended as the Holy Grail by the guardians of the globalist temple, but Alex Jones doesn't harmonize with them at all. Talking about Satanic clans like Rothschild, Rockefeller, Soros, Gates etc., without mentioning the fact that they are part of a homogeneous network in terms of ethnic origin and occult practices, is a sign of concession often practiced by authors who tend to avoid repression, to be able to continue their academic activities and publish their books.

We don't know if Alex Jones has a similar motivation, or maybe his relationships with these networks of influence and power are much deeper. It is certain, however, that at the present time, the global agenda of the Luciferians who control the UN and all forms of world domination is being realized at an accelerated pace under the guise of "sustainable development," which seeks to establish a digital global prison under the tyranny of technocracy, every honest and brave militant is obliged to tell the whole truth.

Of course, among the globalist elites there are also people who may have other ethnic-religious origins, but that does not nullify the fact that the basic actors behind the curtain remain the same. By the way, the tragic events in the Gaza Strip after October 7 (which classically started with a false flag operation) – the genocide of the civilian population by the Zionist entity Israel – perfectly showed which countries are totally subject to the Khazarian mafia. It is primarily the puppet states in the Euro-Atlantic area, including the former communist states. Here we can speak directly about regimes of a Khazarocratic nature. All EU countries, the USA, Canada, and puppet regimes such as the Republic of Moldova have made official declarations of solidarity with Zionist Nazism and displayed the state symbols of Israel on the main state buildings as a sign of total obedience and renunciation of their own national interests on the altar of Zionist interests.

Returning to Alex Jones' obviously embarrassing questions to Stew Peters, I should note the urgency with which he tried to get a favorable opinion from his guest about Donald Trump. But without any success. The Trumpomania so persistently promoted by Alex Jones among so many other activists of the anti-globalist front is very interesting. I personally believe that Trump was originally and remains a puppet of the globalists (to use the same euphemistic cliché).

First, because you have to be too naive or hypocritical to admit that anyone could become president of the USA (under the bogus two-party system) without first being selected and blessed by the all-powerful Israeli lobby in the USA, which controls the finances, the press, the advertising industry, the rating companies and in general the entire mechanism of domination of American society. And the fact that Trump has mentioned himself in total war with the Democrats is part of the game. Not in the sense that hostilities between pro-Trump Republicans and Democrats aren't real, but because that's the rule of the game: simulating, inciting, or tolerating conflicts between the two camps to create the illusion that one of them will be the savior of the nation.

The entire electoralist ideology and the farce with the presidential elections are meant to keep the same Zionist regime in power, which manifests itself, for example, through the mandatory alliance with Israel. To extract the essence of this reality show master and incurable megalomaniac, who is delighted with his own wealth and importance (I am talking, of course, about the savior of America and the world – Trump), I will present here only a few elements. Even if we were totally ignorant of the American electoral system and how candidates are pre-selected, let's remember some of this president's glorious deeds.

Firstly, the whole hoax with the COVID-19 pandemic and the forced injection of its own citizens started under Trump. Antony Fauci, as an exponent of Big Pharma, remained in his official position without being removed by the “savior of the nation.” It's true that Trump withdrew US funding for the WHO, but he increased GAVI (the Vaccine Alliance) funding from US public money and did not stop the terror under the pretext of guarding the health of his nation.

Secondly, despite the protests of the entire Arab world and the reluctance of all the countries of the world, Trump officially recognized Jerusalem as the capital of Israel. To be more precise, he did not decide, but he announced this decision from his position as a puppet of the Zionist circles that brought him to power and that have constantly tutored him.

Thirdly, Trump ordered (more precisely, he executed an order that he assumed politically) the assassination of an Iranian official, General Qasem Soleimani, who had arrived at the head of an international delegation in Iraq. That is, the USA, under Trump's mandate, committed this act of state terrorism in the interests of the Zionist mafia and under the clichéd pretext of “fighting terrorism.”

During the talk show, Alex Jones not only sought to compromise Stew Peters for not having a feeling of adoration towards Trump but also mentioned that Trump has a handful of sponsors behind him who are Jews. This was to suggest that whoever does not support Trump commits a double crime of opinion: 1) against the champion of the patriots, Trump, and 2) against the kleptocrats behind him who created and maintain him as a political figure. What a disgusting trick, gentlemen! Not being pro-Trump and pro-Zionist lobby should be an occasion for moral disqualification, according to Alex Jones.

And to complete Trump's heroic portrait, we also remember that his beloved daughter Ivanka got married – exclusively for love! – with the Hasidic Jew from the New York real estate mafia, Jared Kushner. Ivanka quickly converted to Judaism in a New York synagogue and became part of the most powerful and dangerous Hasidic sect, Chabad Lubavitch. And exclusively for his exceptional abilities as a statesman and American patriot, Trump's son-in-law became a senior advisor to Trump from 2017 to 2021.

So, are you still against Trump? Aha! It means that you are a traitor to American national interests and, at the same time, to Zionist interests!

Another notorious character that Alex Jones pressed to get a favorable opinion from Stew Peters is Elon Musk.

Wikipedia states the following about this major exponent of globalist technocracy:

He is the wealthiest person in the world, with an estimated net worth of US$222 billion as of December 2023, according to the Bloomberg Billionaires Index, and $244 billion according to Forbes, primarily from his ownership stakes in Tesla and SpaceX.[5][6] He is the founder, chairman, CEO, and chief technology officer of SpaceX; angel investor; CEO, product architect and former chairman of Tesla, Inc.; owner, chairman and CTO of X Corp.; founder of the Boring Company and xAI; co-founder of Neuralink and OpenAI; and president of the Musk Foundation.

So, Elon Musk became a global star thanks to his gigantic projects in the field of high technology. As if a serious man from the camp of anti-globalist militants could admire someone who launched more than 2,000 satellites (Big Brother is watching you!), produced electric cars (part of Agenda 21 for Sustainable Development and the “UN masks green,” ac-ording to Rosa Koire's brilliant formula) and promises us a hole in the head of every human to increase our intellectual capacities (welcome to the transhumanist universe!). Such a perception equal to the religious adoration of the "miracles of technology" is part of the technophilia or technomania that has massively penetrated the minds of modern man.

Elon Musk gained maximum sympathy among the anti-globalist dissidents, especially after he bought Twitter and liquidated all censorship there – as opposed to YouTube, Facebook etc. He is becoming more and more vocal in international affairs, making political statements and going on official visits to various countries. Thus, many of the combatants in the anti-globalist camp have given up and joined the fan club of Elon Musk, who poses as yet another savior of the world, especially through technology and huge amounts of money. To believe that a leading exponent of the globalist superclass has noble intentions and patriotic sentiments is to completely lose all critical spirit and capacity for analysis. Or to be his employee.

In any case, I cannot believe that this boundless admiration for Musk in the case of Alex Jones is the fruit of ignorance and naivety. We also observed the formation of a triumvirate that accumulates hundreds of millions of views on a global scale, which will probably have a special role in the upcoming US presidential election and beyond. It's about Elon Musk, Alex Jones, and former FOX NEWS political commentator Tucker Carlson. So, here are the main clerics of the Trumpist cult, who will help the public to worship that idol! Those who are full of sympathy for Tucker Carlson would do well to study his biography more closely. Here's some information about the father of the former Fox News journalist who migrated to Elon Musk's platform X (formerly Twitter), Dick Carlson[1]:

Richard Warner Carlson (born Richard Boynton; February 10, 1941) is an American journalist, diplomat and lobbyist who was the director of the Voice of America during the last six years of the Cold War. At the same time, he led Radio Marti broadcasting to Cuba, and was director of the U.S. Information Agency and the USIA Documentary Film Service.[1]

Carlson has also been a newspaper and wire service reporter, a magazine writer, a TV and radio correspondent and a documentary filmmaker. He is the father of conservative political commentator Tucker Carlson.

These impressions and observations arising from watching the show announced at the beginning of this article bring back the question of controlled or at least convenient opposition. In this context, I remembered the former chief rabbi of the Kharkov region in Ukraine, Eduard Hodos, who converted to Orthodox Christianity a few years ago and is a formidable publicist and civic activist. As the most consistent debunker of the Chabad Lubavitch sect and the nefarious role it plays in Ukraine and Russia, he, at some point, makes the following figure of speech. Everyone, he says, knows what “Russian roulette” means. It is about the presence of a single bullet in the barrel of a revolver. But there is, says Hodos, also “Jewish roulette.” This is when the barrel of the revolver is full of bullets and all of them belong to the same player. Or, in our case, it’s about the situation when the same occult group controls both sides, referees the game, and sets the final score.

In conclusion, I would like to mention that, in my opinion, the verbal duel between Alex Jones and Stew Peters was won one hundred percent by the latter. And the show is extremely instructive. Honesty and professional courage defeated the master’s experience and prudence.

P.S.: During the verbal duel between the two American journalists, Stew Peters pointed out a fundamental idea that deserves to be retained by the true fighters against the Satanic globalist tyranny. He said that in the current state of affairs (when power is usurped by criminal cartels) there are no political solutions, that is, of an electoral nature within a democratic regime. The only solution is a popular uprising, according to the American Constitution. I have emphasized the same thing over the last few years in my videos. The time of liberal illusion is in the past. Today is the time for courageous men, for whom dignity and freedom stand above life.

[1] https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Dick_Carlson

The Israel lobby in russian politics or in search of lost Khazaria

01.01.2024

The recent statement by Russian foreign minister Sergey Lavrov (<https://archive.is/XanqG>), made on December 28, aroused the most vivid reactions in the international press, but at the same time it surprised and even confused several observers of international topicality. This experienced statesman could not improvise on such an explosive subject as Israel's total war against the Palestinians in the Gaza Strip. Clearly, every sentence in this official statement has been prepared in advance with the utmost thoroughness. It cannot be the result of a spur-of-the-moment improvisation of this Russian dignitary.

I will confront the English version exhibited on the RT website with the original in Russian, published by the state-run RIA Novosti agency (<https://ria.ru/20231228/lavrov-1918732609.html>). Additionally I will make some assessments on the very nature of political power in Moscow. This is because usually the official Kremlin (Collective power) is either demonized by Western officials and mainstream media, or divinized by the alternative, antiglobalist press. I, however, propose another perspective that does not share any of the two dominant narratives.

Let's move on to the thorough analysis of the key theses of this seemingly strange statement, made by the infatigable, irremovable and monumental head of Russian diplomacy.

The title of this bomb news is as eloquent as possible: "Israel pursuing similar goals to Russia – Lavrov". Really? If so, we have to ask how long is working this similarity or goals between Russia and Israel? From "the moment Gorbachev"? From "era Yeltsin"? From "the age Putin"? Or maybe since 1917? We have to keep in mind one significant coincidence: The Balfour Declaration and the Bolshevik coup happened in the same fateful year 1917.

These kinds of questions are not easy at all and deserve a much more in-depth study. The subtitle of this statement quoted by RT is also surprising: “The fight against Nazism is what historically unites Russia and the Middle Eastern country, the foreign minister said”. In fact, if we take into account the official chronology, WWII ended in 1945, and the State of Israel appeared only in 1948. Although the symbolic charge of this figure of speech is quite remarkable. The version of subtitle in RIA Novosti is interesting too: “Lavrov: the goals of the operation in Gaza are similar to demilitarization and denazification,,

This statement continues as follows: “Israel’s declared goals of its ongoing operation against Hamas militants in Gaza seem nearly identical to Moscow’s in its campaign against the Ukrainian government, Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov has said in an interview with RIA Novosti on Thursday”. To declare that the genocide and crimes against humanity committed by the Israeli authorities in Gaza are “nearly identical” to those of the Russian SMO in Ukraine actually means recognizing that Russia commit the same kind of crimes of huge gravity against Ukrainians: mass killings of the civilian population in order to “cleaning of the territory in question by the domestic population”. That is, it is about the total discredit of the Russian military operation in Ukraine.

Basically in this way Lavrov offered Russia’s strategic opponents a formidable asset that plays at the expense of this country. And this happens precisely at the time when millions of people around the world are taking part in mass protests against the criminal atrocities committed by the Zionist regime of Netanyahu against the Palestinians. Being under the pressure of public opinion, even American leaders, Europeans and even globalist Pope Francis are forced to call on the Israeli government to end the violence. But in Russia such street demonstrations in support of the Palestinians did not take place, because in this country, the freedom of meetings is valid only when the authorities organize a political show to make their own image.

A possible interpretation of Lavrov's claims that the goals of the Zionist Netanyahu government in the Gaza Strip and those of the Russian government in Ukraine are similar or even identical could be the following. Israel expands its territory by killing the Palestinian population, just as Russia expands its territory through the SMO in Ukraine, which causes hundreds of thousands of deaths (including peaceful population!) and about 15 million refugees. The only substantial difference is that Israel is expanding its territory for its own interest, and Russia is apparently waging war in Ukraine to free up territory for the purpose of creating the so-called Israel 2.0. See in this regard the multitude of videos with Ihor Berkut this strategy (<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=AIODktrE7aw>) or Zelensky's statement directly declaring that the country he leads will become a new Israel (<https://www.aljazeera.com/news/2022/4/5/zelenskyy-says-wants-ukraine-to-become-a-big-israel>).

By the way, in order to understand the nature of power in Russia and to decipher who dominates it, it is enough to recapitulate the propaganda clichés that are used in Moscow's official discourse to characterize the regime in Kiev. These are the following: "Nazi regime", "fascist regime", "Banderovist regime", "nationalist regime" or "ukro-junta". Here is the litmus paper that brings to light the way in which the identity profile of the leadership of Ukraine is distorted. Its correct name is "Zionist regime from Kiev", moreover, for the second time. After the 2014 coup supported by the USA (a country subjugated by the Zionist networks!) the gang of "sons of Zion" led by Petro Poroshenko was brought to power, who was succeeded by the team of the same Khazarian mafia headed by finds the sinister clown Zelensky, all key positions in the state are under the control of this anti-Ukrainian, anti-Russian and anti-Orthodox group.

Lavrov's statement comes precisely when the Netanyahu regime is in a maximum crisis of image, both in the world and in front of its own citizens. In addition, such statements are flaming the entire Muslim world, they generate mistrust in the respective countries towards the authorities of Moscow. Kremlin team must choose at some point, either with Iran or with Israel. Putin will have to find it increasingly difficult to wink with one eye at Israel and the other at Iran.

“Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu has stated that the end goal of the IDF is the complete destruction of the Hamas movement in all its forms, as well as the elimination of all extremism in Gaza.

Lavrov, however, noted that these goals seem similar to “demilitarization” and “denazification,” which Moscow has been pursuing in Ukraine since it launched its offensive in February 2022”. (RT)

So, once again, state terrorism, the total destruction of localities and peaceful population committed by war criminals at the head of the Israeli government equals Russian military intervention in Ukraine. Following the logic of Lavrov’s assertions, would it appear that the International Criminal Court has rightly issued an arrest warrant for Putin and that we should expect an arrest warrant from the same court for Netanyahu? Sounds absurd, doesn’t it? We knew that Russia intervened in Ukraine being in self-defense in the face of the NATO offensive and state terrorism practiced against the civilian population of Donbass by the regime in Kiev. Lavrov’s statements, however, sparked the entire argumentative scaffolding of the Moscow authorities, assimilating Israel’s criminal, expansionist and genocidal policy against Palestine with Russia’s policy towards Ukraine.

We cannot refrain from quoting the next fragment of the political thought of the Russian diplomacy head through which he brings praise to the most monstrous political figure in the world:

“The diplomat noted the hypocrisy demonstrated by Israel’s former government under Prime Minister Yair Lapid, who condemned Russia’s military operation and accused Moscow of attacking the civilian population and annexing parts of Ukraine. “This was unfair,” said Lavrov.

At the same time, the minister pointed out that the current Israeli PM Benjamin Netanyahu – who entered his sixth term in December 2022 – has not allowed himself to make any statements regarding Russia, despite international criticism and finding himself in “a difficult situation.”

After such declarations of love and maximum appreciation to the tyrant at the head of the government of Israel, whom he detests his own population, made by a Moscow official, the Kremlin would only have to undertake another gesture of admiration and solidarity with Israel's "right cause", taking the example of Western countries. Namely, to project the Israeli flag on the buildings of the main state institutions and to keep them so until "final victory" of Israel in Gaza.

I present to you another brilliant quote from the thought of the same statesman Lavrov:

"Therefore, we need to be very careful about our common history with Israel and, above all, the history of the fight against Nazism. This is the main thing that unites us historically," Lavrov said.

Such propaganda clichés represent the mandatory elements of presentation as the absolute historical evil Nazism, but to avoid altogether the mention of Zionism which is an ideology no less criminal and therefore reprehensible than Nazism.

Therefore, in a normal country after such aberrant statements or perhaps treacherous to national interests an official of the rank of Lavrov should resign. But in Russia, this is unimaginable. For at least two reasons. First of all, because in this authoritarian country the exercise of freedom of expression by criticizing the authorities can have very serious consequences. Dissidents are of several kinds: dead, imprisoned, silenced or escaped abroad.

Putin's Godfathers

But the cause that explains Lavrov's apparently aberrant statement is not the stupidity of this dignitary. It is hidden in the very origin and nature of the current regime in Moscow. Let us not forget that Putin himself is the direct product of a powerful Israeli/Zionist lobby. Among Putin's political godparents are Henry Kissinger (who he has always venerated as his master), the Jewish oligarch Boris Berezovsky (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Boris_Berezovsky_businessman), former deputy prime minister and economic hitman no. 1 of Russia Anatoly Chubais (who had always been in important state positions until he left Putin's climate change advisor in Israel, https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anatoly_Chubais) and Sergey Kiriyenko (with his real name of Israitel), ex-PM in 1998 who destroyed the Russian economy causing the country's financial crash. Namely he promoted Putin as a head of the FSB and was nicknamed for it the man who made Putin. See: <https://www.france24.com/en/europe/20221002-sergey-kiriyenko-so-called-vice-roy-of-the-donbas-helped-launch-putin-s-career>. By the way, this Sergey Kiriyenko held important leadership positions for over 20 years under the mandate of Putin, among which the leader of the state mega-corporation "Rosatom". Currently this individual is the deputy head of the Presentational Administration and responsible for internal policy, including "the liberated territories" of Ukraine (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sergey_Kiriyenko).

Kider surprise of Russian politics

It is extremely important to know the family lineage of this Sergey Kiriyenko-Israitel. His grandfather Yakov Israitel was one of the Bolshevik commissars personally decorated by Lenin with a pistol for special merits during the "red terror". His father's name was Vladilen, which comes from the name Vladimir Lenin.

Another dark side of Sergey "Kiriyenko" is his affiliation with the American fundamentalist sect Scientology. The revelation was made by the German newspaper "Berliner Zeitung". See: https://www.compromat.ru/page_25798.htm. and <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Scientology>. The first site cited above states that "Today, Scientology is recognized as a totalitarian structure that threatens the foundations of statehood in dozens of countries around the world. Rapidly losing ground in the West, the sect undertook a real expansion into Russia in the early 90s, receiving official permission from the authorities to open its branches. Currently, training “Dianetics centers” operate in 50 Russian cities, tens of thousands of people have passed through them – scientists, police officers, military-industrial complex engineers, government officials”. (This information was published at 07.04.1998)

Another dubious organization that trained Sergey Kiriyenko is one very special school of social engineering called Methodology or methodologists.

See:

<https://meduza.io/feature/2016/10/26/schedrovitya-ne-kto-formiroval-mirovozzrenie-sergeya-kirienko>. This site shows that „Sergei Kiriyenko is a follower of the Russian philosopher Georgy Shchedrovitsky, founder of the Moscow Methodological Circle. Shchedrovitsky began his work in the late 1950s and continued it throughout the Khrushchev Thaw, Brezhnev’s stagnation and Gorbachev’s perestroika”. This is what this source reports:

„A person seemed to methodologists to be a kind of machine that can and should be programmed for certain functions. This was called “social engineering.”

And the same source further states:

“They did not hide their desire to influence the decisions of the authorities. The circle was completely open; on the other hand, the special language (the program on which he worked) was understood only by initiates – in some ways, the followers of Georgy Shchedrovitsky resembled a secret society (sometimes direct discussions about the “conceptual elite” appear in their works)”.

It seems that the founder of this organization with progressist and transformist obsessions, Georgy Shchedrovitsky, had the same ethnic origins. See below the source which specifies: “Shchedrovitsky (Shchedrovitskaya) is a toponymic surname common among Jews.”

(<https://ru.wikipedia.org/wiki/Щедровицкий>)

One more descendant of the Bolsheviks leads the presidential administration

One of Kiriyenko's closest collaborators is Anton Vaino. Since 2012, he has held the position of deputy head of the President's administration, and in 2016, Anton Vaino becomes head of the Putin Administration. Not coincidentally, Vaino and Kiriyenko were schooled within the same sect/lodge of methodologists. As political analyst Evgeny Volkov wrote in 2016, "Methodologists are totalitarian technocracy., In 2016, the opposition press in Russia wrote that the presidential administration was completely seized by the Methodologist sect and this state of affairs is still valid to this day.

Here are some biographical elements of Anton Vaino:

"Anton Vaino was born on February 17, 1972 in Tallinn, Estonian SSR, USSR.

Comes from a family of Soviet party and Russian economic leaders. Anton's great-grandfather, Heinrich (Heinrich) Vaino, one of the leaders of the Tomsk regional party committee, was an active participant in the struggle for the establishment of Soviet power in Siberia. In particular, he took part in the suppression of the uprising of the Czechoslovak Corps, as well as in the suppression of the anti-Soviet peasant uprising in the Tomsk province[2]. Heinrich's son, Karl Genrikhovich Vaino (1923-2022) was a leading party figure: in 1978-1988 he served as First Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of Estonia". See: https://ru.wikipedia.org/wiki/Вайно,_Антон_Эдуардович.

So, we see that Anton Vaino just like his comrade Kirienko comes from a Bolshevik family that established communism by imposing a totalitarian, xenocratic and anti-Russian regime.

By the way, among the key people in Putin's entourage known to be part of the same sect/lodge of methodologists is Vladislav Surkov, who until 2020 worked as an adviser to the Russian president. Russia's failures in Donbass after 2014 and other delicate issues related to this region are also related to him. He is among the most hated figures by Russian patriots. They blame him for the betrayal of the “Russian Spring” and the abandonment of Donbas, which, unlike Crimea, was refused to join Russia in 2014. And the one who took over Surkov’s responsibilities, becoming responsible for the “liberated territories” of Ukraine, is none other than the old “kinder suprise” of Russian politics Kirienko. By the way, several sources from the alternative media claim that Surkov also comes from the same “chosen people”, being one of the emblematic figures of the invisible and all-powerful Khazar Khaganate in Russia. According to a well-informed website, “He’s a Chechen on his father’s side, a Jew on his mother’s side. Or vice versa. It’s not known for sure.” (https://www.compromat.ru/page_16688.htm)

To draw a conclusion on the identity profile of Putin’s entourage, I will quote a well-known philosopher and ideologue from Moscow who told me in August 2018 with reference to this topic the following: “There are only liberals and Jews around Putin. Well, in fact, you know it’s the same thing.” I do not mention his name here, because this intellectual preferred to migrate to the loyalist camp and become one of the propagandists of Putin’s regime. It is these “neoconservatives” à la russe who control the decision-making process in Russia and the official discourse of this country.

“Putin’s wallet” as a basic political player

Another key figure in the power system in Moscow is the Jewish oligarch settled in London Roman Abramovich (https://ro.wikipedia.org/wiki/Roman_Abramovic), nicknamed “Putin’s wallet”. He always commutes between London and Moscow, having regular secret meetings with President Putin. Everyone is wondering, for example, what this guy was looking for at ALL the negotiations in recent years between Russia and Ukraine, in Belarus and in Turkey. The Russians wonder, which of the two sides did he represent, the Russians or Ukrainians? The answer is: most likely he represented the third party, the Rothschild clan, City of London. This part is always over any conflict. As a rule, it generates them and profits from them.

Another important gamer in Russian politics today is Berel Lazar (his full name is Shlomo Dov Pinchas Lazar). This rabbi was parachuted into Russia directly from the headquarters of fundamentalist sect in New York Chabad-Lubavitch (<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Chabad>) directly to Moscow in 1990, becoming an intimate friend of Putin. That is why it is nicknamed “Putin’s rabbi”. (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Berel_Lazar). About the influence of this Putin’s spiritual guide circulates a lot of legends, which find their confirmation every time. Wishing to deepen the subject could consult the books, articles and broadcasts of the writer and publicist Edurard Hodos, a former chief rabbi in the Kharkov region (https://wikispooks.com/wiki/Eduard_Hodos).

Russia’s brainwashing machine and “A Trinity of Evil”

The influence of Zionist lobbying in Russia is equally exercised over state power and the media, both instruments of domination and control being indispensable. I will quote only three emblematic names for the exercise of Zionist propaganda and control over the dominant narrative ubiquitous on Russian state television. I dubbed them “A Trinity of Evil”:

- Vladimir Solovyov (real name – Shapiro) https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Vladimir_Solovyov_\(TV_presenter\)),
- Evgeny Satanovsky (This surname sounds familiar, doesn’t it?) <https://en.atomiyme.com/satanovsky-evgeny-yanovich-biography-personal-life-creativity/>
- Yaakov Kedmi (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Yaakov_Kedmi), who is former Head of Israeli Intelligence Agency – NATIV, high-ranking military and diplomat. Born in Moscow.

Shaping public opinion, including Russian perception of the war in Ukraine, is largely the work of this very strong team. But they only represent the tip of the iceberg in the public space of Russia, where such characters are overrepresented. It is true, recently Evgeny Satanovsky was formally kicked out of television by Vladimir Soloviev. The cause was that Satanovsky said a few offensive words against Maria Zakharova, a spokeswoman for the Foreign Ministry. This lady launched some moderate criticism against Israel's military intervention in Gaza when the regime in Moscow was trying to create the illusion of solidarity with the victims of the Zionist geocide. Appearances must be kept, that's the rule of the game.

And about the colossal influence of the same strongly colored ethnic and religious network in the Russian business world should be written a whole book. The same is true in showbiz, as the cultural war against Russians is just as devastating as in other countries of the world.

Decision makers and political puppets

It is known that true political power is invisible, and we often confuse decision makers with the actors at the forefront of the political scene. Believing that Sergey Lavrov or Vladimir Putin are ruling Russia is as naive as believing that Biden is running the United States, Macron is running France, and Trudeau is running Canada. It seems incredible to many antiglobalist dissidents from the West who are traditionally trapped by the official Kremlin proganda. But here we are dealing only with an error of perspective, many political analysts in the alternative media don't apply the same reading grid to Russia that they use to examine Western politics.

Unfortunately, the formula often repeated by the famous Russian economist Valentin Katasonov to define the nature of the current Kremlin power. He calls it "occupation administration". That is, people who occupy key functions in the state are manipulated by some power centers from abroad and by the networks of influence from within, which we usually call "the fifth column". This "unseen hand" of power is equally felt in the economic policy of the country and in the strange manner in which SMO is carried out in Ukraine.

P.S.: The American professors John Mearsheimer and Stephen M. Walt published the famous book in 2007 “The Israel Lobby and U.S. Foreign Policy” I think the time has come to appear a solid academic paper bearing a similar title: “The Israel Lobby in the politics of Russia”. Such work would be much broader and more complex than this modest article, which is, which, however, could serve as a suggestion for researchers who would lean on such work.

P.P.S.: The author of these lines makes a clear distinction between today’s Russian state and the Russian people. He clearly distinguishes the violent conflict that exists between the oppressive state, which disregards national interests, and the oppressed people who suffer the consequences of this regime. My perspective is conservative, Orthodox and nationalist. That is why I cannot ignore the fact that the Kremlin administration is terrorizing its own people through totalitarian measures such as those applied with a sanitary pretext (Covid-19) or by building a digital GULAG under the baton globalists (UN Agenda 2030 for Sustainable Development). The Moscow administration keeps up with the “civilized world” including by imposing insects as a food for humans. See: <https://ria.ru/20210322/nasekomye-1602249478.html>; <https://ria.ru/20231229/produkty-1918897275.html>.

And then what’s the difference between “Collective West” and Russia. The only substantial distinction is official rhetoric. But the same occult circles lead the show in both areas of globalist control.

The art of war under Putin: foreign mercenaries paid handsomely and given russian citizenship

01.06.2024

A seemingly strange decree was signed by the Russian president on January 4. See <https://tass.com/politics/1729173>. State news agency TASS headlines:

“Putin inks decree on granting citizenship to foreigners under a contract with the Russian military. According to the decree, their relatives will also get the right to apply for Russian citizenship”.

“MOSCOW, January 4. /TASS/. Foreign nationals who concluded a contract with Russia’s Armed Forces during the special military operation will be able to apply for Russian citizenship, according to a decree by Russian President Vladimir Putin published on the official portal of legal information.

According to the document, those foreigners who left service during the special military operation for health reasons, upon reaching the age limit or following the lifting of the martial law are also eligible.

According to the decree, their relatives will also obtain the right to apply for Russian citizenship.”

See full version of this decree: <http://publication.pravo.gov.ru/document/0001202401040001?index=1>.

Since the beginning of the special military operation in Ukraine, the Putin administration has been hesitant to resort to massive citizen mobilizations to ensure a swift and decisive victory. The Russian economy was not put on a war footing, either. And this is because in this country the economic factor has subjugated the political factor, and sharks in the private sector totally influence the decision-making process. Putin's vague goals – demilitarization and denazification – have remained abstractions throughout nearly two years of war. Russian patriots object to Putin's administration that Russian society has not been mobilised on a war basis. Thus, at present there are two Russias: one that spills its blood on the battlefields of Ukraine, and another that continues its peaceful lifestyle, having regular public holidays, going to concerts, at restaurants and on vacation, celebrating and having fun. It's a kind of Feast in Time of Plague, to use the phrase of Alexander Pushkin.

Although from the beginning of the Russian military intervention in Ukraine, and with a great delay, a partial mobilization was carried out, several sources note that although the Ukrainian side has lost a much larger number of troops, it still manages to maintain numerical superiority over the Russians. And this is while Russia has a population exceeding the population of Ukraine by about 120 million and an infinitely stronger military potential, even though the West has financially and technically supported Kiev.

What might be the cause of this reluctance on the part of the Russian leadership to wage a quick war, effective and with minimal human sacrifices in Ukraine and save the Russians in this country from the genocide organized by the Zionist regime in Kiev? First of all, because the very nature of political power in Russia can be optimally characterized by the term kakistocracy, which means "a government run by the worst, least qualified, or most unscrupulous citizens". In this sense, Russia is no different from the governance models of the West, where private entities, financial influence groups, occult and/or Freemasonry-affiliated circles install docile puppets in key state-level positions, resorted to the most incapable, more corrupt and characterless elements. And the conflict between the collective West and political power in Russia is not one determined by the sharing of different values, but by the desire to squeeze the natural resources of this country. The kleptocracy in Russia has no reason to capitulate to the Western plutocracy; hence, the conflict is between the two gangster camps. All the rest is propaganda and mass manipulation.

The strange nature of this SMO, in which Russia has engaged since February 24, 2022, is evident not only from the lack of political will to achieve a victory in a total blitzkrieg. The preferred method of “Russian strategists” is reduced to the use of infantry and artillery, to retreat from strategic redoubts without any military necessity (see the retreat from the regions of Kiev and Sumy, Kharkov and Kherson), and to remain in an endless defensive position against the onslaught of enemy forces. It is amazing to watch the chronicles from the Ukrainian front, announced in a triumphalist tone by the propaganda from the Kremlin, whenever a modest advance at the level of a village or a neighborhood of a small town without any tactical importance is achieved. In reality, the human sacrifices for such frontal attacks are catastrophic for both sides.

The shock force at the front line is not the men mobilized in the Russian army, but the volunteers who fight for money. Sure, many of them are patriotically motivated and fighting for a noble cause. At any rate, the primary motivation seems to be financial. But let’s not forget the strange experience of the private military company Wagner, led by the billionaire and former criminal Yevgeny Prigozhin (who, as is known, was killed after his unsuccessful march to Moscow). He recruited his mercenaries directly from prisons, preferring criminals convicted of the most serious crimes, serial murders, rapes, robberies etc. These “gentlemen of fortune” were not only remunerated with substantial wages, but also were/are absolved of any conviction after only six months of service in such military groups.

And now, as we see, Putin’s invitation for adventurers and insane men from all over the world to come to Russia to become mercenaries in the SMO and kill Ukrainians for some significant sums of money is something even stranger. “Brave soldiers” adept at slaying everything in their path are also being lured with the prospect of obtaining Russian citizenship on a simplified fast track, not just for themselves but also for their wives and children. Moreover, just as it is not too complicated to guess the moral profile of individuals from any corner of the world who are willing to participate in a military operation in a foreign country for money, it is not difficult to imagine the atrocities that they are capable of committing against every human being in Ukraine: children, women, and the elderly. And robbery is the mercenary's all-time favourite predilection.

Now let's make an effort and imagine what a "hero of the Russo-Ukrainian fratricidal war" will do after he finishes his combat mission and returns to Russia to enjoy all the rights of a citizen of that state. Will such a character get a job as a factory worker or a doorman at a supermarket? The habit of making money with gun in hand, through violence, cannot be erased so easily. Therefore, knowingly or not, through such generous offers to grant citizenship to professional killers, the authorities of the Russian Federation are directly fostering the criminalization of society.

And all this is happening against the background of a very worrying criminalization of Russian cities, caused by the massive invasion of the Islamic populations of the Caucasus and Central Asia, who have organized themselves on the basis of ethnicity into groups of gangsters, rapists and robbers who operate not only in Moscow or St Petersburg but also in many other cities, even in Siberia. Alternative media channels report daily on the crimes perpetrated by these gangs. The situation has also taken on tragicomic overtones: namely, that "patriotic circles" are up in arms that these new citizens of Russia, purloined from the former Muslim Soviet republics, are not being sufficiently recruited to turn up as "volunteers" on the Ukrainian front. Here is another category consisting of millions of invaders who are seen as potential elite fighters on the patriotic front of the Ukraine war.

Until now, no official information has been made public about how many foreign mercenaries have arrived on the Ukrainian front, which countries they are from, or how courageous they are in battle. For the time being, only one thing is certain. The massive carnage in Ukraine, which continues the process of depopulation by killing and the making of refugees, is proceeding with maximum success. Is all this in the interest of Russia or its enemies? And don't the rumours about the creation of an Israel 2.0 in the “liberated territories” need to be examined more carefully[1]?

What is more, all this is happening in the context of ritualistic statements incessantly made by Putin and Lavrov to the effect that Moscow is ready to sit down at the negotiating table with the “Ukrainian side” (more precisely, the American side). Meanwhile, the four regions attached to the territory of Russia following referendums held under the permanent bombardment of enemies – ratified by the Duma and promulgated by the decree of President Putin – namely Donetsk, Luhansk, Kherson and Zaporizhia, are not totally controlled by the Russian armed forces even to this day.

On the contrary, any locality that comes under the control of the Russian military is festooned with red flags alongside the official tricolor, the streets are given back their former communist names, and public money is used to inaugurate some monuments to the “leader of the world proletariat”, Vladimir Ilyich Lenin.

The story has become known of the old woman who confused the Ukrainian military with the Russians, coming out to meet them with the red flag in her hands and becoming the symbol of the liberation of Ukraine through recommunization.

The monument to these elderly women was inaugurated personally by the deputy head of the Russian presidential administration, Sergei Kiriyenko (real name: Israitel), responsible for internal policy and the “liberated territories”. Billboards and graffiti of the heroic figure of the fearless old woman appeared in several cities in Russia.

It would seem that nothing is more counterproductive for Russia than the attempted recommunization of Ukraine. But that is the very strategy imposed by the descendants of the Bolsheviks in the Putin administration (Anton Vaino, the head of the presidential administration and his legendary deputy!), who are guided from the shadows by the “cabal of Soviet sages”[2], those guardians of the old regime who watch over the relics of communism.

Those who believe that such aspects are merely by the by in the current Russian situation should be reminded of the symbol of a completely peerless evil spiritual significance: Lenin's mausoleum, the corpse of that monster responsible for the genocide of the Russian people. It continues to exert its demonic effect on the collective mind, chained under the spell of anti-Christian communism. To the question, "Why is Lenin's mummy still in the Lenin Mausoleum?", there can only be one answer. It is because Russia is still under the control of the same forces that massacred and enslaved its people for over seventy years.

Two more examples in this regard will show the moral and ideological essence of today's Russian leaders. The national anthem of Putin's Russia is the same as the one introduced under Stalin. It kept the same melody, and the author of both texts of the anthem – the one written for Stalin and the other for Putin – respectively is Sergey Mikhalkov, the father of the famous Russian film maker Nikita Mikhalkov, a fervent loyalist of the regime. No less significant is the presence of red pentagrams atop the Kremlin towers, which harmoniously combine with the double-headed imperial eagle. This is precisely why Putinism as a state ideology is defined as neo-Sovietism. And this represents the very essence of the current regime, which has turned into a kind of social monstrosity dominated by the profiteers of crony capitalism akin to those in the banana republics.

A healthy society cannot be built on rotten foundations. A new Russia cannot base its own rationale on Lenin's embalmed body, the red flag and the venal and rapacious cabal around Putin. The very amendment of the Constitution and the announcement of Putin's candidacy for another term as head of state delegitimizes this administration and lamentably reveals its obsession with the eternal usurpation of state power. This is how the reluctance of Russian state power to mobilize society for a decisive victory in Ukraine can be explained, its number one priority being keeping the population in a state of lethargy and nonchalance in order to obtain another presidential mandate fraudulently.

And in the meantime, Putin, through his decree of 4 January 2024, announces to all the criminal and unscrupulous elements in the world, “We are waiting for you with open arms in Russia! We will give you money to kill Ukrainians with maximum efficiency, and Russian citizenship, so that you can operate with the same methods as war heroes and honourable citizens in your new Motherland!”

Youry Roshka is a conservative journalist from the Republic of Moldova, who in the past was an anti-communist dissident, party leader, MP and deputy prime minister, who is now an anti-globalist author with strong Christian and nationalist convictions.

- [1] On this, see my previous article: <https://telegra.ph/The-Israel-Lobby-in-Russian-politics-or-In-Search-of-Lost-Khazaria-01-01>.
- [2] I borrowed this formula from the Russian writer in exile Grigory Kimov, who wrote, among other books, Protocols of the Soviet Sages and The Red Kabbalah.

A telegraphic exposition of modern history

01.09.2024

A Brief History of Capitalism: industrial capitalism – financial capitalism – corporate capitalism – surveillance capitalism – inclusive capitalism – the end of capitalism in technocratic era.

The long way from the sacralization of private property to its annihilation is accomplished through the 2030 Agenda: “You will have nothing and will be happy” (WEF).

The reification of human being during the classical capitalism, which transforms him in “labor force” is not anymore available in new historical and technological conditions. In the age of machine, robotics and IA former workers are not an economic category, but just “useless eater” who must be annihilated through vast and multidimensional depopulation strategy.

The descending steps of the history of capitalism:
the verb TO HAVE defeated the verb TO BE.

Unrestricted warfare: a holistic approach to the great reset

01.14.2024

Chisinau Forum 2024

“UNRESTRICTED WARFARE: A Holistic Approach to the Great Reset”

Dear friends, last year the international team of Chişinău Forum – which brings together many intellectuals, authors, scholars, experts and journalists from different countries who are strongly engaged in the struggle against world tyranny of a malign globalist elite – did excellent work. Our main event, which was held from 9 to 10 September, was Chişinău Forum 2023, with the title “UN Agenda 21 and The Great Reset: The Fall from Liberalism to Technocracy and Transhumanism”. We had 33 speakers who brilliantly contributed by their speeches to analyzing and dismantling globalist strategies to destroy and subjugate humanity. (See: <https://rumble.com/user/Chişinăuforum?page=2>; <https://odysee.com/@Chişinăuforum:5>)

We spread this event over four months by publishing regularly, twice a week, the speeches of each participant in turn, in both video and text version. In addition, the speeches of our participants have been translated into a number of languages – German, French, Italian, Portuguese, Spanish, Russian, Greek, Romanian etc. – as well as being published on multiple alternative media platforms. As that campaign of dissemination progressed, we managed to place the speeches on various media resources and massively distribute the articles and videos of our comrades, and gave multiple interviews, all these activities lending special relevance and remarkable visibility to our metapolitical project promoted through the international think tank Chişinău Forum.

Now is the time to prepare for our next international meeting. The theme announced in the title of this memorandum could also be formulated thus: Unrestricted warfare as the multidimensional strategy of a Luciferian élite for full-spectrum domination of the world.

State of war as permanent reality

The total assault of the shadow power, which had already been going on for many years, gained a great acceleration in 2020. That was the launch year of a special operation called “the Covid-19 pandemic” which aimed at the mass extermination of the world’s population and genetic modification, as well as impoverishment and subjugation of the survivors.

This state of alert, prompted by an event of unprecedented severity in history, requires a complex, exhaustive and deep analysis, because the very survival of the human species is at stake. The urgent need for an adequate examination of the state of the world today also calls us to formulate solutions that would offer us a chance of avoiding a rapid and irremediable terminal catastrophe.

So, we are in a state of war. The aggressor does not represent a state or a group of states, but constitutes a vast network of private, supranational entities, guided not only by a thirst for absolute power and the establishment of a world tyranny but primarily by deeply spiritual motives of an evil nature. The targets of these forces are all the nations of the world, all human beings, the rivalries between them being simply part of the strategy of domination.

Among the key characteristics that distinguish today’s state of war from classical ones is that it is undeclared, having no such legitimate actors as two belligerent parties represented by states. The enemy is covert, subversive in nature, and attacks its victims with a gamut of unconventional weapons which are not perceived by the target nations as acts of military hostility. In such a case, the golden rule of The Art of War by Sun Tzu is brought to perfection: “Through you we learn to be invisible, through you inaudible; and hence we can hold the enemy’s fate in our hands.” The tactics of dissimulation, and the applying of a veneer of scientific respectability and of supposed moral responsibility for the fate of the world, make the masters of this deadly game virtually invulnerable.

At the crux of the massive force of world influence lies the economic, technological, media and cultural-cognitive power that annihilates any capacity for complex understanding and effective resistance on the part of states and nations. The enemy of mankind is extremely sophisticated, perfectly equipped with an enormous number of instruments, and capable of playing a fateful game for the whole world, while keeping up its show of innocence and good intentions.

The mask of respectability on the face of “international institutions”

The enemies of humanity operate through international organizations perceived as neutral and beneficial to states and peoples, such as the UN, WHO, IMF, World Bank, Bank for International Settlements (BIS), WTO, WHO, GAVI, UNESCO, UNICEF, EU, NATO etc. And as accomplices of this enormous “open conspiracy” appear the governments of the world’s states that have become the puppets of these occult forces: political régimes that contribute to the genocide of the peoples they govern.

The overwhelming influence, on a world and national scale, of that real power archipelago is disseminated and exercised through a myriad of secret or semi-secret societies such as Freemasonry, the Royal Institute of International Affairs (Chatham House), the Tavistock Institute, the Council on Foreign Relations, the Club of Rome, the Bilderberg Group, the Trilateral Commission, the World Economic Forum etc.

Non-military wars as strategy of domination

Among the enormous array of non-military wars waged by these demonic élites are the following:

- Religious war
- Civilizational war
- Economic war
- Cognitive war
- Cultural war
- Ideological war
- Psychological war
- Media war
- Biological war
- Genetic war
- Racial war
- Immigratory war
- Geophysical war
- Climate war
- Cyber war
- Electromagnetic war
- Demographic war
- Feminist war
- Gender war
- Transgender war
- Intergenerational war etc.

In parallel, hot wars are being instigated, such as those in Ukraine and the Gaza Strip, intended to contribute to the “controlled demolition” of the world economy, to the disaggregation of the functional capacity of states, and to the resetting of the world on the basis of a New World Order.

As the final blow to annihilate states and human freedom, the satanic élites have been priming us for decades for an “interplanetary war” arising from an “extraterrestrial invasion” and the Myth of UFOs, to fulfil the Blue Beam Project, which will appear as the terminal phase of triumph of the NWO.

Thus, we are forced by circumstances to live in an ongoing apocalypse that we often perceive as the “new normal”.

A unique strategy masked by regional rivalries

UN Agenda 2030 for Sustainable Development with its 17 goals is imposed upon every nation and expresses the reality of global governance: an agenda which pushes the plan of mass extermination and ultimate subjugation, without resistance being put up by any country. Moreover, as long as no country in the world announces its desire to leave this umbrella organization of shadow power (the UN), the World Government will function just as unabatedly without even formalizing its existence.

For the year 2024, the signing of a so-called WHO Pandemic Treaty has been announced, which would definitively establish global tyranny under the pretext of health and definitively eradicate any trace of national and personal sovereignty.

In parallel, a new dystopian reality is expanding over the entire world, manifesting itself as the pinnacle of science and technology promising to usher in eternal paradise. The era of digitization, universal surveillance, the destruction of fundamental freedoms – under the pretext of medical, climate or cyber emergencies – manifests itself with irresistible force. Central bank digital currencies, the Internet of Things, the Internet of Bodies, smart cities or fifteen-minute cities, “augmented man” in transhumanist guise, technocracy as a form of universal tyranny, proclaiming itself a self-fulfilling prophecy – all these new realities are reshaping the whole world.

An escape from conceptual prison

Neither of the top-level conflicts currently raging on a global scale, West-East nor North-South, seems to affect the imposition of a common deadly strategy emanating from the UN, WHO, et al.

The extremely sophisticated and complex character of the system of world domination through international organizations – countless nested private entities with a scientific, cultural, medical or media mask – is bringing about a state of full-spectrum domination much more perilous than could be achieved by military conquest or economic subjugation.

The multitude of forms of total non-military war that are being waged against humanity is not even perceived by the great majority of people as a general assault on humanity. This inadequacy to grasp the new geopolitical realities with their profound spiritual significance could soon prove fatal for the whole world. A certain error of perspective, an inertia of thought keeps the collective mind in the captivity of bygone times.

In the new historical conditions of globalization, owing to a massive leap in science and technology and the gigantic concentration of world power in the hands of private entities, the old schemes of division between countries, regions and civilizations are no longer valid; they now merely serve as a mask that disguises the true face of the parties to the conflict.

In order to overcome the general state of confusion and to gain the chance of mounting an effective resistance to ensure the perpetuation of human civilization, it is necessary to make a categorical distinction between the horizontal perspective and the vertical perspective.

Horizontally, it is the collective West and the BRICS countries, the rich North and the emerging South that face each other. Yet the key struggle is going on vertically: the multidimensional and relentless aggression of the demonized world élites on the one hand and all the peoples of the world on the other. And if the former plane of confrontation is registered by the public perception, the latter, infinitely more important, escapes the world's notice.

The rivalries between the aforementioned groups of countries did not stop even in 2020, but to top it all, all countries responded with the same docility to the edicts of the WHO during the fake Covid-19 pandemic, which they did not perceive as an act of war.

The collective West vs. BRICS, USA vs. China: Who runs the show?

One of the basic errors related to globalization is the tendency to assign to the collective West the exclusive role of driving this process. According to that logic, the collapse of the West would automatically lead to the failure of globalization. Hence the myths related to BRICS as a civilizational alternative to the West. The recent substantial expansion of this formless and omnivorous organization has prompted new waves of enthusiasm among naïve proponents of deglobalization. The decline of the West and the rise of the BRICS are equally applauded by all challengers of American hegemony. Meanwhile, very few notice that the Great Reset is imposed everywhere. Transcending the geopolitical conflicts that are waged horizontally, it is dictated by the vertical of power, the only force that really matters. Once again, the world is ruled by private, supranational entities operating through the UN, WHO, et al. Big Money, Big Oil, Big Pharma, Big Tech, Big Media etc., are just the tentacles of the same Satanic octopus.

And if it is known that UN Agenda 2030 is accepted and implemented by all countries of the world, if the WHO's genocidal policy of false pandemics and murder by injection is an official policy of all states, if digitalization is omnipresent, how we can admit such an absurdity by admiring such a false alternative?

Some relish the prospect of imminent de-dollarization as if it were to be succeeded by the establishment of monetary sovereignty at the level of each nation and by the disappearance of the BIS and the City of London. It should be borne in mind that the dollar is to be succeeded by CBDCs at the "national" level, after which a universal digital currency unit will be imposed.

It is a truism that the same premises will lead time and again to the same consequences. The technological society leads to the emptying of the countryside, to urbanization, technocracy, and – through robotics and artificial intelligence – to mass unemployment. Replacing American hegemonism with Chinese hegemonism will still not mean the failure of the Great Reset. On the contrary, Chinese society is an ideal model for globalist élites, who crave to expand its characteristics globally.

A true revolt of nations presupposes, first of all, the will to abandon the globalist strictures that subjugate humanity, first and foremost the UN and WHO. But so far, no country in the world has announced any such intentions, following rather with docility the policy of the World Government that operates through these organizations.

The end of classical geopolitics

The myth of climate change is blindly and meekly accepted by all states under the UN's baton. The activity of the BIS[1], the elimination of cash and the imposition of CBDCs are not being seen aright as tools to pauperize and to enslave the world's population, but are instead being misconceived as natural processes of inevitable financial regulation. The same applies to the public perception of other "international organizations".

The ability to set the collective mind, to dispel supposed myths about the international framework, as well as methodically to reduce the cognitive capacity of contemporary man is the main guarantee of success for the globalists. At the present time, there is no difference between the level of ignorance of the average person and that of a state official. Under these conditions, the strategy of disguise and manipulation works without the least hindrance.

I have called these new realities on a global scale “the end of classical geopolitics”. Today, the basic conflict is a vertical one: it is fought from top to bottom, and the enemy is a non-state, supranational and extraterritorial entity. Therefore – just as in the decryption exercises practiced in social engineering – the two bottom corners of the triangle must, to escape their eternal victimhood, give up mutual hostilities “horizontally” and look up to discover the real enemy attacking them “vertically”.

Error of perspective in identifying the enemy

And here I return to the title of my closing speech delivered at Chişinău Forum 2023 on September 9 last year: “Know your enemy” – the Golden Rule of the Art of War in the Technocratic Era (<https://arcaluinoe.info/en/blog/2023-09-09-alfpxu0e/>). Namely, a deep understanding of the nature of mankind’s enemies offers us the chance of revenge, a counteroffensive and survival.

And here we enter the most delicate and uncertain area. This is because today’s man no longer has a religious, spiritual perspective on life. Modernity has marked us irreparably: we are materialists, atheists and rationalists. And this while the enemies of mankind, who have secularized and spiritually sterilized us for centuries, themselves remained deeply anchored in spiritual realities. They alienated us from our Savior, but kept their covenant with their master. That is, they blinded us so that they could dominate and defeat us without any resistance.

In face of total spiritual evil, of superhuman demonic forces, we do not have any chance of success using only human potential. The lack of equality of arms means our eternal defeat. Our vital need is to re-discover, and to seek a strategic alliance with, our Creator Jesus Christ. Having so mighty an enemy as Satan while remaining deluded by notions of human autonomy and self-sufficiency is an illusion induced by the son of perdition.

It is up to us whether we choose to play the role of losers or prefer the mission of conquerors, making a huge paradigmatic leap and donning the armor of new crusaders. To conclude, our choice is very simple: whom to obey, God or Satan. There is no third option. Human autonomy is a perfect trap which blinds us and pushes our Resistance into a suicidal bind.

The liberal illusion as a paralyzing factor

One of the reasons for the overwhelming success of our enemies is that we continue to operate under conditions of world tyranny and state terrorism with our outdated liberal democratic frame of reference. In the face of a total war of the Satanist élites against humanity, in the teeth of a universal genocide, we operate with legalistic notions; we appeal to the Constitution, human rights and democratic norms. We pin our hopes on electoral cycles and “saviors” like Trump or Putin, deifying the controlled opposition. And we refuse to understand the tragicomic nature of this situation.

When an assassin kills your children, wife, relatives, an honorable citizen sits down to lodge charges in court or look for a lawyer. But war has its own inexorable logic. If you don't stop your murderer in his tracks, he will kill you. Even the fact that it is not rifles and bombs that are being used as lethal weapons this time but injections, electromagnetic waves and poisoned food does not change the ratio of forces between the two sides, the assassin and the victim. The victim is in self-defense and must fight back. Our response to the genocidal plan of a globalist elite Great Reset is typically called the Great Awakening – and rightly so. But this effort of awakening must find its immediate continuation in the Great Uprising. Anything else would be a sterile intellectual exercise and to condemn ourselves to the disappearance of human civilization.

Please share this text with your followers, place it on as many platforms as possible, translate it into your own languages and send it to your friends who could be our potential speakers at Chişinău Forum 2024. In order to minimize the risk of any impediments to normal travel (lockdowns etc.) I would suggest the end of May as the best time for our next event.

Chişinău Forum is an independent international think tank and is not subordinate to any geopolitical center, state or private entity. We do not have and do not seek sponsors. All expenses for our activities are borne at each participant's own expense. A real meta-political resistance and implacable dissent requires full freedom of thought and action.

Please send me your opinions on the announced theme for the next edition, come up with suggestions in this regard and propose new speakers for our event. I await your messages at the following email address: ChisinauForum2024@protonmail.com

Political correctness and the crime of opinion in today's Russia

01.25.2024

Today, January 25th, just a few hours after my last article was published (<https://arcaluinoe.info/en/blog/2024-01-25-lfm7zue8/>), Igor Strelkov was sentenced to 4 years in prison. Meanwhile, the regime in Moscow is preparing a series of amendments to the Penal Code, according to which such “crimes of opinion” will result not only in prison sentences, but also in the confiscation of the property of those who are “politically incorrect”. State Duma will soon consider a bill that will allow the government to confiscate property, money, or other valuables from Russians accused of publishing fakes about the country's military. (See: <https://www.themoscowtimes.com/2024/01/24/russias-state-duma-moves-to-seize-property-of-army-critics-a83834>). More than that, “The law, which has been passed by the lower house State Duma in its first reading, carries a maximum jail sentence of up to 15 years for spreading “false information” about the army.” (See: <https://www.hindustantimes.com/world-news/vladimir-putins-new-decision-seize-property-of-russian-army-critics-101706094273301.html>). So, we could say that Strelkov was lucky to be convicted before the entry into force of these legal norms.

Therefore, the “call to extremism”, “extremist activities”, “discrediting the army” etc. etc. in no time they will present plausible legal pretexts to suppress any critical voice towards the way the so-called SMO is proceeding. And all this should replace an effective and quick military campaign that would lead to a categorical victory of Russia and, respectively, to a capitulation of Ukraine.

Time will show if the multitude of strategic and diplomatic failures is only the result of a chronic inability of Russia's political and military leaders to make appropriate decisions, the subordination of political power to oligarchic interests or the efficiency of the “fifth column”. The draconian measures against any critical voice taken by Moscow could still have a basis. We cannot rule out the fact that the Kremlin, which repeats like a mantra its willingness to sit down at the negotiating table with the “Nazis” and “terrorists” and “puppets of the West” in Kiev to sign a peace accord.

Such an attitude is perceived by Russian patriots as a betrayal of national interests. And to suppress any alternative opinion, the regime resorts to the traditional totalitarian methods, inherited from the Soviet communist tradition, so dear to the current leaders of Russia. In addition, such punitive measures create a much more conducive atmosphere for the kakistocracy in Moscow to more easily simulate the electoral farce to perpetuate Putin’s mandate.

In this tragic situation for Russia, it is disgusting to observe how so many so-called political analysts of the Kremlin-affiliated alternative media erect themselves in the position of propagandists and advocates of the regime able to justify any villainy, crime or abuse of power of the regime. Their real or apparent opposition to American hegemony, Atlanticism/ the collective West leads them to find a comfortable psychological and ideological niche of deifying the false alternative represented by the Russian ruling class, BRICS, multipolarity and other lamentable propaganda clichés that do so much harm the real anti-globalist resistance.

FREEDOM FOR STRELKOV!
DOWN WITH OPPORTUNISTS AND PROFITERS!

P. S.: Some of Strelkov’s ideas and opinions are not mine either. But I cannot but recognize the courage, heroic spirit and bravery of an elite man for whom the Fatherland, truth and honor are more precious than life. He represents that rare breed of men who are on the verge of extinction in the demasculinized and perverted West.

Paul Craig Roberts: Putin's lack of vision and political will could lead to WWII.

01.25.2024

Finally, the article signed by the famous American author Paul Craig Roberts "WILL WAR RESULT FROM THE EVER HESITANT PUTIN?" published on January 22 this year breaks the pattern of the false dichotomy, of the conflict between the two dominant narratives, that accompanies the controversies between Russia and the West (<https://www.paulcraigroberts.org/2024/01/22/will-war-result-from-the-ever-hesitant-putin/>).

While Western propaganda centers demonize Putin, those in the alternative media, who oppose American hegemony, deify him. The latter do it either out of naivety and a lack of understanding of the way political power in Russia is organized and works, or out of pecuniary interest, preferring to be presstitues of the Kremlin with a mask of anti-globalist respectability.

Paul Craig Roberts' analysis breaks through the propaganda clichés described above, showing what is obvious to any lucid and honest observer. Despite the image of him as a dictator and a determined person, Putin presents himself as hesitant, timid and above all obsessed with the need to regain recognition from "Western partners". This syndrome is easy to understand if we focus on the ideological or intellectual origins of "Putinism". This vision is an eclectic one, representing a mixture of late Sovietism and Western liberalism.

The Two Faces of the Moscow Janus: Sovietism and the Merchant Spirit

His unwillingness to achieve clear and unequivocal decommunization by condemning the 1917 coup d'état, glorifying Stalin, keeping Lenin's mausoleum and the communist names of regions, cities, streets and public squares as precious religious relics, maintaining Lenin's monuments and those of the other Bolshevik criminals, as well as the "founders of Marxism", show beyond any doubt that the Putin regime is hostage to the communist mentality as a chronic disease of Russian society.

The second face of this two-faced Russian god as a new Janus is a quintessentially liberal-capitalist one. Or, more precisely, it belongs to the liberal ideological injection that poisoned Russian society with the fall of the USSR. The new elites that emerged from elements of the former communist nomenklatura and KGB were and are guided by the thirst for personal enrichment through the abuse of power. The mercantile mentality penetrated deeply the Russian ruling class, every dignitary in the Putin administration being hyper-wealthy through the complicity of the oligarchs who capture all of Russia's natural resources for personal profit.

In this case, we should bear in mind the biblical truth which says "No one can serve two masters. Either you will hate the one and love the other, or you will be devoted to the one and despise the other. You cannot serve both God and money." (Matthew 6:24). Applied to the Putin administration, Werner Sombart's definition of two types of characters and civilizations – "Merchants and Heroes" – unequivocally suggests its merchant profile. It seems that in the new geopolitical conditions the conception of geopolitical dualism of tellurocracy and thalassocracy proves that the Sea Power, the Anglo-Saxon commercial civilization, has definitively colonized the ruling class in Russia. And the conceptualization of the Land Power, attributed to today's Russia, is only part of the propaganda clichés of the Kremlin servants.

This explains the hesitant nature, the lack of determination and coherence of official Russian policy under Putin's mandate. Moreover, as in the West, the same major transformation that characterized the rise of capitalism took place in Russia. Namely, the economic factor subordinated the political factor, or, in other words, big business subordinated the state administration. However, in today's conditions the myth about the all-powerful Putin benefits both Western and Moscow propaganda.

The oscillating character and susceptibility to various influences that make Russia's interests vulnerable also appears in the case of genocide and systematic crimes committed by the Zionist entity officially called Israel. (See: <https://telegra.ph/The-Israel-Lobby-in-Russian-politics-or-In-Search-of-Lost-Khazaria-01-01>) This lack of consistency has caused natural concerns and reactions of bewilderment in the Islamic world, the key question being the extent to which Russia can be a strategic partner in resisting Israel and its vassal the US.

Multipolarity as a desirable reality

The author quoted above is right when he suggests that multipolarity is totally irrelevant "as long as it does not possess a solid military component. Paul Craig Roberts states that "The multipolar world that Putin is always talking about cannot materialize without a Russian-Chinese-Iranian mutual defense treaty". And he is absolutely right. It's just that China doesn't seem to have any interest in accepting such a thing, preferring to simultaneously benefit from the huge advantages offered by the US and EU markets for its goods and from squeezing Russia's natural resources. Instead, Iran, like a whole series of other Muslim countries, would without hesitation sign political-military accords with Russia to resist the aggression of the London-Washington- Jerusalem axis.

Besides, among those wishing to urgently sign such pacts of mutual military assistance with Russia could be a whole series of other African states, Venezuela, North Korea etc. But, obviously, for such a spectacular geopolitical turn, only one element is missing: the political will of Moscow.

It is opportune to mention here that in order to represent a formidable force in the face of Western hegemony, BRICS cannot limit itself to trade and the noble intention of de-dollarization. To overcome the posture of an amorphous structure and represent a pole of real geopolitical power, BRICS vitally needs a solid military component. Otherwise, it would be naïve to believe that the US imperialist system will impassively await its own collapse without a pre-emptive strike. The economic war that BRICS has proposed against Israeli-American imperialism cannot be won without relying on a strong military alliance.

The conflict with Ukraine: Giveaway game, puerility or cowardice?

In his article Roberts describes with maximum accuracy the same wavering and feeble approach of Putin towards the military conflict in Ukraine. We could add to what the author said, that until now no one can give a credible explanation, and especially one that would honor the official position of Moscow, as to why after the coup in Kiev in 2014 it was initially declared an illegal regime installed by violence and a usurpation of state power, after which they resorted to recognizing the Poposhenko regime. Another strange thing in 2014 was the agreement of Crimea to join Russia, while abandoning Donbass – although both in the peninsula and in the self-proclaimed republics of Donetsk and Luhansk, referendums on accession to Russia were organized.

The eight years of methodical bombardment and mass assassination by the Kiev regime of the peaceful population of Donbass was possible only because Putin did not have the courage or perhaps the freedom of action to prevent this massacre of Russians. And after two years of war in Ukraine, the residents of the city of Donetsk continue to be killed en masse by regular bombings carried out by the Ukrainian military.

(See: <https://tass.com/russia/1735197>) How to explain such a state of affairs? This is an important question because only by anathemaizing the criminal regime in Kiev can this massacre be stopped. What is needed is not words of compassion for the victims and the critics of Zelensky, but concrete action. But these are delayed for increasingly suspicious reasons.

After a strange break of 8 years, the moment of Russian intervention on February 24, 2022 remains equally inexplicable. This does not mean that the “collective West” is not conducting a proxy war against Russia, turning Ukraine into an object of geopolitical manipulation. The question is different.

Why did the extremely quick and successful offensive of the Russian army, which reached the gates of Kiev in three days, turn into a catastrophic failure? Why was the withdrawal ordered? Why were entire regions such as Kiev, Sumy, Chernigov, Kharkov and Kherson abandoned? And who is responsible for the tens of thousands of Russian civilians in those territories, who supported the Russian offensive, and who were tortured and murdered by the criminals in the Ukrainian military units?

Two magic words, a blitzkrieg and a series of failures

And now let’s ask ourselves what the two magic words, used by Putin to explain the goals of the military intervention in Ukraine, might mean. I refer here to the famous words “demilitarization” and “denazification”. Initially both Russia’s supporters and its opponents believed it was about the full liberation/occupation of Ukraine by the Russian military, the complete dismantling of the Ukrainian armed forces, the removal of political power and the imposition of surrender conditions. And it was normal to expect such a thing, because “demilitarization” would have assumed the total abolition of the Ukrainian army, and “denazification” would have meant holding accountable those whom Kremlin propaganda calls “Nazis”. In fact, they can be called Nazis only to the extent that Zionism is assimilated to Nazism. But the Putin administration is too heavily influenced by Zionist elements to be able to afford such a degree of freedom of expression.

So, instead of a blitzkrieg, for two years we have been watching the withdrawal of the Russian armed forces, limited offensives accompanied by astronomical human losses without any strategic justification, prisoner exchanges under unfair conditions and, above all, calls for negotiations and the signing of an armistice. The series of negotiations that began on the very third day after Russia's military intervention shows the absurdity of the whole military adventure. So your army arrives near Kiev, and you do not impose the conditions of capitulation from positions of strength, but order the retreat of your forces and sit down at the negotiating table in an infinitely more vulnerable position.

A limited war, euphemistically called a SMO and an untouchable enemy

An extremely eloquent episode that shows how Putin's character is related to his promise to former Israeli Prime Minister Naftali Bennett not to cause any harm to Israel's puppet in Kiev, the Zionist Volodymyr Zelensky. On February 5, 2023 NBS News titled this fragment of the interview given by Naftali as follows: "Former Israeli Prime Minister Naftali Bennett says Putin promised not to kill Zelensky". See <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8aYC9M4-i0>. Strange as it may seem, after the publication of these claims in the international press Moscow officials did not rush to deny them. And then what is the logic of this war? Doesn't a much stronger side militarily want to defeat its enemy and achieve a total and indisputable victory? If not, then why? We can assume a number of factors: Putin's cowardice and the influence of "the fifth column". The rest is propaganda and manipulation.

Naftali Bennett and Putin

Let us list only the most famous rounds of sterile negotiations between the Russian and Ukrainian delegations. The first round took place on February 28, 2022, in Belarus. A second and third round of talks took place on 3 and 7 March 2022, on the Belarus–Ukraine border, in an undisclosed location in the Gomel region of Belarus. A fourth and fifth round of talks were respectively held on March 10 and 29 2022 in Turkey. In addition, the Kremlin repeats like a mantra its willingness to sit down at the negotiating table for peace with Kiev. It’s just that in today’s conditions, when neither side is either victorious or defeated, it is hard to imagine a lasting peace.

Not to mention the Minsk agreements signed on September 5, 2014 and on February 12, 2015, which represent glaring and shameful failures of Russian diplomacy. It is precisely those maneuvers by Russia’s enemies that have allowed the collective West to transform for eight years the almost non-existent Ukrainian army into a formidable military force. Putin later admitted that he had been deceived by his “Western partners”. But has anyone in the Kremlin heard of Sun Tzu? He said in his famous work “The Art of War” that “All warfare is based on deception”. Whoever does not do his lessons on time remains a loser.

4 partially liberated regions, the Putin-Shaman duet and “Adieu, Kherson!”

One of the most inexplicable things, in terms of Russian interests during this war, is the incorporation of four regions of Ukraine – Donetsk, Kherson, Luhansk, and Zaporizhzhia - on September 30, 2022, into Russia. It should be noted that this decision adopted by the State Duma of Russia and promulgated by Putin’s decree was preceded by a mock referendum in the conditions of extremely violent military hostilities in all these four regions. We should recall that the simulation of referendums is the work of number 2 in the Putin administration, Sergey Kirienko (Izrael), the ex-prime minister who in 1998 destroyed the financial system and the Russian economy, the most dubious character around the Russian head of state being responsible for the “liberated territories”. None of the regions were fully under Russian control at the time of the official incorporation, nor have they been since.

After the Russian parliament “unanimously” adopted the admission of the four regions to the composition of the Russian state, and the head of state confirmed this decision, on the same day, September 30, 2022, a festive concert followed in Red Square named “People’s Choice. Together forever”. See <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7tYUJT-M9uTM>. During this sinister farce, reminiscent of communist-era triumphalism, the key figure alongside Putin was a pop singer with the stage name of Shaman, dressed as a transgender and embodying the perfect hermaphrodite, who shouted Russia’s national anthem. The moment was particularly emotional, especially considering that while Putin was shedding tears of happiness in central Moscow, Russian soldiers continued to fight and die in all four regions.

And what about the other millions of Russians abandoned in Ukrainian territories and terrorized by the criminal regime in Kiev? But such questions are prohibited in Russia. And in order for this abominable farce to have a shameful and degrading end, shortly after the show featuring the Putin and Shaman duet, the Russian army undertook another strange action of abandonment, this time of a strategic redoubt conquered with the blood of the Russian soldier. On November 9, 2022, Russian armed forces withdrew from the city of Kherson, abandoning the civilian population and pro-Russian activists to the hands of Ukrainian repression forces.

What’s next? Uncertainties and hopes

During the two-year war euphemistically called a SMO, independent military experts repeatedly declared that the Russian Army could not wage a victorious war because it was hindered by the political factor. And some who criticized the way the military intervention in Ukraine is proceeding, calling for more decisive action, ended up in prison. The most famous case is that of Colonel Igor Strelkov, arrested for “calls to extremism”. The details of his prison sentence will be announced on January 25th. But in Russia, no one can criticize the military campaign, neither from pacifist positions nor from patriotic ones. The Penal Code was adapted to repress any critical comment on state power.

Meanwhile, the lack of consistency and courage of the Putin administration has caused hundreds of thousands of victims on both sides, over 10 million refugees, and the destruction and criminalization of Ukrainian society, but also the destruction of the EU economy in the interests of the enemies of continental Europe and Russia, the Anglo-Saxon corporatocracy.

Given what is presented in Roberts’ article, as well as my own analysis, we have every reason to worry not only about the fate of Russia, but also about the fate of all humanity. Strictly speaking, the strength of the Putin administration is reduced to the annihilation of all political opponents and its critics, as well as to the perpetuation of its own power through electoral farces like the one planned for this year, when the “fatal candidate” Putin will get another presidential mandate for his entire life.

So, in the face of the neoconservative/Zionist hawks who are very determined to subjugate the entire world or destroy it in a new world war, Putin’s lack of will and vacillating character is a not inconsiderable vulnerability.

Some might be tempted to explain the slowness and lack of determination of Russia’s leaders by the fact that they are quite advanced in age, representing a kind of gerontocracy. But those from Washington are not young either. And yet, metaphorically speaking, the Elders of Zion (such as Netanyahu, Blinken and Nuland) seem to be much more efficient than the Elders of the Kremlin (such as Putin, Lavrov and Shoigu).

Yuri Roshka (Iurie Roșca) is a conservative journalist from the Republic of Moldova, author of several books with over three decades of political experience. He was an anti-communist dissident, party leader, MP and deputy prime minister. During the last years, he carries out an extensive publishing activity. Yuri Roshka is the organizer of an international think tank Chisinau Forum, which brings together anti-System intellectuals from several countries. International conferences are held annually under the auspices of this think tank.

Other articles on the similar topic can be found here:

<https://arcaluinoe.info/en/autor/iurierosca/>

Contact me: chisinauforum2024@protonmail.com

On false dichotomy and “useful idiots”

01.26.2024

Z-patriots and their allies from MAM (mainstream alternative media – David Icke) cannot admit that in Russia could exist not only one official understanding of national interest, but several or even many. And if in the “democratic West” this idea is accepted as normality, in case of Russia the zealous confessors of Putin’s cult are qualing any deviation from state narrative as betrayal to the Fatherland and collaboration with the external enemy i.e. “collective West”, globalistst etc. (By the way, the globalist agenda is imposed without any deviation in Russia too!).

This war logic tailored to the communist model vitiates the largest media personalities from the international alternative media network who became the hostages of Kremlin propaganda. Here the false dichotomy works perfectly. Since they oppose the corrupt and tyrannical Western system, they side with those who are in conflict with it.

This perverted logic contradicts the natural existence of social dialogue and political debates or cofrontations in all non-tyranical societies. This kind of “new normal” shows how efficient could be social engineering and mind control exercised by such monstrous political figures as Sergei Kiriyenko (Israitel) who use to be the economic hit man nr. 1 as PM in 1998 and who is now nr. 2 in Putin’s administration. This dubious person is officially responsible for “internal policy” and for “liberated territories” in Ukraine. Some very serious sources from Russia suggest that namely Kiriyenko is personally in charge of Russia on behalf of the Jewish Masonic Super Lodge B’nai B’rith.

By the way, in particular, former Russian Prime Minister Kiriyenko, nicknamed “Kinder Surprise”, was the one who in 1998 proposed Putin to the position of director of the FSB. Watch this historic video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hIMBybcAN90>

The enthusiasts and admirers of monumental and glorious personality of the Russian president couldn't accept the hypothesis that behind this solar figure is hidden another one or several men who incarnate the dark side of this very sophisticated political game. Maybe some of "alternative militants" have to ask themselves who is the real ruler in current Russia and who is only a puppet, a frontman or spokesman of real masters.

There are no new things under the sun. The real power is always a hidden one.

To conclude, when you are looking to the Putin's picture, don't forget to place on either side of him two other pictures, namely of Sergei Kiriyenko and Berel Lazar, the Chief Rabbi of Russia, who was parachuted in 1990 from the New York headquarters of the fundamentalist Chabad Lubavich Hasidic sect directly to Moscow. Beside them, don't forget to place the photo of the London-based "Russian" oligarch Roman Abramovich, the Kremlin's chief negotiator in relations with the Kiev regime. Absolutely at all rounds of negotiations, in Belarus or Turkey, for the prisoner exchange or for "the extension of the grain deal" Abramovich was invariably present. And of course, above this splendid collective portrait do not forget to put the picture of the Black Angel of the Death Henry Kissinger so dear to Putin. See: <https://tass.com/politics/1714135>

Russians have a proverb that exists among other peoples as well. Tell me who your friends are so I can tell you who you are. It perfectly fits the situation described above.

There is an extremely eloquent phrase attributed to Lenin that I would like to invoke again here: "useful idiots". Therefore, whoever does not want to be mentioned in this degrading category should keep their eyes wide open and mobilize their cognitive capacities towards a lucid and pertinent analysis of the political establishment in Russia and its inremovable symbol, Mr. Putin.

P.S.: In time I remembered another major player in today's Russia who would be upset that he is not included in the above group picture. It is about Mr. Alexander Gintsburg, who is responsible for the mass euthanasia of Russians by injection. This brave statesman, the inventor of the magic vaccind Sputink V, was decorated with the highest state honors by his advertising agent of these poisoned serums V. Putin. What a nice character this sorcerer is!

Putin: an alternative perspective

02.10.2024

A conversation with Yuri Roshka

In a series of articles published last month, Moldovan journalist Yuri Roshka proposed something truly radical: Perhaps it's time to break free from the false dichotomy that restricts how Russian President Vladimir Putin is discussed in Western "alternative" media?

Obviously I had to learn more about this provocative suggestion.

In July, Roshka was kind enough to share his thoughts about the rise of technocracy. I am pleased to announce that he has returned to answer more questions.

Yuri, you recently published three articles (Paul Craig Roberts: Putin's Lack of Vision and Political Will Could Lead to WWII; Political correctness and the crime of opinion in today's Russia; On false dichotomy and "useful idiots") that challenge the prevailing narratives we are fed about Russia and Putin, in both Western mainstream and alternative media. This isn't really a question, but: It's shocking how narrow the Overton window is whenever Western "independent" media discusses anything Russia-related, and I think your recent commentaries serve as a necessary first step towards igniting substantive dialogue on these issues.

Thank you for the invitation to answer your questions. For someone like me, who is neither affiliated with the liberal-globalist discourse of the collective West, nor with the propagandist narrative of the Kremlin, such an opportunity is quite rare. This is because unfortunately most of the alternative media in the West, while rejecting US hegemony and the globalist agenda of the West as a whole, zealously promotes the idea that Putin represents an alternative civilizational model. This creates a false dichotomy and leaves little room for discussion in alternative media spaces.

It's fair to say your assessment of Putin differs a great deal from the dominate narratives in mainstream and alternative media. You describe Russia's president as "hesitant, timid and above all obsessed with the need to regain recognition from 'Western partners'". Have you always felt this way or have your views on Putin evolved over the years? Can you point to specific events, decisions, or "new information" that prompted you to reassess him as a leader?

To understand what any political figure or phenomenon represents, it is necessary to go to its origins. Putin and his regime are a direct continuation of the Yeltsin period. That is, the successors of the leaders of the first post-Soviet decade are, as in the Perestroika period, the exponents of the former communist nomenclature and KGB officers, who joined with Jewish businessmen, who then became oligarchs in complicity with the former.

The type of careerists like Putin look at politics from the perspective of pecuniary interests, and have the mentality of merchants who know how to sell natural resources and national interests at optimal prices. The eminently political logic of state interests is foreign to them. In post-communist Russia the same situation was created as in the West after the fall of monarchies and the rise of merchants. The economic factor subordinated the political factor. Or, to put it another way, big business installed and maintains its servants in key state functions. And Putin fits exactly into this logic.

As a nationalist in Moldova, I could only be in opposition to Russian President Putin, who remains obsessed with the same imperial idea of imposing total control over the former peripheries of the Soviet empire. But understanding that the collective West represents absolute evil through its demonic elites, at one point I hoped that Putin had broken away from the occult nets of the West.

I was in total solidarity with Putin's rhetoric against the putschists in Kiev during the coup in Ukraine in 2014, which was instigated and coordinated by the neocons (Zionists) in Washington. However, after the takeover of Crimea, there followed the abandonment of Donbass and the shameful negotiations in Minsk – plus another eight years of betrayal as Russians were terrorized and killed by the Zionist regimes in Kiev under the mandates of Poroshenko and Zelensky.

But the key moment when it became clear that Putin was totally under the control of the globalists came in 2020, when the false Covid-19 pandemic was triggered. The Kremlin showed complete obedience to the undeclared World Government that operated under WHO cover, imposing the same tyrannical policies, including compulsory injections. And the military intervention in Ukraine in 2022, which initially seemed to represent a rift with the West, soon showed that Russia is being led by weak people, who have neither strategic vision nor the ability to wage a successful war.

So if Putin isn't the all-powerful leader he's portrayed to be in Western and Russian propaganda, who is really calling the shots in Moscow?

There is no single person who exercises unlimited power in Russia. Instead, interest groups shape the politics in this country. Among them are the circles of Jewish oligarchs as well as billionaires with key functions inside the power vertical (basically all the top dignitaries in Russia are fabulously rich!). Perhaps the most influential power bloc could be described as Kabbalistic-Zionist in nature.

In this context, Putin must be regarded as a front man, a spokesman for the circles that hold power rather than an all-powerful dictator. The image of Putin as a person who controls nearly everything in Russia is nothing more than a manipulation strategy. And from here, the black propaganda of the globalists is complimented by their supposed opponents, who make “white propaganda” for the Kremlin.

While we’re on the subject: What explains Western “alternative” media’s idolization of Putin?

Personally, I think that the fanatical trust in Putin’s virtues and merits, which the alternative press in the West exalts, has several explanations.

First, since Putin is demonized by the globalist media, those in the alternative media perceive him as an opponent of the System. This illusion is fueled by the fact that Putin’s speechwriters have a gift for wooing Western “dissidents” with criticisms of the political class in the West and the LGBT agenda.

Such rhetorical tricks trigger fascination and admiration among Westerners, preventing any realistic assessment of the true state of affairs in Russia. And when you try to show these bewitched people the harsh reality in this country, they greet you with accusations that you are playing the game of the globalists.

You can talk to them with numbers and with irrefutable facts, for example, that the Central Bank of Russia is affiliated with globalist policies, that it is controlled by the IMF and the BIS, that it is imposing the digital ruble; you can show that assassination by vaccine is carried out under Putin, you can show that even in today’s Russia the production of insects for food purposes is underway etc. etc., but nothing can rouse them from their enchanted state. This phenomenon, which is common in alternative media, is not caused by stupidity or incompetence. Rather, the temptation to present the desirable as reality is extremely psychologically comfortable.

The idolization of Putin is a sign of the neo-pagan nature of the Western intelligentsia, which allows itself to be manipulated because it has lost its celestial compass and mystical reason. Even if some of our friends declare themselves Protestants or (former) Catholics, there are rare cases when you can observe a spiritual lucidity that supports an adequate geopolitical analysis.

Another reason for this state of adoration, which presents itself as a direct continuation of the Kremlin's propaganda apparatus, is the effectiveness of the Russian secret services, which propels power-affiliated Russian academic figures into Western dissident circles. Also worth mentioning here is the effectiveness of Sputnik and RT, which court and flatter our "dissidents" with regular invitations to criticize the political class in Western countries. Let one of them try to make any critical comments about power in Moscow, and he will see how he will be forever shunned by those who until yesterday flattered him in every way.

And finally, the most mundane explanation for the fact that a large majority of alternative media in the West has aligned itself with the Kremlin's official discourse is of a financial nature. The Russian secret services have not lost the ability to seduce anti-System militants with money. This technique was widely applied by the Soviets.

Let me give you some very recent examples of what David Icke calls MAM, meaning mainstream alternative media. In other words, false dissidence affiliated with occult power circles. Americans Alex Jones and Tucker Carlson. Both are Trump fans, both have become friends with monstrous globalist technocrat Elon Musk, and both love Putin like their father. But what unites the two, as well as other "opinion leaders", is their affiliation to the interests of the Zionist lobby in the USA, including the avoidance of univocal claims of genocide in the Gaza Strip.

To simplify, we could say that organizations like Chabad Lubavitch strongly influence politicians like Trump (Jared Kushner) and Putin (Berel Lazar) and, implicitly, their servants in the alternative media. In this sense it is worth noting that the few Russian intellectuals who are invited to speak with media personalities like Alex Jones praise both Trump and Putin, demonizing the globalists in abstracto – as if Trump and Putin aren't guilty of imposing state terrorism with the code name Covid-19, and didn't make repeated public calls in favor of fake vaccines; as if they were not blind tools of the globalists operating through the UN and Agenda 2030.

By the way, sources in the fake alternative media claim that Tucker Carlson is in Moscow and is going to conduct an interview with Putin himself. Wow what a colossal performance! How many millions does such a banal propaganda trick cost? AND if it's not a prank, let's see how uncomfortable the questions posed by this famous TV star to the eternal Kremlin leader and savior of mankind, Mr. Putin, will be.

What do you think motivated Putin to launch the “special military operation” in Ukraine? With the operation entering its third year, is Moscow close to achieving its stated goals (as you understand them) in Ukraine?

We should ask ourselves why Putin's Russia began its military intervention on February 24, 2022, and not in 2014, when the Ukrainian army was extremely weak. I see two reasons: The mediocrity and cowardice of Russian leaders and the major influence of the “fifth column” on their decision-making process.

Also, how should we interpret the two key slogans that accompanied Russian military intervention in Ukraine, “denazification” and “demilitarization”?

Everyone assumed that Putin could no longer tolerate the “anaconda” strategy of the Anglo-Saxons and decided to carry out a blitzkrieg to end the transformation of Ukraine into an anti-Russia.

But what Moscow has been pursuing for two years is a strange military action that has caused hundreds of thousands of deaths on both sides and many millions of Ukrainian refugees, plus the destruction of the European economy caused by those sanctions, which may actually benefit the US and the UK, while devastating the economy of continental European countries. A long-term war is also dangerous for Russia because it can cause serious economic problems and political crises. This is what Russia's enemies are hoping for.

Following the slowness and clumsiness that accompanied Russia's military intervention in Ukraine, as well as Moscow's willingness to enter into peace negotiations, the question arises: what are the true purposes of this military campaign? Or maybe we are trying to find logical and rational explanations to explain the actions of leaders who are overcome by the complexity of the situation?

It is quite possible that Western strategists lured Russia into Ukraine in hopes of creating a second Afghanistan, that is, an accelerator of the destruction of Russia, similar to what happened with the USSR.

In my opinion, one should not underestimate the risk of plots within power blocs in Moscow, as was the case in 1917 or 1991. Between the presentation of Putin as a monster (atlanticist version) and that of a Putin as a patriot and savior (loyalist version), I would prefer a more realistic image of a mediocre person, without any special gifts or talents. As I have said before, you cannot be simultaneously a merchant and a hero or a profiteer and a patriot.

The geopolitical trap in which Moscow now finds itself can be explained this way: Even if Russia had managed to carry out a quick and highly successful military campaign, taking control of the entire territory of Ukraine and installing its allies in leadership positions, Moscow would be swallowing a poisoned apple. Because Western-sponsored destabilization and partisan warfare in Ukraine would have likely led to catastrophe.

Other hypothetical outcomes do not seem to be much better. Annexing only a part of Ukraine to Russia and signing a peace and border demarcation agreement would spark revolts among both Russian and Ukrainian nationalists. Nor does the prospect of complete withdrawals from the territories controlled militarily by Russia seem to guarantee lasting peace and stability.

As a side note, I would like to comment on Putin's obsessive mantra about the perfidious nature of the West, which brainwashed the Ukrainians for over 30 years and grafted their hatred towards their Russian brothers. I agree, that is at the root of this crisis. But what did the Russian government do to counter this strategy? What has Putin done for nearly 24 years? He promoted only compromised and corrupted friends of the Kremlin, like Yanukovych and Medvedchuk, who embezzled public money and clung to communist symbols, pushing Ukrainians further into the arms of the West. Responsible leaders do not blame their own failures on the hypocrisy of their rivals, but acknowledge their own failures and rush to correct them.

Medvedchuk was of course exchanged for Azov fighters as part of a controversial prisoner swap with Kiev. Coincidentally, Igor Strelkov, one of the most outspoken critics of this decision, was recently sentenced to four years in prison for "extremism". Why are pro-war "turbo patriots" like Strelkov being targeted by Russian authorities?

As you know, the imprisonment of Strelkov and other patriots such as Father Sergei of the Sredne-Uralsk monastery, as well as the newly adopted draconian law allowing for the deprivation of liberty and confiscation of wealth for "discrediting the military", is perceived by many Russian patriots as a prelude to a capitulatory and shameful peace with the West and their marionettes from Kiev. If this is the case, those who manipulate Kremlin policy are pushing Putin's regime towards a very possible collective suicide. That's because the hundreds of thousands of soldiers on the front, who have been fighting for two years, may rebel and arrive in Moscow to ask Russia's president why they were betrayed. In such a situation, we might see a more successful repeat of Prigozhin's march on the Russian capital.

You're a devout Orthodox Christian and I know that your Christian faith plays a key role in how you interpret world events. What do you say to those who believe that it is immoral or misguided to question or criticize Orthodox Russia while she is in conflict with the collective West?

I do not criticize Russia, nor its Orthodox people and their glorious history and splendid culture, but rather those who destroy, plunder, and demean Russia from the position of greedy and perverse bosses. True patriots and anti-System militants around the world must understand that Russia can and must represent an alternative to the collective West dominated by the Satanists who are imposing a tyrannical regime of dystopian technocracy.

But today's rulers of this country are only a simulacrum, an imitation, a Potemkin village, who put on the mask of patriots so that they can continue to plunder Russia's natural resources.

Meanwhile, Russians are being replaced with Muslims from Central Asia. Few people in the West know that not only the US, Canada and Europe are subject to a premeditated invasion of extra-European and non-Christian populations, but also Russia.

My criticism is directed against an occupation administration, subordinated to the UN, WHO, WTO, IMF, BIS. The same is true of the administration of my own country, the US, the EU, China and all BRICS members. The famous Romanian sociologist Dimitrie Gusti described this worldwide predicament as the conflict between the state and the nation.

True, in Russia there is a major spiritual revival. I have been to this country many times, to various cities, and I have seen the churches full of people during the holy liturgies. This is a mystical force and represents a historical chance for a people replete with saints, martyrs and heroes.

Unfortunately, the church hierarchy colludes with political power, pays tribute to Sergianism, and has fallen into the heresy of ecumenism. But Russian Orthodoxy could one day break out as a major political expression. A vicious regime cannot generate significant victories, and a minor politician cannot generate major achievements. Putin is trying to reconcile Jewish oligarchs with national interests, the Chabad Lubavich sect with Orthodoxy, but this is impossible.

Yuri Roshka is the former leader of Moldova's Christian Democratic People's Party. He was twice appointed Deputy Chairman of the Moldovan Parliament, and served as Deputy Prime Minister for Security Agencies. Roshka is a prolific author, commentator, and translator, as well as the head of the Chisinau Forum, which holds an annual conference in Moldova.

Don't forget to read and reread Edward Slavsquat's previous interviews:

Moscow vs. Davos? Let's ask Russian alt media (Anna Rudneva)

Fighting globalism's four dogmas in Slovenia (Blaž Kavčič)

"Russian medicine is controlled by the WHO" (Dr. Alina Lushavina)

Køvid & the decline of the West (Modeste Schwartz)

The fall from liberalism to global technocracy (Yuri Roshka)

"Peace" has become a dirty word in closely watched Czechia (Cecílie Jílková)

How's life in rural Russia? We asked an expat villager (Ekaterina the village-dweller)

Russia's neoliberal elites are thriving (Karine Bechet-Golovko)

Russia from the Right (Rolo Slavskiy)

The revolution will involve fermented cabbage (Gavin Mounsey)

The death of a political prisoner and its stakes

02.16.2024

Let me specify once again, I was never among the sympathizers of Alexey Navalny, who died today in Russia's most severe prison. A political prisoner sentenced to die in prison, that's exactly what the masters of this country coveted, giving him hard years in prison and detaining him in inhumane conditions.

Navalny was liberal and strongly connected to the collective West. He managed to create a vast network of supporters all over Russia, to organize multiple anti-government protest demonstrations. Of course, his figure was associated with the West's intention to shake up Putin's regime and establish a government in Russia more suited to Western interests. These things are generally known. But I wanted to say something else here.

Russia's patriotic press looks grim today. And in today's Russia you can only be a patriot if you are loyal to the regime and don't have any doubt about the genius and immovability of the eternal leader Putin. Navalny's death provoked open jubilation, and for this death are blamed Ukraine/US/UK. Everywhere you can read posthumous denigration of the poor dead man, attacking his widow for speaking on the same day as her husband's death at the Munich Security Conference.

We are not at all surprised that those who posthumously mock and condemn the poor political prisoner say that by his death he is wrecking Putin's triumphal march in the election campaign. But these neo-Soviet propagandists, hopelessly contaminated by the poison of class warfare and lumpen-proletarian hatred, say nothing about the fact that today's election campaign is nothing but an ordinary scam. Amending the Constitution on the Belarusian model to allow Putin to run again is a taboo matter in today's Russia. The mafia clan in power cannot play at democracy, the stakes are too high, namely maintaining control of the country's immense wealth.

The lack of compassion and condolences, even if only formal, to this man's family is monstrous. And no one in the camp of state-affiliated patriots has mentioned a word about the BASIC CAUSE for the annihilation of this opponent of power. Alexey Navalny has produced a multitude of documentary films revealing with consistent evidence the corruption and enormous wealth of the leading figures in Russia's state hierarchy, including that of the untouchable and immaculate Putin. Which is why an attempt was made to assassinate him by poisoning, followed by the judicial farce and imprisonment.

No less sad is the fact that the supposedly alternative press in the West, which has become accustomed to fanatical admiration of Putin, has joined in the same shameful chorus of denigration of the deceased opponent. Witnesses of the Putin cult confuse the interests of Russia with the interests of the mafia that has captured power in this country. And if you are not among the members of the pro-Putin religious sect, you are immediately categorised as an agent of American imperialism.

I fully understand the perfidy and diabolical plans of the Westerners who are seeking Putin's ouster in the interests of the Western corporatocracy and oligarchy. But I also understand just as well that Putin is himself the embodiment of Russia's corporatocracy and oligarchy, which has usurped power in this state not for the happiness of its own people, but in the criminal interests of the clan.

Of course, politics has never been immaculate, but the groupings that control the Russian state believe that they can commit any abuse and any crime indefinitely without worrying about the consequences. In their view, appearances can endlessly replace authenticity, repression can endlessly annihilate any critical voice, and conflict with the West can endlessly serve as a pretext for the destruction of any form of political opposition or criticism of power.

Mr Putin was in no hurry to express his condolences to the widow of Alexey Navalny, who died at the age of 47, instead he sent a message of compassion to the widow of Henry Kissinger, when this sinister character went to hell at the age of 100.

Putin and those who lead him believe themselves to be invincible, masters of geopolitical chess, allies of China etc. He (or, more precisely, those who lead him) has not yet understood or perhaps has not recognised, for example, that the adventure in Ukraine was a trap set by Western strategists, a kind of Afghanistan-2.

It seems that the Kremlin has not yet realised the gravity of Navalnyi's death either, believing that exercising total control over the press and terrorising any critical opinion is enough to keep this Potemkin village going for ever.

I do not rule out the possibility that today's tragic event, which has been exploited extremely cleverly by perfidious Western strategists, will not affect the stability of power in Russia too much. But even in this case, the long-distance game played by the West against Russia manages to contribute to the accumulation of negative social energies that can explode at any moment.

We don't know if today's tragedy will turn into a turning point in the political situation in Russia. I am referring to what in such cases political scientists and experts in mass psychology call the "Triggering Event". Nor do I claim that an overthrow of the Putin regime would be good for this country. But one thing is certain. The Kremlin can very quickly reach an impasse from which not only the ruling elite, but the entire country itself, will not be able to emerge. And nuclear weapons and other marvels of military technology are useless in such cases.

Russia's gravediggers today are not just in the West. They are cooperating very effectively with the 5th column in this country, which is not among Navalnyi's supporters, but in the Kremlin cabinets. They are making brilliant use of the mediocrity and thirst for power of people like Putin.

The world is in the grip of some extremely dangerous turbulence. It smells of world war. And today's episode could accelerate the explosion of the major contradictions between the great madmen of the international game.

God forgive Alexey Navalny.

Shame on those who posthumously mock him.

Shame on those who use his death in the fight against Putin.

Shame on Putin for his death.

Republic of Moldova between the devil and the deep blue sea

02.28.2024

Transnistrian separatism as an expression of Russian expansionism

During the last months, the separatist region in the east of the Republic of Moldova, Transnistria, is in the center of attention of the media in Russia and around the world. The growing interest in this area under the military occupation of the Russian State is determined by the golden dream of the current Kremlin leadership to succeed in taking military control over the Odessa region, which borders Transnistria. In any case, the situation on the Ukrainian front seems to encourage this probability.

And the hysterical propaganda undertaken by the occupation administration from Tiraspol, which claims to be terrorized and subjected to an economic blockade by the “neighbouring state” the Republic of Moldova, is nothing more than a manoeuvre intended to justify the subsequent annexation of this territory by Russia. We note in passing that separatism is a classic weapon of empires to maintain their influence in former colonies. And our case is not an exception. The Kremlin has never come to terms with the enormous geopolitical loss represented by the collapse of the USSR and has not abandoned its obsession with recovering its “lost territories”. Therefore, all the former ex-Soviet republics are the target of the major interests of Russian expansionism.

It should also be noted that Russia’s illegal military presence in Transnistria is the only factor that determines the existence of Transnistrian secessionism. Of course, the entire history of the world is nothing but the imposition of “the right of force”, and not “the force of right”. And the winners are the ones who write the history. But that does not relieve me of the obligation to tell the truth from the perspective of a frontier people, at the crossroads of antagonistic geopolitical interests.

I would make a historical analogy related to the Ribbentrop-Molotov Pact of 1939 and the territorial expansion of the USSR in 1940. The territory of the current Republic of Moldova (with the exception of Transnistria) was part of the Romanian State. And the magic formula that pretexted the annexation of Bessarabia to the USSR can be found in the ultimate note of the Soviet government, signed by Veaceslav Molotov: “Today, when the military backwardness of Soviet Russia has remained in the past...”

This historical analogy is self-evident, since Putin himself and his entire team officially claim to impose their own order in Transnistria by force of arms. And just today, February 28, in Tiraspol, the capital of the secessionist region, a meeting was held called “the congress of deputies of all levels” (deputies are considered all local councillors, according to the Soviet model). The separatists shout that they would be subject to an “economic blockade” from Moldova and ask for help from those under whose protectorate they are, the Moscow authorities.

What does this “blockage” consist of? The thing is that the enterprises in the occupation zone want to continue exporting goods all over the world based on official documents of Moldova, but without any fiscal obligation towards our state. Moreover, in this “tax paradise” or “black hole” for more than three decades, the consumption of gas supplied by “Gazprom” was transferred to the account of the debts of the Republic of Moldova. And when the Moldovan authorities try to bring order through perfectly legal, legislative instruments, not military or police, in the economic activity in this rebellious region, the mafia leaders there resort to victimization and to “sensitizing international organizations”.

One of the basic lies of the Kremlin’s propaganda related to “defending the interests of ethnic Russians in Transnistria” is easy to debunk.

First of all, the Russians are a minority in relation to the ethnic Romanian (Moldovan) and Ukrainian population in this area. Secondly, the majority of ethnic Russians live in urban areas of the country, such as the capital Chisinau, but they do not seek “self-determination” because they lack the basic factor, the Russian military presence.

Another stratagem of Russia expansionist policy during the post-Soviet period was the massive granting of Russian state citizenship to residents of the former Soviet republics, including those from the Republic of Moldova. This strategy was aimed at the pretext of defending their interests in relation to the authorities of the states where they live. Indeed, the Kremlin has methodically cultivated the disloyalty of ethnic Russians to the newly independent states, which it is eager to annex when favourable conditions arise.

Thus, these Russian-speaking populations were transformed into destabilizing, subversive elements in the ex-Soviet space. The reluctance to adapt to the condition of a national minority in another country, the obsession with the lost aggrandizement, which offered the dominant nation status in the USSR, represented a major risk factor for several former Soviet republics. And in this sense, the 200,000 Russian citizens of Transnistria are used as a pretext to justify the annexation plans of this region.

Transnistria is still not officially annexed by the Russia only because Ukraine is between this state and our country. So that in this case too, geography conditions the relations between states and peoples. Otherwise, the Republic of Moldova would have suffered the fate of Georgia, which lost two important parts of the country back in 2008. Let's leave aside the fact that Saakashvili was the American puppet. He tried to restore the territorial unity of his own country, and Russia took advantage of the moment and resorted to its angelic peacemakers.

At the moment, everyone is waiting for Putin's speech tomorrow, February 29. Will this refer to Transnistria or not? And if so, will there be a repeat of the scenario with the 4 regions in eastern Ukraine? We cannot rule out such an outcome at all. It can happen both tomorrow and in a very short time, depending on the speed with which the Russian army will advance towards Odessa.

In this situation, which fits into the larger picture of the confrontation between Russia and the collective West, the alternative media in the West, present themselves as unconditional followers of official Kremlin policy. And maybe it cannot be otherwise when it comes to someone from Western Europe or the USA, who does not have the unfortunate historical experience of a people dominated by the Soviet empire. They also find Stalin more likable than Trotsky. But the peoples terrorized by the USSR have a different perspective on the happy coexistence with their neighbours from the East. And they don't want to end up with today's masters of the Kremlin again.

In the confrontation between NATO and Russia no country in our region can evade it. It is true that according to the Constitution of the Republic of Moldova, we are a neutral state. But no one takes that into account. It could only have mattered if a similar agreement had been reached with Austria, when the USSR and the Anglo-Americans agreed on its neutrality. But just as post-war agreements are no longer respected, and the geopolitical imbalance risks turning into a new world massacre, neither does our neutrality matter.

To the question under what kind of occupation you would like to be, Russian or American, any Moldovan patriot should answer: "Both are worst". You can reproach me that in geopolitics it does not know spaces that would be in a vacuum, but you can't force me to lie that a state of occupation would be preferable to another state of occupation. And to the mention that the third possibility is excluded, I can only add that this is the drama of the border nations. And anyway we would justify the expansion of NATO or Russia, this drama does not disappear, it is only covered by disinformation and mutual accusations.

Maria Zakharova as a symbol of vulgarity and imperial arrogance

03.08.2024

The Russians are not the only people suffering from inferiority complexes and a spirit of imitation of the West. For it was only through an obsession with mimicry of the American model that such a mediocre and impudent lady, with no sense of diplomatic elegance or refinement of expression, could become the spokesperson for the Russian Foreign Ministry.

Maria Zakharova, Minister Lavrov's favourite, has accustomed the world to her crass appearances, anathematising the Western establishment with patriotic zeal and exercising clumsy sarcasm and didacticism full of imperial appeasement. But the target of the acid criticism of this extremely voluble and quarrelsome madam of questionable intellectual quality is not only the political class in the West, but also people in the state hierarchy of the Republic of Moldova. It is known that officials in Moscow regard our country as a recoverable territory that has temporarily strayed from the masters of the former Soviet empire. Hence their obsession with admonishing non-Kremlin-affiliated politicians at every turn.

I am far from being among the supporters of the current government in Moldova. I detest the fact that it is made up exclusively of mercenaries of the Western-based globalist plutocracy, but I am no more sympathetic to the mercenaries affiliated to the Moscow power, either. And yet, when the distinguished spokeswoman of the Russian MFA allows herself to sneer at the leaders of Moldova, I cannot help but note with outrage that this is interference in the internal affairs of our state.

A few days ago, a video clip was circulating on the Internet, taken by the media in Chisinau, in which Maria Zakharova, speaking at the World Youth Forum in Sochi, once again referred to the state language of our country (<https://www.ziarulnational.md/video-limba-moldove-neasca-exista-maria-zaharova-a-izbucnit-in-ras-cand-a-facut-aceasta-afirmatie/>). She reiterated the Cominternist aberration about the existence of a Moldovan language in a harsh tone that strangely turned into a loud laugh, which was intended as a sign of the sarcasm. The air of superiority and the lecturing manner of the lady in question were meant to teach us yet another lesson in the height of imperial arrogance over our own ethnic and cultural identity.

I have no doubt that this emblematic figure of the Kremlin knows nothing about the Comintern origin of the linguonym “Moldovan language” and the ethnonym “Moldovan people”, which served as justification for the annexation of Bessarabia by the USSR. Nor about the fact that in the Republic of Moldova, since the fall of communism, the following subjects are taught in school: the Romanian language, Romanian literature and Romanian history. This is the most obvious proof of the process of national revival, which put an end to the Russification and assimilation practised in the Soviet and Russian empires.

In fact, a striking and tragic proof of the fact that the Soviet occupation regime was practising denationalisation by imposing falsehoods on the national-linguistic identity in occupied territories is the state of affairs in Transnistria. It is precisely because of the Russian military presence, which abusively maintains its military contingent in this region, that it is possible to perpetuate a separatist regime which is a direct exponent of the occupying power. And foreign domination in this part of our country is directly manifested by the imposition of the ‘Moldovan language’ in schools. In addition, the pro-Russian separatist regime prohibits the use of the Latin alphabet, maintaining the Russian alphabet by force of arms and terror, as happened throughout the country during the Soviet regime.

In her short speech on the “linguistic issue” Maria Zakharova also compared the discussion about the existence of the Moldovan language with the gender theory, which, we should conclude, is as absurd as the denial of the Soviet name of my country's language. I am glad that this person in a high position in the Russian state rejects the gender theory, but at the same time I regret her ignorance in linguistic matters. We do not believe that such rhetorical pirouettes merely reveal a lack of satisfactory cognitive abilities and elementary diplomatic tact. Rather, it is what we have noted since the title of this article, that is to say, a measureless imperial arrogance that treats all the peoples of the former empire as barbarians and savages who must be raised to the civilizational standards of the occupier.

Such disrespectful rhetoric affects not only the rulers in Chisinau, but above all the sensitivities of an entire people who have suffered for centuries under foreign domination. It is the imperial tics and the excessively paternalistic spirit, bordering on dictatorship, which are a constant feature of post-Soviet Russia's foreign policy towards the former USSR peripheries that have become independent states that are determining them to switch to the camp of Moscow's geopolitical enemies. In this way, both Russia and every ex-soviet country that finds itself in the clutches of the collective West stand to lose.

Terrorist act in Moscow, an electoral gift for Putin

03.22.2024

Today evening's horrific terrorist act in the Russian capital Moscow has shaken the whole world. Only the Kiev lunatics are gloating. It was to be expected. The murders of journalists Daria Dugin and Vladlen Tatarskyi, the constant bombing of regions bordering Ukraine, which is causing daily civilian casualties, drone attacks on a number of strategic factories, airports etc., but also on the Kremlin, have not, however, led to measures appropriate to a state of war. According to the Russian authorities, there is just a SMO in Ukraine, which is a police-type operation of limited duration and range.

For reasons difficult to understand and justify, the Kremlin has preferred to impose two parallel realities. One is that on the front, with all the horrors of war, and the other is that inside Russia. People have continued to live as they did under peacetime conditions, going to concerts, on holiday, shopping etc. The bars and nightclubs are full of young people crazy about mass culture, sport events are taking place with grand fanfare and large crowds. The Show Must Go On.

I mean, it's hard not to notice what a terrible cognitive dissonance marks everyday life in Russia in a very strange way. But the height of the cynicism and hypocrisy of the rulers during the two years of war were the political shows, accompanied by music, fireworks and dances of the followers of the immovable, always young savior of the country Putin.

Remember some very strange shows in the context of Russia in the midst of war. For example, the admission of the four regions, Donetsk, Lugansk, Zaporozhye and Kherson into the Russian state, in the conditions where military confrontations take place on their territories and none of the four regions is fully under Russian control. what a festive atmosphere there was in Moscow! Rally and concert in Red Square, Russian showbiz stars, Putin's fiery speech. Let's not forget that the whole story was accompanied by the organization of referendums in the regions under permanent bombardment by Ukrainian troops.

And opportunities for entertainment and general merriment against the backdrop of the great achievements of state leaders are found incessantly. Of course, the culmination of the endless barrage of political performances was the recent presidential election campaign itself. Besides, all legal appearances were respected. It's not a state of war to postpone any kind of election. The Kremlin is a faithful defender of democratic values and the rule of law and could not afford the luxury of having the country run in an abusive or undemocratic manner.

But the generalised or at least successfully simulated jubilation is immediately followed by a huge tragedy. Who is responsible for it? Of course, the terrorists, the Kiev regime and NATO. But where is the strategic vision of the leaders of this country? Why, after so many acts of terrorism that have resulted in human casualties, have not all public gatherings involving large numbers of people been cancelled? Why were other measures not imposed that are natural for a country at war?

Let us not ask why there were colossal human losses at the front and questionable results from the point of view of Russian interests. Nor should we be surprised that the Russian economy was not fully mobilised to subordinate itself to the interests of victory on the front. As is the fact why there is no general mobilization to bring the SMO to a swift and successful conclusion. Is this in the Russian military tradition? No. But the civilisation of money, the mammonocracy, has penetrated deeply into Russian society, especially at the level of the ruling elite.

Putin and his team, no matter how much they pose as statesmen guided by supreme national interests, are more likely to be plagued by a merchant mentality. They have been able to keep the country afloat for two decades. But in times of major crisis, of war with the collective West, the shortage of crisis managers has become striking. So has the dependence of the rulers on the big oligarchs who wield colossal influence over political power.

Some more suspicious analysts might suggest that the terrorist act in Moscow on 22 March is in fact a false-flag operation. The aim of such an operation would be similar to the Inside Job of 9/11 to permanently suppress all civil liberties, establish widespread surveillance and establish a police state. But regardless of whether this criminal action has any connection to real power in Moscow, it will bring about major changes.

WWIII, which many analysts say began two years ago with the Russian military intervention in Ukraine, is entering a new phase. Much more dangerous, if not fatal for mankind. The real masters of the international game need war, terrorism, economic devastation and social disaster. Only in this way can widespread chaos on the scale of entire continents be achieved, resulting in the establishment of the New International Order.

The grim spectacle takes on increasingly chilling dimensions. Fasten your seatbelts and take off your rose coloured glasses. Putin's election to another term as head of state could be a Pyrrhic victory not just for him and his team, but for all of humanity.

Non-military wars and the terrorist attack in Moscow

03.24.2024

The monstrous terrorist attack on 22 March, which took place in a leisure centre in the Russian capital with a name that shows the country's folding into the general trend of globalisation through the English language – Crocus City Hall – is the most commented event of the last few days. Politicians and analysts on all sides are looking for the perpetrators of this asymmetric/hybrid act of war, trying to estimate its consequences and predictably positioning themselves as Putin's admirers and advocates or his irreconcilable enemies. But I would like to look at this subject from a different perspective. Namely from the perspective of the methodical subversion exercised for at least a century, which aims to dissolve all forms of collective identity through the social engineering known as 'modern music' and, more broadly, mass culture.

Suffice it to recall the very special role that the Tavistock Institute of Human Relations has played in the development of these strategies of mental and behavioural control. We leave aside here modern art as a whole, from visual art to architecture, theatre and cinema, and make just a few remarks about modern anti-music. Its nefarious role is hard to overestimate.

Jazz, Blues, Rock and Roll, Hard Rock, Heavy Metal, Hip Hop or Rap etc. etc. are just a few variations of the more or less rhythmic and traumatic noise that has spread over the whole world like a deadly plague that dissolves all tradition, annihilates all religion, dynamites all moral codes and pulverizes all culture built up over millennia of human civilization. This weapon of mass has penetrated deeply everywhere in the world thanks to modern technologies. It is "mass culture" that is killing both popular and classical culture. It is part of the general plan to standardise/homogenise all human collectivities, representing a huge force of psychological domination and mind control.

The Society of the Spectacle – political, cultural or sporting – is no longer able to look back to see what trap it has fallen into, or even to regret its own dissolution in the melting pot of globalisation. Therefore, all those who join the anti-globalist camp should distance themselves from mass culture and fight for a return to tradition. But today's man can no longer understand WHERE, WHEN and HOW the historical fracture occurred that has thrown humanity off its natural course.

The New World Order is on the offensive throughout the world not only by imposing a single universal social-political model (republic, democracy, popular sovereignty), a single universal economic model (liberal-capitalist), but also a single model of leisure (an absurdity in traditional society!), tourism, sport and entertainment.

A world government requires the establishment of a world state, a world economy, a world financial system (CBDC), world police forces, a world army, a world health system (WHO). But for all this to be imposed more easily the masses must be precultured according to a single recipe of collective cretinisation through what is believed to be modern music, which in fact is the antithesis of euphony, harmony, and beauty.

Aesthetic of Ugliness triumphed everywhere. This phenomenon characteristic of “mass society” is accompanied by moral depravity, promiscuity, the breakdown of relations between generations, serving as the most effective narcotic that anesthetizes any higher aspiration, any intellectual elevation and any patriotic impulse and any trace of religious conscience. In recent decades the pace and scale of the mass imbecilization strategy known as Sex, Drugs, Rock & Roll has become even more successful. In addition to electricity (the minimum condition for the spread of mass culture), radio and TV, the internet has emerged.

This deadly poison that turns crowds of people into subhuman herds has affected Russia as catastrophically as the rest of the world. And the “political elites” are no more elevated than the common people. And the total and irreconcilable war between the collective West and Russia has done little to detoxify this country from the poison of mass culture originating in the West.

So, where did the terrorist attack take place on the evening of 22 March? In a leisure center which has nothing to do with Russian language and culture: Crocus City Hall. In fact, the whole of mass culture on a global scale is being poured out through a surrogate English language that has become the language of globalisation.

What prompted thousands of Russians to gather in that Moscow concert hall on that fateful evening? The popular Russian rock band Piknik. But it has been known for at least half a century that this kind of alleged music is satanically inspired. And this is not a figure of speech or an exaggeration, but a reality confessed by the very stars of this demonic practice, who admitted their pact with the devil in exchange for popularity and wealth. What are such practices of mass demonization doing in a country that claims to oppose the degraded, perverted and evil West? And doesn't the combination of the words “Russian rock” sound like an oxymoron, a contradiction in terms, a logical absurdity? It is enough to glance at a few photos of this group of hypnotic, trance-like, drunken sound shrill producers and the textures they bellow from the stage to understand how much cultural elevation and aesthetic elegance these black-clad, macabre monsters exude, with sunglasses to hide their unhuman eyes.

It will be recalled that thousands of people gathered for that concert as well as for shopping in the same leisure complex on the Friday of the first week of Lent or the Resurrection of the Saviour of the world Jesus Christ. It is a period in which any Orthodox Christian abstains from any parties and entertainment events, focusing on prayer, humility and reading religious books. Every evening of the first week of this period of the liturgical year, divine services are held with a special sobriety and significance. The people present on the fateful evening of Friday 22 March preferred to go to the concert and shopping, not to church.

I perfectly understand that such an approach could deeply outrage people who believe more in the religion of human rights and unlimited freedom than in God. Nor do I intend to advocate religious belief. I merely wish to note that Russia has lost the religious, spiritual, cultural war by capitulating to Western mass culture. The globalists' non-military warfare strategies have proven more effective than military ones on the battlefield in Ukraine.

To exemplify how strongly mass culture has affected Russia, it is enough to recall the embarrassing duet of Russian President Vladimir Putin and the pop star with the intentionally transliterated English name SHAMAN. To exemplify how strongly mass culture has affected Russia, it is enough to recall the embarrassing duet formed by Russian President Vladimir Putin and the pop star with the name intentionally transliterated into English SHAMAN. It happened on the evening of September 22, 2022 in Red Square, when the Kremlin declared the official inclusion in its Russian statehood of four Ukrainian regions Donetsk, Kherson, Luhansk and Zaporizhzhia regions. Let's leave aside the fact that Russia has not yet managed to take control of these territories. And let's agree that even if the two singers were singing the Russian anthem, that association does not lend credence to the claim to represent an alternative civilization to the decadent West.

But what is no less surprising is the fact that during the two years of SMO in Russia the shows with mass culture monsters, cultural events, entertainment in nightclubs and discos never stopped for a day. If this is not simply ignorance of non-military warfare, then the only explanation is that Russia's rulers tolerate this continuous entertainment as a form of keeping the masses in a state of lethargy that might otherwise politically awaken the youth of this country.

By the way, even the tragic event of March 22 did not change the cultural agenda in Russia. Channel patriotic Telegram “Katjusha” publish right now the following news:

“The degradation has no limits! The country is in mourning after a terrorist attack that killed over a hundred people, the enemy is shelling Belgorod and Sevastopol, Orthodox Christians are having a great fast, and in Rostov they are preparing a concert of pederasty propagandist Alena Shvets. Who also confesses her love for “Ukraine”. Specially for the authorities of the Rostov region: the movement of sexual perverts is recognized as extremist in Russia”.

The pandemic treaty – the gravedigger of national sovereignty

03.26.2024

Open letter to the deputies of the parliament of the Republic of Moldova

Dear Mr./Madam Deputy,

I hereby wish to draw your attention to an imminent danger threatening the Republic of Moldova as an independent state, free to determine its own internal and foreign policy in accordance with national interests and the common good. This is the fact that an international document is currently being adopted by the World Health Organization, which is completely escaping the attention of decision-makers, the media and public opinion in our country.

I am referring to the 'Pandemic Treaty', drawn up and promoted insistently by the big pharmaceutical corporations through their affiliated bureaucracy within the WHO. This document is due to be adopted at the end of May this year at the General Assembly of this organisation (27.05.2024-01.06.2024; see: <https://www.who.int/about/accountability/governance/world-health-assembly>). Usually such meetings are attended by representatives from the health system with secondary functions, who are far from understanding the strategic stakes of such actions. In fact, if these plans materialise, then in two months' time all the countries of the world will irreversibly lose their state sovereignty.

This is precisely why I am asking you to make an official request to the Ministry of Health, asking for exhaustive information on the draft Pandemic Treaty and all the changes proposed by the representatives of WHO member countries to this document. Please also propose that public hearings be held on this subject in Parliament and that a broad public debate be held in society, with the participation of independent experts and the press, on this subject of vital importance to our state and to the life, freedom and health of every citizen.

We inform you that at present several international scientists, doctors, lawyers and public figures have been actively involved in informing decision-makers in the countries of the world about the enormous dangers posed by certain financial interest groups seeking to impose the Pandemic Treaty and the International Health Regulations. These individuals of impeccable academic and moral standing have formed a worldwide coalition of hundreds of prominent individuals from various countries called Door to Freedom (see: <https://doortofreedom.org>).

At the forefront of this international movement is its founder, Dr. Meryl Nass, a medical scientist with over 40 years of professional career, one of the world's leading experts on biological weapons, epidemics and communicable diseases in the United States (see: <https://docs.google.com/document/d/1P-qaVgEfmWiQDx8PbWrwBL0dbXD2DwUj-f9l4o5uHJs/edit>).

The proposed radical changes would transform the WHO from an international institution with advisory functions into an agency issuing decisions binding on all Member States. Thus, for example, a decision taken by the Director-General of the WHO would be binding on all Member States. We note that this position is held by a radical Marxist from Ethiopia with an extremely dubious reputation, Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus (https://ro.wikipedia.org/wiki/Tedros_Adhanom). In other words, a single international bureaucrat will have the exclusive right to declare a worldwide pandemic, which will disrupt the lives of all societies. Moreover, the same personage would dictate restrictive measures against the proper functioning of the economy and society as a whole. In addition, he would also have the discretionary right to dictate what treatment any citizen should receive, which medicines, vaccines or restrictions should be made compulsory for everyone.

All these draconian measures are being imposed in the wake of the so-called Covid-19 pandemic, which has caused millions of ‘sudden deaths’ due to the inoculation of experimental serums, catastrophically affecting the health of billions of people as well as the world economy through the blockades imposed on this pretext. I emphasise that the dominant discourse, promoted by the corporate media and corrupt officials since March 2020, is aimed at inducing panic and therefore obedience to measures imposed under the pretext of a health emergency. This psychological warfare operation with an alarmist message is amplified in the run-up to the May WHO meeting by the launch of another element of public fear-mongering, known by the strange codename “Disease X” (see: <https://publichealth.jhu.edu/2024/what-is-disease-x>).

In this case the classic PROBLEM – REACTION – SOLUTION formula applies. That is to say, in the first phase a false crisis is triggered, followed by the public’s panic reaction and generalised stress, so that finally those who caused the problem and foresaw the reaction come up with the prefabricated solution. This is the psychological and legal trap into which all the countries of the world are currently being pushed. In the case of the Republic of Moldova, the situation is aggravated by the fact that not a single decision-maker or parliamentary party in the two legislatures that have followed one another since 2020 has taken a critical approach to this issue, which is actually causing global transformations of unprecedented impact in history. And as we approach the presidential elections, there is a major risk that this vitally important problem will escape the attention of policymakers.

We also note that, if adopted, the Pandemic Treaty would seriously violate the Constitution of our state, as its authors do not intend to send the document for debate and ratification by national parliaments. Moreover, the imposition of exceptional conditions under the pretext of health will seriously affect fundamental human rights, such as the right to information and free expression, the right to freedom of movement, the right to travel, the right to choose a doctor and treatment, the right to assembly etc. More seriously, the Pandemic Treaty is intended to establish a regime of generalised surveillance of the entire population, which would be entirely burdened with the stigma of 'presumption of guilt' for disobeying the regime of life decreed by the WHO.

I would also like to inform you that Dr Meryl Nass and her colleagues are invited to the parliaments of European countries, where they lecture to familiarise Members of Parliament with subjects that are usually foreign to them, but of fundamental importance. She recently spoke in the European Parliament (see: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=boiWU6TPviU>). I would therefore suggest that you extend an official invitation to Dr Meryl Nass to speak in the plenary session of the Parliament. If such a solution is rejected, the invitation could be made by any individual parliamentary group. If, however, no parliamentary group can be found that is willing to enter into a dialogue with this world-class expert, then any MP could request a video conference with her. Of course, Moldovan MPs could also benefit from the expertise of other highly qualified specialists from the international civic movement Door to Freedom.

Finally, I would also like to present the interview I recently conducted with Dr Meryl Nass: <https://arcaluinoe.info/ro/blog/2024-03-15-qtxkthxi/>; https://odysee.com/@PlanulRosca:e/interview_with_Dr_Meryl_Nass_by_Yuri_Roshka:7.

Respectfully,

Yuri Roshka, Member of Parliament for four terms (1994-2009), Journalist, President of the People's University

Moldova on the brink of war or impossible neutrality

04.11.2024

Developments on the Ukrainian front show an imminent prospect of a collapse of the Ukrainian defensive line and a decisive offensive by the Russian army. One of Russia's strategic targets is the port of Odessa. And in the event of a successful operation, the Russians officially declare that their next target is the separatist region in eastern Moldova bordering Odessa, Transnistria. There the Russians illegally maintain a military contingent, claiming to be peacekeepers and to protect the Russian-speaking population or even Russian citizens, the latter receiving Russian state passports en masse. Transnistria is a 'frozen conflict' that risks thawing to the advantage of the Russian Federation and to the detriment of the Republic of Moldova. But what does that matter on the "big chessboard" in WWII? Not for the rest of the world, but for my country it is a vital issue.

NATO has its own strategy for such a scenario. To push the Republic of Moldova and Romania into war against Russia as a NATO state neighbouring my country, with which we share the same history, culture and language. Poland is also prepared to enter Ukraine with its troops as part of the same plan to counter the Russian offensive.

We note at the outset that both the Republic of Moldova is a neutral country by its constitutional rule, and the stationing of foreign military troops on its national territory is prohibited. However, the force of the law has been countered with the law of force this time too. For over three decades Moscow has been imposing its role as "peacemaker" and mediator in a territorial conflict to which it is itself a party.

It is known that the Republic of Moldova is run by a network of what we call NGO-crats, George Soros' children and US mercenaries. These individuals have been forced by their patrons in the West to violate Moldova's status as a neutral country and to develop aggressive rhetoric against Moscow, and even to provide political and logistical support to the criminal regime in Kiev. And during the two years of proxy war in Ukraine, Moldovan patriots have demanded that the authorities stop engaging in the conflict and respect the neutral status of our country, which requires fairness and impartiality in such armed conflicts. We were not heard. Moreover, we were told, and not without reason, that it is Russia which is the first to violate the neutrality of my country by its illegal military presence on our national territory. Of course, NATO and the Americans are in Romania, and the Russians have no reason to withdraw from Transnistria. Strategic reasons prevail over constitutional norms of a small and vulnerable state like the Republic of Moldova.

At present, citizens of military age in the Republic of Moldova are receiving summonses to report to military commissariats to participate in some cantonments, and military exercises are taking place on our territory this month with the participation of Americans, Romanians and Moldovans. And this is justifiably arousing the outrage of citizens. The author of these lines has made a public appeal to young people of military age, suggesting that rebellion on social networks is insufficient. People need to come out en masse in peaceful protests in the centre of the capital and demand one of two things: either the country's leadership respects neutral statehood or resigns. Then followed another comment in which I recalled when a patriot still cannot not go to war. Namely, when the territorial unity and independence of the country is threatened. Where does this danger come from? Unfortunately, from Russia. This risk has not yet become a fait accompli, but it could become one at any moment. So what is a Moldovan man to do? Should he welcome the Russian army with flowers or fight back? For a Western patriot such dilemmas do not arise, for us Moldovans they do.

Of course, we cannot exclude that a tragic scenario for my country can still be avoided. Especially since there is intense talk about a partition of Ukraine between the Russians and the West. And officials in Moscow keep repeating that they are willing to sit down at the negotiating table at any time and apparently without preconditions. What could be the factor that would cause Russia to renounce an offensive on Odessa and implicitly to annex Transdnistria and maybe even the whole Republic of Moldova. This factor could even have a name of its own. For example, Roman Abramovich, the London oligarch who always has an open door to the Kremlin. Who is he targeting? City of London, British intelligence, globalist oligarchy, &ldoquo;deep state&rdoquo;, these would be euphemisms for the power centres that hired him as special envoy to Putin. I regularly observed his unannounced visits to the Kremlin, which invariably resulted in strange concessions from Moscow. I've also noticed him at EVERY Russian-Ukrainian negotiation in recent years, except that it's never been made clear which of the two represents this character. The answer is that he represents a third party, which throughout modern history always provokes wars and always profits from them. Special envoy of City of London to Putin and eternal peacemaker Roman Abramovich

An important factor that could temper Russia's military momentum could be China, which has not given up on its 12-point plan to pacify the war in Ukraine.

And for the optimists who exclude such a prospect, I would only mention the strange and unexpected withdrawals of the Russians from Kiev, from the Kharkov and Herson regions, the unprovoked and unfavourable prisoner exchanges on the Russian side, the observance of the taboos guaranteeing the personal security of Zelenski and the other members of the Kiev clique etc. Under these circumstances, a Moldovan patriot comes to the paradoxical conclusion that Putin's excessively conciliatory or even capitulating spirit could be to the advantage of the Republic of Moldova.

Moldova's relations with Russia are further complicated by the permanent and methodical undermining of the territorial unity of the country by stimulating the conflict between the central authorities of the state and those of the region called the Gagauz administrative-territorial unit. We are talking about an area in the south of the country populated predominantly by a Turkic ethnic group of Christian Orthodox religion, which traditionally shows an excessive attachment to Russia and, implicitly, a lack of loyalty to the Republic of Moldova. Such soft power à la russe seriously affects internal stability. And Moscow is always ready to pour gas on the fire to dynamite my country from the inside. Russia does not recognise our partnership relations. We are too small. So we are offered either vassalage or, if we do not comply, territorial disintegration.

For the author of these lines there can be nothing more abhorrent than the politics of the collective West. But if we take into account the fact that, despite the major conflicts on the horizon between the West and Russia, both sides show the same blind obedience to the globalist vertical, then the equation becomes more complicated. Only the incurable enthusiasts, the blind and the naïve can ignore the striking reality that both the collective West and Russia are meekly and in perfect harmony executing ALL the strategies of the Great Reset.

In the de-sovereignisation of ALL countries of the world under the UN's baton, when the genocidal and liberticidal policy of the WHO is followed by both sides, a serious dilemma arises in the case of the Republic of Moldova. The West, unlike Russia, at least does not attack the territorial unity of my country, preferring economic and civilisational colonisation, which in any case leads to the New Brave World of dystopian and transhumanist digital heaven. But while strategies such as the UN's 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development or the Pandemic Treaty are harder for the vast majority of the population to understand, external military aggression is easier to perceive. In other words, the non-military warfare of Western power centres is almost unnoticeable to the public, unlike Russia's "hard" and hot war in Ukraine, with a possible extension to my country.

I know that such articles cannot change the cyclopean and world-wide view of the masters of geopolitical commentary in the West who are in the anti-globalist camp. For them Putin's Russia remains a hope and an alternative. I have no complaints. The right to be wrong is somehow part of fundamental human rights. I have merely tried to sketch in these lines the tragedy of a frontier people, devastated by the contradictions of two types of imperialism, Western and Russian.

The Naked King or Potemkin's Village as an Immediate Political Reality

05.07.2024

Today's political pageantry in Moscow has awakened a new wave of cheers and triumphalist jubilation among the two indispensable supporters of any government, no matter how venal and hideous. I have in mind the eternal profiteers and careerists ready to glorify any nullity in office, as well as the indefatigable naive and enthusiastic who practice in good faith exercises in dreamlike perception of reality as a form of escape from undesirable authentic reality.

The first remark addressed in particular to the followers of the democratic religion would be the following. In Russia, there was no election in the classical, liberal sense of the term, but a simulacrum of bad taste designed to cover up a political and legal fraud by a regime that decided to usurp power in the state for the benefit of private and dubious interest groups. Of course, advocates and apologists of this long-standing trick in the history of usurping power will find endless excuses and justifications.

The first of these is the providential, exceptional, indispensable and irremovable character of the giant personality embodied by Putin. Excellent, that's the one I've been holding onto for a quarter of a century now. The second of the justifications is that Russia would have reached unprecedented heights of development in its history under this person. And the third explains the perennial tenure of this Kremlin brand by the „state of emergency“, the war in Ukraine, the external danger.

So, I have retained all three circumstances offered to the gullible public with a skill worthy of all appreciation. It could not have been otherwise. In a world of appearances and marketing no one distinguishes between authentic and fiction any more. And in the „society of the spectacle” (Guy Debord) it doesn’t matter how you are, but only how you look, how you are „sold” to the consumer of advertising.

It would be good to remind consumers of political myths “made in the Kremlin” that in Russia of the last quarter of a century proper politics does not exist. Only characters who have special permission from the Kremlin are allowed to do politics. Including at the level of political attitude expressed in public. And the right to run for elections is reserved only to those who accept the ungrateful role of formal opposition that aims to serve as a decoration in this political show.

And those who violated this unwritten rule of the “Russian democracy” often paid with their lives, with the freedom or with the exile of this serious deviation from the pecuniary interests of the oligarchic groups behind Putin. I am not a supporter of Anglo-Saxon democracy. But even more, I repugn the hypocrisy with which this political-legal model is simulated in today’s Russia. We are dealing with a mélange of „religion of Soviet civilization” and Western-style electoral farces, which also has as its ingredient the claim to appeal to the monarchical model of historical Russia. This caricatural, parodic and deeply eclectic concept is perfectly part of the historical era in which we live. The deception, the trick, the manipulation represents the very nature of the political simulacrum as a magical formula of today’s society.

People who ties their hopes to Putin’s new presidential term, whether from Russia or abroad, they have serious difficulties in using their own memory as tools for political analysis and anticipation of the future. The author of these lines had several situations when he hoped that Putin had broken away from the globalist system and Russia under his leadership could become an alternative pole to the collective West.

Initially in 2014, when a bloody coup inspired by Americans was ordered in Kiev, and Putin fought back by taking over Crimea. Namely at that time the famous American paleoconservative Patrick J. Buchanan wrote the famous editorial “Vladimir Putin, Christian Crusader?”[1]

(see: <https://www.theamericanconservative.com/vladimir-putin-christian-crusader/>). So, I was not the only one who let myself be seduced by Kremlin ten years ago. But shortly in the same year 2014 Donbass is abandoned, the regime in Kiev that committed the coup is recognized as legal and dialogue partner, following the Russian negotiating rounds at Minsk and The Normandy Format. At the same time the population of the two rebel republics Donetsk and Lugansk found themselves abandoned for eight years, being subjected to artillery attacks, which caused thousands of deaths among civilians.

And the second hope that the Kremlin got rid of the control of the globalist mafia, which I openly expressed two years ago, was when Russia started so-called SMO in Ukraine. And this despite the Russian campaign is promoting the agenda of the false pandemic in previous years under the WHO dictate, with the imposition of all absurd restrictions and forced injections. And even despite the fact that Putin himself assumed the role of advertising agent for Big Pharma, strongly promoting the campaign of “murder by injection” (see in this regard <https://www.amazon.com/Murder-Injection-Eustace-Clarence-Mullins/dp/1911417002>).

But the dynamics of the events of the last two years showed me exactly where I was wrong. And the main mistake was ignoring the main feature of capitalism. I meant that unlike traditional society, states are ruled by those who have control over money, and not those whom the plutocracy installs in decorative political functions. After the fall of USSR the “civilization of money” triumphed in Russia as well. And this despite the fact that some of us prefer to apply the formula „Follow the money” only when critically analyzing the realities of the West, preferring to exempt Russia from this universally valid rule.

I will not return here to the false dichotomies I have written about several times. Nor will I argue again that Russia/China/BRICS is not an alternative to the globalist unipolarity, but a model perfectly complementary to it. And the fact that the US is losing its hegemonic role still does not foreshadow a better future for either humanity or Russia in part.

And those who are jubilant today on the occasion of fifth inauguration of Putin as President from the positions of Russian patriotism or sovereignty deserve all compassion and sympathy. I would have compassion for those who consciously worship him, and sympathy would be worth those who prefer to remain under the spell of propaganda and their own illusions.

[1] At that time very few noted the significance of the query in the title of the famous American political scientist.